Missing Woman's Body Discovered

The body of Catherine Bauer Wurster, 59, distinguished city planner and wife of the former dean of architecture at University of California, was found beneath a tree near the top of Mount Tamalpais today, ending a search that began Saturday night.

There was no evidence of foul play, Sheriff Louis P. Mountanos reported.

Mrs. Wurster had been missing since she left the West Marin Building Supply store in Stinson Beach about 3:30 p.m. Saturday and drove south along the road above the beach.

Her black Corvair convertible was found at 2 a.m. yesterday, the top down and the interior soaked with rain, about 2,000 feet below where the body was discovered today.

Mrs. Wurster was lying face down under a tree about one-third of a mile below Ridgecrest Boulevard. The spot would require a walk of between five and six miles from where the car was abandoned.

Sheriff's Deputy John Campion, leading a group of about 35 searching University of California students, came upon the body at 10:30 a.m.

Mrs. Campion was wearing a rumpled light green sweat-shirt, which was grass-stained.

"The moment I touched her, I knew she was dead," Campion said. He ordered the searchers back and allowed no one near the body until arrival of Coroner Frank J. Keaton.

It was learned, however, that there were minor scrapes on Mrs. Wurster's forehead, which could have been suffered in a fall.

About 200 U.C. students and several architects from San Francisco had joined sheriff's officers, the sheriff's mounted patrol, county firemen and airmen from the 666th Radar Station in the search today.

During yesterday's search, a helicopter circled over the area. Reserve Sheriff's Sgt. Michael McLean took his bloodhounds to the car, but they were unable to pick up a trail because of the rain.

After searching until well past dark, the search was abandoned until this morning, when more searchers left Stinson Beach State Park, with groups of 35 to 45 volunteers under sheriff's officers and county firemen fan-

State's Decisions Are Due

The United States Supreme Court today turned down Northwestern Pacific Railroad's plea that it be permitted to abandon the Puerto Suello Tunnel and its mainline connection to San Rafael.

Word of the Supreme Court turndown was received here by Boris H. Lakusta, attorney for San Rafael and Marin County in the three-year fight to reopen the rail service.

The nation's highest court affirmed these previous decisions by a lower court and the Interstate Commerce Commission:

1. The ICC's decision of June, 1963, that the burned tunnel must be reopened.

2. A federal district court ruling last April upholding the ICC decision and ordering NWP to rebuild the tunnel.

OTHER QUESTIONS

However, the case is not yet ended. "There are two proceedings that still enter the picture," said Lakusta. For that reason, there is no definite date as yet on when the railroad must start rebuilding the tunnel, which partially collapsed in a fire on July 20, 1961.

One proceeding is before the Interstate Commerce Commission, to whom the railroad appealed in August for permission to abandon the tunnel link and the spur line between San Rafael and Sausalito. Both these abandonments had previously been rejected by the ICC on separate applications.

DISMISSAL MOVED

"We have moved to dismiss this on grounds that everything has already been covered," said Lakusta. There has been no decision as yet on the new application.

The other proceeding is before the California State Supreme Court.

The State Public Utilities Commission ordered an investigation of its own last May, followed by hearings. Last September, the PUC gave NWP until next April to get trains rolling through the tunnel again.

Last month NWP filed a petition for a rehearing before the Public Utilities Commission, which the PUC denied.

The railroad then appealed to the California Supreme Court, which ordered a stay in the PUC order pending a hearing.

Tidelands Annexation Hearing Set

A public hearing on the proposed 137-acre high school-tidelands annexation to the city of Mill Valley was set for Jan. 18 at an adjourned meeting today of the Mill Valley City Council.

Despite legal action pending over the annexation in Marin Superior Court, the city has the right to proceed, according to City Atty. Leland H. Jordan.

The area can be annexed as uninhabited land because it had fewer than 12 registered voters 54 days prior to adoption of today's resolution to proceed with annexation, Jordan said.

"Under a new law which relates to the Marin County Local Agency Formation Commission," said City Mgr. Bert A. Balmer, "when an annexation request is set for a hearing by that body, they have 30 days from the time they open the hearing to conclude it.

"If they do not give us an answer within 30 days, the city is then free to go ahead on its own. This was to preclude possibility of the commission not arriving at an answer and holding a city up indefinitely."

Councilman Albert E. White moved the resolution to set a hearing, and the vote was unanimous. Except for two newspaper reporters, there was no one in the audience at the 8 a.m. meeting.

At 2 p.m. today, Jordan was

Leydecker Plan Passage Expected

by ALAN CUNNINGHAM

County Supervisor Byron W. Leydecker's proposed supervisorial redistricting plan — which includes placing parts of San Rafael and Larkspur and most of Corte Madera in the "West Marin" district — probably will be adopted by the board of supervisors next week.

But if it is adopted, it will be over the strong objections of supervisor-elect Thomas T. Storer of Point Reyes Station.

At least three members of the present board, and probably a fourth, favor the plan, as does the other supervisor-elect, Ernest N. Kettenhoffen of San Anselmo. Supervisor William D. Fusselman (whose seat will go to Kettenhoffen Jan. 1), has been hospitalized since before it was proposed, and has not commented.

The proposal, which appears strange to a casual observer the first time he sees it on a map, was introduced last week. Its purpose is to meet a state Supreme Court mandate to make the county's five supervisorial districts more nearly equal in population. It would accomplish this by taking away parts of the First District (San Rafael) and the Second District (Ross Valley) and giving them to the Fourth District (West Marin).

In San Rafael, the line between the First and Fourth districts would run roughly along San Rafael Creek to Francisco Boulevard, and would slice off from there on an almost-straight line to the Ross town limits. Most of East San Rafael, along with Bret Harte, Southern Heights and the rest of the southern hilly portion of the city would thus be transferred from Leydecker's First District to Storer's Fourth District.

All of Corte Madera except a part of the recent annexation at the head of the Tiburon Peninsula would be moved from the Second District into the Fourth District. To provide a connecting corridor, the Fourth District would also take a slice out of the middle of Larkspur. The result would put part of Larkspur in the Fourth District, part in the Second, and a small portion which abuts Mill Valley in the Third District.

At the same time, the area east of Tomales Bay, including

47 Believed Dead In Rome Plane Crash

ROME (UPI) — A Transworld Airlines jetliner with 72 persons aboard crashed into a steamroller, exploded and burned today while attempting to take off from Fiumicino airport.

Police tentatively reported 47 persons killed. At least 25 survivors were in hospitals, some in critical condition.

The giant plane faltered on the takeoff, veered off the runway, and crashed into the steamroller, which was being used on a construction project.

The flight of the Boeing 707 began in Kansas City, Mo., and was scheduled to end in Cairo. Intermediate stops were made at New York, Paris, Milan, and Rome.

It was the first fatal jet crash involving a U.S. carrier on transatlantic lines and the first plane disaster at Fiumicino airport since it was built in 1960.

An airlines spokesman said the plane was carrying 29 regular passengers, 26 dead-heading airline employees, and a double-crew of 17, including six French air hostesses going to Athens to pick up another flight.

The big jetliner was already streaking down Runway No. 2 for takeoff when the pilot re-

ASSASSINATION REPORT

LBJ, Lady Bird, Jackie Recite What They Heard, Observed

WASHINGTON, Nov. 23 (UPI)— President Lyndon B. Johnson told the Warren Commission he heard the shots that killed President John F. Kennedy in Dallas but that before he could even speculate on their nature he was knocked down in his seat by a Secret Service agent.

"Almost in the same moment in which he hit or pushed me, he vaulted over the back seat and sat on me," Johnson said in a statement for the commission investigating the assassination.

Johnson rode in an open convertible "about three car lengths" behind the car in which Kennedy was shot along with Texas Gov. John Connally.

Johnson said those in his car did not immediately know what had happened ahead. When his car arrived at Parkland Hospital he said he was told to hurry inside where he was routed into a room with drawn shades and told the news.

When White House aide Ken O'Donnell advised him at 1:20 p.m. that Kennedy was dead, Johnson told the commission, "I found it hard to believe that this had happened. The whole thing seemed unreal — unbelievable."

Johnson said he rejected advice from Secret Service agents and others to board the presidential airplane and return at once to Washington. He said he insisted that the plane wait for Mrs. Kennedy and for the late president's body.

Mrs. Kennedy, in testimony also published today by the Warren Commission, said she believed for some time that had she been looking to the right instead of to the left she could have saved her husband from the second bullet—the one that killed him.

She indicated, however, that later revelations about the sequence of bullets may have changed her mind on that point.

Mrs. Kennedy was questioned at her home on June 5 by Warren Commission counsel J. Lee Rankin. Also present was Chief Justice Earl Warren and Robert F. Kennedy, brother of the late president.

Mrs. Kennedy said she had no recollection whatsoever of the photographed sequence in which she apparently tried to climb over the back seat of the car after the shooting.

Johnson submitted his recollections in the form of a statement dated July 10. Mrs. Johnson, in a statement dated July 16, also told the commission her story of the tragic day in Dallas.

Mrs. Johnson's statement, after an introductory note, consisted primarily of a transcription of tape recordings she dictated beginning Nov. 30 and during the following two days, "primarily as a form of therapy."

"It all began so beautifully,"

Congress Urged To Enact Law To Curb Car Exhausts

WASHINGTON (AP)—A special Senate study group unanimously urged Congress today to enact a law regulating the discharge of air pollutants by motor vehicles.

It called these fumes a major factor in the smog problem, and the problem itself a menace to health.

The report advocated that the proposed new statute give the automobile industry one year in which to start equipping all new cars with exhaust pollution control devices similar to those the industry has agreed to place on all new motor vehicles sold in California starting next fall.

It said there are many other sources against which the proposed new law would start moving.

The automobile industry has agreed to produce cars beginning with the 1966 model year for sale in California which will be equipped with "exhaust pollution control devices capable of reducing emissions to the levels set by California law," the report said.

"The industry does not plan, however, to make such vehicles available for sale other than in California, despite the documented fact that vehicular pollution is a serious and growing problem in all other parts of the country.

The Senate public works subcommittee recommended a new federal grant in aid programs to help municipalities finance better facilities for solid waste disposal which would reduce the discharge of air pollutants. It called pollution from this source serious and "intolerable because it is totally unnecessary."

REAL ADVENTURE

Author Gann, Daughter Periled By Rifle Shots

The adventurous author, Ernest K. Gann of Sausalito, Saturday had adventure he didn't relish when two teen-aged boys kept him and his 23-year-old daughter pinned under gunfire for several minutes.

Gann, 16-A Alexander Avenue, told Marin County sheriff's officers his assailants apparently were not attempting to hit him or the daughter, Polly Gann of Washington, D.C., but the estimated 15 shots nonetheless kept them scrambling on hands and knees until they reached safety.

Deputies said Gann reported he and Polly drove to Wolfpack Ridge near Sausalito about 5 p.m. Saturday and left their car while they walked a dog. They passed two youths, who were shooting a .22-caliber rifle, Gann said, and he jokingly asked, "May we pass by? There are stiff penalties for murder."

"Yeah, but you have to get caught first," one of the youths replied. Gann said he and his daughter had walked on about 100 yards when they heard a shot overhead. A second shot struck nearby, he told deputies. Both dropped to the earth and crawled toward a hilltop.

On safely reaching the top, Gann reported, he looked back to see the two youths enter a 1955 model Chevrolet convertible and drive east on Rodeo Avenue toward Highway 101.

Deputies said no trace of the suspects had yet been found today.

U.S. Explosive In School Blast

HANAU, Germany (UPI) — Hesse state police found today that the Nov. 11 explosion in a German schoolyard was caused by a U.S. Army 40-mm. projectile. The explosion wounded 49 German children and maimed four of them for life.

The verdict opens the way for parents of the injured children to file claims amounting to many millions of dollars against the U.S. government. Parents of four children who lost eyes and limbs have indicated they would act.

The Hesse state report was based on findings by U.S. and German military and police explosive experts.

ONE YEAR LATER — As leaders and common folks around the world paused to remember President John F. Kennedy, on the first anniversary of his assassination yesterday, long lines of visitors filed past his grave in Arlington National Cemetery. In background is the Memorial Bridge leading to Washington, D.C. Meanwhile, in Dallas, Tex., where President Kennedy was slain, a widow and her children sorrowfully visited the grave of the policeman who also was killed during those grim hours. Mrs. J. D. Tippit, flanked by children Allen, 14; Curtis, 5, and Brenda, 15, knelt at her late husband's grave to place flowers. # Discount Rate Raised By Bank Of England

LONDON (AP) — The Bank of England discount rate was raised today from five to seven per cent.

The action was taken to help turn the tide of Britain's trade deficit, which the government says may reach 800 million pounds—2.25 billion dollars — this year. The higher interest rate will attract foreign money to Britain.

A spokesman for the bank said the change was made "primarily to strengthen the international position of sterling," which has been under severe attack in world currency markets.

The basic cause of the financial difficulties is that Britain is spending more abroad than she is selling and the deficit is growing.

The Bank of England discount rate is the interest rate that borrowers throughout the nation must pay on loans, mortgages and the like.

The first danger sign came Friday when the pound declined to $2,78¼, the lowest level in eight years.

The pound reacted sharply to the raising of the discount rate and rose five-eighths of a cent.

The first successful test of cable cars in San Francisco was made on Clay Street in August, 1873.

SAIGON'S FUTURE 'MUCH IN DOUBT'

Top U.S. Voice Not Optimistic

SAIGON (UPI)—U.S. Ambassador Maxwell D. Taylor said in an interview released here today he believes that the outcome of South Vietnam's bitter guerrilla war "is very much in doubt."

BOMB THE NORTH?

Taylor further contended that expansion of the war beyond the frontiers of South Vietnam possibly to "the training and staging areas in North Vietnam . . . will contribute to its solution."

Taylor's remarks were made in an interview between a team of Life Magazine correspondents and the chiefs of the four U.S. agencies in Vietnam. The text of the interview as released here today and was to be incorporated in a Life article devoted to Vietnam appearing in its Nov. 24 edition.

IS WAR LOST?

At one point in the interview, Taylor was asked. "Is the war being lost? Is the military situation that serious?"

He replied: "Let us say generally that the issue is very much in doubt. The winner will be the one that has the ultimate will to win."

Taylor's assessment of the military situation was in sharp contrast to that of his senior military aide, Gen. William C. Westmoreland, commander of U.S. forces in South Vietnam.

Westmoreland said it was "inconceivable" that the Viet Cong communists could score a military victory in South Vietnam.

Taylor said "there are two areas where it could make a contribution—either by making more difficult the infiltration along the routes from North Vietnam, leading generally by way of Laos; or by striking the infiltration sources, the training and staging areas in North Vietnam itself. In so doing the government of North Vietnam would be reminded that it cannot get off unscathed, that indeed they stand to lose far more than they have any likelihood of winning."

Premier Drafts Rioting Youth

SAIGON (UPI) — South Vietnamese Prime Minister Tran Van Houng stood firm today under the pressure of massive protests against his government. He said he would not let his civilian administration fall to mob rule.

Houng issued the strongly worded communique in answer to yesterday's violence involving more than 5,000 frenzied demonstrators who demanded his ouster.

POLITICOS BLAMED

Police waded into the mob with fixed bayonets and hurled tear gas to disperse the demonstrators.

Houng's tough communique blamed the violence on "dissatisfied politicians" who lured women and children into the streets to serve their own ambitions.

Saigon was unusually quiet today but U.S. Ambassador Maxwell D. Taylor warned all Americans to keep off the streets "until further notice." Trouble-makers appeared to have been scared off, at least temporarily, by the firmness with which the government crushed yesterday's demonstrations.

About 1,000 Vietnamese today milled around the National Buddhist Center this morning, but monks repeatedly urged them over loudspeakers not to cause disturbances.

STUDENTS PUNISHED

Houng's message said he was carrying out his earlier threat to strip student agitators of their draft-exempt status, a privilege which goes with university enrollment.

The prime minister's communique opened and closed with guarantees of the government's respect for religion and freedom of worship.

It noted, however, that the demonstrations "originated from a place of worship"—an obvious reference to the National Buddhist Center.

Yesterday's trouble began after a memorial service at the Buddhist center for President John F. Kennedy on the first anniversary of his death. About 1,000 persons marched from the service toward the center of the city.

It was the same kind of demonstration that occurred last August against the military government of Maj. Gen. Nguyen Khanh. Rioters at that time demanded installation of a civilian government.

Slain Millionaire's Kin Dies

With Bartholomae when he died was his Spanish-born wife, Carmen, 26, a former dancer.

His brother, oilman William Bartholomae, 70, was fatally stabbed last Jan. 5 by Carmen's sister, Minola Gallardo, who later was cleared of manslaughter charges.

John Nance Garner Is 96

UVALDE, Tex. (UPI)—John Nance (Cactus Jack) Garner turned 96 yesterday. The Roosevelt-era vice president said his ambition is to celebrate four more birthdays.

Garner

"I'm going for four more years, but I reserve the right to change my mind further when I'm a hundred," He told them.

Then he thumbed through a thick stack of telegrams and joked and smiled with the callers. His birthday cake was topped with one giant candle.

Johnson and Texas Gov. John Connally had been invited to the party, but both were in Austin, attending services marking the first anniversary of the death of president John F. Kennedy.

World Remembers A Slain President

In these and many other ways a thoughtful nation paused yesterday to remember, and pay tribute, on the first anniversary of President John F. Kennedy's assassination.

The tragedy that had reached around the world was relived around the world in solemn ceremonies, as hundreds of thousands put aside part of their day for their own private ways of remembering.

Mrs. John F. Kennedy sent a small spray of wildflowers to the grave. They were delivered by her mother, Mrs. Hugh Auchinloss.

The mother of the 35th president, Rose Kennedy, attended two Roman Catholic Masses at Hyannis Port, Mass., where the Kennedy family has its summer home.

Sen.-elect Robert F. Kennedy and his sister, Mrs. Sargent Shriver, knelt by the Arlington grave to lay roses on it, and to pray.

In Boston about 3,000 persons, including Patricia Lawford, the late president's sister, and state dignitaries, attended a memorial Mass celebrated by Richard Cardinal Cushing. He called the slain president one of "God's greatest gifts."

Tens of thousands stood in silent prayer at New York's Kennedy Airport and in Dallas at the hour of Kennedy's death.

In Washington, more than 30,000 Americans, their lines black against the Virginia hills, climbed the long slopes to the eternal flame that burns above Kennedy's grave.

There were young adults and old, babies in carriages and aged in wheelchairs.

President Johnson's daughters, Lynda Bird and Luci Baines, each brought a long-stemmed yellow rose to place beside the wildflowers the widow had sent. There was a wreath from the president.

In Los Angeles, a torch was lit at the Memorial Coliseum to burn from the time on the clock when he was shot until sunset.

In Dallas, two uniformed policemen solemnly placed a wreath of red roses on the grave of Patrolman J. D. Tippitt, slain by Lee Harvey Oswald, the president's assassin.

After the 15-minute ceremony, Mrs. Tippitt walked to a police squad car, sat alone and wept.

In a Dallas hospital lay Marina Oswald, the assassin't widow who has been a patient several days with a stomach disorder. Mrs. Oswald was described by a spokesman as "feeling very sorry for Mrs. Kennedy and her children."

At Parkland Hospital, administrator Robert Dutton placed a wreath on the door of Trauma Room One, where the president died, and closed it for the day.

Quints Again, This Time Near Paris

PARIS (UPI)—Quintuplets were born to a woman in suburban Asnieres today, the French news agency reported.

The quints were reported in good health and were taken shortly after birth to a maternity clinic.

The births came just nine days after a 32-year-old African housewife near Inhambane, Mozambique, gave birth to five healthy babies—four boys and a girl. The mother, Mrs. Clara Mutanga, and the babies were reported in good condition last week.

The quintuplet births of the French mothers and Mrs. Mutanga came nearly as close together as the two births of quintuplets in the fall of 1963.

Mrs. Andrew Fischer of Aberdeen, S.D., gave birth to five live babies on Sept. 14, 1963, just seven days after a Venezuelan mother, Mrs. Ines Maria Cuervo de Prieto of Maracaibo, became the mother of quintuplets.

Red China Balks At Taking Role In Atom Parley

TOKYO (AP)—Communist China ruled out a variety of proposed approaches to the problem of curbing nuclear weapons and insisted its own plan of total abolition is the only valid one.

The Chinese, who exploded their own atom bomb Oct. 16, rejected suggestions they should engage in the disarmament conference at Geneva or meet with the four other nations which possess nuclear weapons — the United States, Soviet Union, Britain and France.

Peking also spurned proposals to destroy vehicles for the delivery of nuclear warheads and for a treaty banning all nuclear weapon tests.

Bloody, Running Battle Hurts Five In Santa Clara

SANTA CLARA (AP)—A policeman and an ex-convict were in critical condition today and another officer was treated for serious wounds after an hour-long gun fight Saturday in which five persons were shot.

The man who police say started the running gun battle, Roger McIntosh, 30, of San Francisco, was near death with a bullet in his head.

Officer James McNamara, 31, also was in critical condition—paralyzed with a shattered spine.

Harry C. Rasmussen, 60, of Santa Clara, and Darrell Rives, 38, of Campbell, a passerby who got caught up in the melee of gunfire, were reported in satisfactory condition.

Santa Clara police gave this account:

Officer McNamara arrived at the Food Villa Market to check out a store employee's complaint that two men were acting suspicious.

When the officer put his hand on McIntosh's shoulder, the former San Quentin Prison inmate pulled a gun and shot McNamara three times.

McIntosh then stopped Rives' car and ordered him out. He got in the car and ordered Rives' son, Ronald, 16, to drive away.

Rives grabbed for the moving car and McIntosh shot him in the arm.

As police cars chased him, McIntosh ordered the boy to stop at another shopping center a mile away. He then walked to a car occupied by Rasmussen and ordered him out. When Rasmussen refused, McIntosh shot him.

McIntosh then ran to the nearby home of Blaise Rampone and dragged Rampone into the yard —apparently intending to use him as another driver.

Officer Weger arrived, ordered McIntosh to surrender and was shot in the chest. Officer Herbert Rose then cut down McIntosh with a volley of shots.

Police were holding Carl James Johnson, 22, also of San Francisco, whom they identified as the man with McIntosh in the market.

Artist To Show

An exhibition on paintings and collages by Maggie Feldstein will be shown at the O'Hanlon Studio, 616 Throckmorton Avenue, Mill Valley, from 2 to 5 p.m. Sunday. Mrs. Feldstein is a member of the Marin Society of Artists who has exhibited in the society's shows and rental gallery.

Ex-Mill Valleyan In Antarctic Party

A former Mill Valley resident is in the preliminary party of a 10-man University of Wisconsin expedition to the most inaccessible part of Antarctica.

He is Edward N. Parrish, 20, acting as a traverse engineer with the expedition. He has left already for the South Pole to prepare motorized Sno-Cats being used in the trip. The 1,200 mile two-month trip will be one of the toughest undertakings in the last seven years. Even in the "summer" season, Queen Maud land, where the team is headed, is sure to be a windy desert of snow and ice with temperatures 60 below zero likely.

Field Trip Set

Warren Study Releases Eyewitness Testimony

Mrs. Johnson said. "After a drizzle in the morning, the sun came out bright and beautiful . . .

"The streets were lined with people—lots and lots of people—the children all smiling; placards, confetti, people waving from windows. One last happy moment I had was looking up and seeing Mary Griffith leaning out of a window waving at me. Mary for many years had been in charge of altering clothes which I purchased at a Dallas store," Mrs. Johnson related.

"Then almost at the edge of town, on our way to the Trade Mart where we were going to have the luncheon, we were rounding a curve, going down a hill, and suddenly there was a sharp loud report—a shot."

Although President Johnson said he did not get a look at the death car as he was being rushed into the hospital, Mrs. Johnson said she got a brief glimpse of the tragic scene.

"I cast one last look over my shoulder and saw, in the President's car, a bundle of pink, just like a drift of blossoms, lying on the front seat.

"I think it was Mrs. Kennedy lying over the president's body," she said.

Mrs. Kennedy wore a bright pink wool suit the day of the assasination.

Once on the plane bound for Washington Mrs. Johnson said she tried in vain to offer solace to Mrs. Kennedy.

"I would have done anything to help her, but there was nothing I could do to help her, so rather quickly I left and went back to the main part of the airplane where everyone was seated," Mrs. Johnson told the commission.

Mrs. Kennedy's testimony covered the terrible moment in such candid detail that some of her words were eliminated from the printed hearings with the explanation: "(Reference to wounds deleted.)"

"You know, there is always noise in a motorcade and there are always motorcycles besides us, a lot of them backfiring," Mrs. Kennedy said. "So I was looking to the left. I guess there was a noise, but it didn't seem like any different noise really because there is so much noise, motorcycles and things. But then suddenly Gov. Connally was yelling, 'Oh, no, no, no.' "

"Did he turn toward you?" Rankin asked Mrs. Kennedy.

"No; I was looking this way, to the left, and I heard these terrible noises, you know," she answered.

"And my husband never made any sound. So I turned to the right. And all I remember is seeing my husband, he had this sort of quizzical look on his face, and his hand was up, it must have been his left hand," Mrs. Kennedy said.

"And just as I turned and looked at him, I could see a piece of his skull and I remember it was flesh colored. I remember thinking that he looked as if he had a slight headache. And I just remember seeing that. No blood or anything.

"And then he sort of did this (indicating), put his hand on his forehead and fell in my lap," she told Rankin.

"And then I just remember falling on him and saying, 'Oh, no, no, no,' I mean, 'Oh, my God, they have shot my husband.' And 'I love you, Jack.' I remember I was shouting. And just being down in the car with his head in my lap. And it just seemed an eternity.

"You know, then, there were pictures later on of me climbing out the back," Mrs. Kennedy told the commission. "But I don't remember that at all," she said.

Rankin then asked Mrs. Kennedy if she remembered Secret Service Agent Clint Hill coming to try to help on the car.

"I don't remember anything," she answered. "I was just down like that."

"And finally I remember a voice behind me, or something, and then I remember the people in the front seat, or somebody, finally knew something was wrong, and a voice yelling, which must have been Mr. Hill, 'Get to the hospital,' or maybe it was Mr. (Roy) Kellerman, in the front seat. But someone yelling. I was just down and holding him."

The commission transcript noted at this point that her refernce to wounds were deleted.

She recalled a sensation of "enormous speed" en route to the hospital with exchanges on the car radio which she could not hear in detail.

President Johnson, in his statement, recalled how he, Mrs. Johnson, and Sen. Ralph Yarborough (D-Tex.), who rode with them in the motorcade, commented on the good spirit and "obvious good wishes" of the crowd along the motorcade route.

Boys In Car Ruin Lawns In 2 Cities

Vandals in an automobile dug up 10 lawns in Corte Madera late Saturday and two in Larkspur the night before, police of the two cities reported.

Corte Madera police today cited 19-year-old Arleigh R. Krug of 3 Hillcrest Avenue, Larkspur, for the damage in Corte Madera, but Larkspur police said they were not sure the same car was involved in that city.

Krug's car was stopped near the damaged lawns about 11:15 p.m. Saturday after an angry resident phoned police with a description of the car. Police said the vehicle had mud and grass on the tires and bark from a tree on a bumper.

Lawns were damaged at the homes of Bortlo Spada, 20 Lakeside Drive; Harvey L. Zion Jr., 22 Lakeside; Johns Pokorny, 24 Lakeside; Robert Mason, 57 Lakeside; Arthur Luchetti, 77 Lakeside; Louis Workman, 81 Lakeside; Sharon Shields, 83 Lakeside; Edward Lambeth, 62 Mohawk Drive; Jack van Veen, 64 Mohawk, and David Wilkin, 66 Mohawk, in Corte Madera.

The Larkspur damage was at the homes of Allen C. Axford, 63 Dartmouth Drive, and Joseph N. Picetti, 39 Dartmouth Drive.

Pedestrians Injured In San Rafael

Two pedestrians, one an 8-year-old girl, were hit by cars and injured in downtown San Rafael during the weekend.

First such accident was at 3:30 p.m. Friday when Frances Judy Luck, 8, of 614 E Street, San Rafael, was hit by a car at Second and D streets.

The girl was bruised extensively. She was treated at Marin General Hospital.

Police said the car which hit her was driven by George Leroy Clark, 18, of 40 Hacienda Court, San Rafael, as he was making a left turn from Second to D Street.

More seriously injured was Peter Divita, 57, of 908 Fifth Avenue, San Rafael, who suffered two broken shoulder blades and a broken left leg when he was hit at Fifth Avenue and Nye Street at 7:30 p.m. Saturday.

He was hit by a car driven by James H. McKenney of 147 Broadmoor Avenue, San Anselmo. Police said McKenney was driving west on Fifth.

Drivers in both accidents were cited for failing to yield to a pedestrian.

BODY

ning down the mountainsides from the top.

The searchers yesterday had penetrated to within perhaps a quarter-mile of the spot where the body was found.

She and her husband, William Wilson Wurster, drove to their weekend and summer home at Seadrift in Stinson Beach on Saturday to spend the weekend. About 2:30 p.m., Mrs. Wurster told her husband she was going to drive down to see Thomas Twans, operator of Marin Building Supply, then visit the nearby Audubon bird sanctuary. She said she would be back about 5 o'clock.

When she did not return by 7:30 p.m., Wurster notified the sheriff's office.

Twans said she had been at the store about 3:30 p.m. and had driven away—not north toward the bird sanctuary, but south on the road above the beach. He said she appeared in very good spirits.

After the convertible was found by firemen and sheriff's deputies, on a high ridge about three miles southeast of Stinson Beach, the big search party was organized. Besides the officers, it included yesterday men from the radar squadron and Hamilton Air Force Base, the Stinson Beach Volunteer Fire Department, and the mounted sheriff's posse.

After the body was discovered this morning, some of the officers, under general direction of Sheriff's Capt. Sidney Stinson and Sheriff Mountanos, had to start other searchers to locate volunteers who got lost on the mountain.

The body was placed over a sheriff's posse horse and carried to Ridgecrest Boulevard, whence it was taken to Russell and Gooch Mortuary in Mill Valley.

Mrs. Wurster was professor of city and regional planning at University of California at Berkeley.

Clark Kerr, U.C. president, issued this statement on learning of her death: "I am deeply saddened by the death of Catherine Wurster. The university has lost one of its distinguished faculty members, and I have lost a close personal friend. Her warm and friendly personality will be greatly missed on the campus."

Known professionally as Catherine Bauer, she was an honorary member of the American Institute of Planners. She served as a committee member for a 1960 Washington conference on urban planning called by then-Sen. John F. Kennedy. The same year, she received a $15,000 grant from Ford Foundation for study of urban renewal problems.

A book she wrote in 1934 was used as a basis for the first national housing program under the Housing Act of 1937, and she subsequently served as consultant to the Federal Housing Authority and as executive secretary of the U.S. Labor Housing Conference.

Her husband, former dean of the schools of architecture at both Massachusetts Institute of Technology and University of California, retired from the latter position last year. He heads the San Francisco architectural firm of Wurster, Bernardi and Emmons. Among their designs is that for San Francisco's Golden Gateway project.

Panama Student Rioters Quelled

PANAMA (AP)—National Guard troops firing guns and tear gas and swinging with clubs today dispersed about 2,000 students shouting "Throw the Yankees out of Panama" outside the legislative palace.

Violence flared when a group of students carrying the Panamanian flag broke through a National Guard cordon. This started a surge by others toward the legislature building.

The students had massed despite a government ban on the demonstration, planned earlier to demand a stronger line in negotiations with the United States over the Panama Canal.

Boy Booked After Swing At Officers

A 16-year-old Marin youth was booked at juvenile hall by San Rafael police on a charge he swung at an officer who was trying to arrest him for reckless driving Saturday night.

Police said the arrest came after the youth was stopped for the second time during the evening in downtown San Rafael. They said he was warned to go home when they first stopped him at 10 p.m., but was seen driving about 45 miles per hour on Fourth Street 20 minutes later.

The youth allegedly swung at officer Gary Walter, who was then aided by officer Terry Lucchesi in focibly removing hm from his car and putting handcuffs on him.

At the police station, officers said, the youth claimed he was "a black belt in karate, and would kill them with his bare hands" if they did not remove the handcuffs. He was charged with reckless driving and resisting arrest.

Passenger Sues Widow For Damages

The widow of a Greenbrae real estate salesman who was killed last Aug. 3 in an automobile accident was sued today for $200,000 personal injury damages by a passenger in the vehicle.

Mrs. Miriam Arbour of 135 Redwood Avenue, Corte Madera, alleges in the Marin Superior Court action against the widow, Nina Louise Lindburg, that Vern Lamar Lindburg, 74, was negligent in driving.

Police records show Lindburg, of 75 Corte Solano, was showing Mrs. Arbour a house for rent at 124 Hillpath, Corte Madera, when the car plunged off the driveway and into a canyon.

Co-defendant is Solon Realty Co.

"The intention of this resolution is in no way to get around the Local Agency Formation Commission," said Mayor Michael Warnum. "It is the property owners who have made every endeavor in the world to stop our request beforet he commission."

"This is basically a legal maneuver on our part," said Balmer. "I am sure the commission will understand it in this way." He added that the city is pioneering a new legal pattern.

Court Appoints Jones Defender

The public defender's office was appointed today in Marin Superior Court to defend J. D. Jones, 30, of Marin City, charged with murdering his ex-wife. Further arraignment and plea was continued until 9:30 a.m. next Monday.

Jones allegedly beat his divorced wife, Mary L., 21, with a hammer Oct. 20 in a parking lot near the home of her mother, Mrs. Ola B. McLin, at 243 Drake Avenue, Marin City.

She died Nov. 16 of head injuries.

Christian Democrats Regain Lead In Italy

ROME (UPI) — Premier Aldo Moro's Christian Democrats tonight regained the lead in Italian provincial elections after an uneasy hour during which "Red belt" returns gave an early edge to the Communists.

With about one-fiftieth of the vote counted, the Christian Democrats, Italy's largest party since World War II, had 233,175 votes to the Communists 171-751.

ported to the control tower that he was trying to "abort" his takeoff, a TWA spokesman said. The pilot gave no reason for his desperate attempt to halt the aircraft's takeoff.

Witnesses said the pilot attempted to brake the plane. Brake markings showed the aircraft skidded about 1,500 feet off the runway onto another runway being repaired, and its wing struck a steam-roller parked on the runway.

The resulting explosion hurled great chunks of the plane's fuselage into the clear, sunny skies. The first rescue workers on the spot were stopped by heat 100 yards from the plane.

It was hard to believe anyone could have emerged from the holocaust alive.

UPI television cameraman Giuseppe di Giambattista, who was on the airfield to deliver newsfilm, said:

"I saw the big jet roaring down the runway with its engines at full speed before letting go for the takeoff. Then there was a big explosion—not sharp like a gunshot but rumbling, like something volcanic and an enormous spurt of fire."

"The plane just wasn't there anymore," he added.

Listed among the passengers were a Bishop Daly, presumed to be Bishop Edward Celestil Daly of Des Moines, Iowa, and a Msgr. Sondag, presumed to be Msgr. Joseph Sondag, also of Des Moines. Both were on their way to Athens. It was not known if they were among the survivors.

The following Americans were listed among the survivors:

Elisabeth Loretta Cartley, 39, Santa Monica, Calif.

Ernest Havell Jones, 19, (no hometown) Louisiana. He was listed as an American soldier.

Patricia Trottia, 40, of University of Chicago.

Marta Schultz, 49, of Kansas City.

The pilot, Capt. Vernon W. Lowell, of Glen Head, N.Y., was among the survivors.

Three California passengers aboard the fatal jetliner were a Woodland mother and her two young children enroute to a family reunion in Greece.

They were Mrs. Elaine Darnall, 33, and her children, Leslie, 7, and Stephen, 5. Mrs. Darnall was flying to join her husband, Lloyd Darnall Jr., a Navy chief who was transferred recently to Greece. The mother and children had been staying with her brother, Darrell Fiedler, of Woodland.

Narcotics Thief Moves Speedily

Daring or carelessness was behind a pharmacy burglary in San Anselmo last night.

The burglar may or may not have been aware that he only had 30 minutes to do his job, but he did it and escaped with 100 tablets of morphine and possibly more.

San Anselmo Police Officer Leon Eddings checked the rear of the Drake Pharmacy at 810 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard at 10:35 p.m., finding everything secure, and returned at 11:05 p.m. to discover the window to a rest room smashed. The time was so short that he called for fellow officers to make a search, thinking the burglar was still inside.

They turned up no one, but a quick inventory showed the missing morphine. A more thorough inventory was to be made today.

Motorcyclist Suffers Fractured Toe

Motorcycle rider Donald C. Krough, 18, of 131 Oak Manor Drive, Fairfax, suffered a fracture of the big toe on his left foot at 1:05 p.m. yesterday when his foot hit the hubcap of an oncoming car on Laguna Ranch Road a mile south of Sir Francis Drake Boulevard. He was treated by a doctor in Point Reyes Station.

The California Highway Patrol reported Krough was headed north around a corner when a southbound car driven by George E. Nunes, 27, of Lighthouse Road, Point Reyes, drifted to the wrong side of the road and then pulled back to the right side, but not quite in time.

Wilderness Area Program Started

By HARRISON HUMPHRIES

WASHINGTON (AP) — Steps to assure preservation of vast acres of pristine wilderness, as directed by the last Congress, are under way.

Government officials are aiming toward promulgation early next year of rules and regulations to govern the system of wilderness areas and keep them in an unspoiled state for present and future generations.

Meanwhile, the first 54 acres totaling 9.1 million acres "untrammeled by man" are being protected from exploitation under policies developed in the forest service since the 1930s.

A forest service task force is at work comparing existing policies with the requirements of the wilderness bill signed into law by President Lyndon B. Johnson Sept. 3.

Forest supervisors have been instructed to carry on under prior guidelines, consulting the forest service in Washington on any questionable matters, until new regulations are published and instructions issued.

The preserved areas are to be unmarred by roads, buildings, automobiles or motorboats. Systems of trails will provide access for hikers, mountain climbers, hunters, fishermen and seekers of solace for their souls.

The first 54 areas—all in national forests—are wooded tracts in 14 states previously designated as wild, wilderness and canoe by the forest service. They are incorporated as the nucleus of the wilderness system immediately upon enactment of the legislation.

The bill sets out a 10-year schedule for survey of 34 additional primitive areas totaling 5.4 million acres in the national forests, 22 million acres in the national park system and 24 million acres in national wildlife refuges for possible inclusion in the national wilderness system.

The national park service of the Interior Department is in the process of picking out those areas of the national parks and monuments which are roadless and at least 5,000 acres in size to determine whether they meet the definition of wilderness as spelled out in the law.

Planners Unveil Marin Statistics

There are more than 3,000 persons in Marin County who walk to work.

Almost 32 per cent of the Marin labor force is female.

These are among the statistics in a 20-page bulletin on "population characteristics" compiled by the Marin County Planning Department for public distribution.

The bulletin is the first of several on various topics to be prepared by the department and distributed for public information, reported B. D. Dobbs, planning director.

Among the findings are that:

Of Marin's population, 39.9 per cent was born out of state and 7.7 per cent was born in foreign countries.

Of the foreign born, 30 per cent are English, 17.2 per cent German, and 12.8 per cent Greek.

In Sausalito, more than half the households are rentals; rented in contracts, in Ross approximately one-fifth are rentals.

Of Marin's housing structures, 26.4 per cent were built in 1929 and earlier.

The average market value of a single-family, non-farm home in Marin is $25,800, highest of all California counties.

Of the total county population in 1960, 34.7 per cent were under 18 years of age and 6.9 per cent were 65 and over.

With an area of approximately 521 square miles, Marin is the fourth smallest county in California. San Francisco, Santa Cruz and San Mateo are smaller.

The population density of Marin rose from 282 persons per square mile in 1960 to 342 in 1964.

The bulletin also projects the county's population to 217,200 by 1970, 294,900 by 1980, 370,000 by 1990, and ultimately 709,000.

The bulletin also lists the population by census tracts and a census tract map is enclosed.

Dobbs said 500 copies were printed.

Fire Hydrant Vandals Soak Sleepy Hollow Area

Pranksters deliberately turned four fire hydrants on in Sleepy Hollow early yesterday, allowing thousands of gallons of precious water to be lost.

The San Anselmo Fire Department turned off the first hydrant shortly after 12:35 a.m. at Butterfield Road and Green Valley Court, where residents were awakened by the sound of the gushing water.

Similar calls were received at 2:15 a.m. about the hydrant at Woodside and Oak Springs drives and 80 minutes later about hydrants at Rutherford and Bennett avenues and a block away at Suffield and Bennett avenues.

"Most of the water ran into culverts and caused little damage," Fire Chief Frank Sousa reported.

"Thousands and thousands of gallons of water was lost because of this senseless prank," he declared.

"The culprits must have a regulation-size fire hydrant wrench such as those used by our department. There were no marks on the hydrants' stems which indicated that any other kind of wrench was used."

Guns, Whiskey Object Of Theft

Burglars seemingly bent on revelry invaded the home of Vittorio Traverso, 63 Manor Road, Fairfax, Friday night, and left with two guns, 12 bottles of bourbon whisky, two bottles of champagne and 15 pounds of cheese.

The burglars found their bonanza in a basement storeroom of the home after entering through a kitchen window sometime between 5 and 10:20 p.m. while the Traversos were out. They apparently took their time, because they managed to consume a half bottle of bourbon before leaving.

Instruction Program On Dixie Agenda

The Dixie School District board will consider improvements in the instruction program at a meeting at 8 p.m. tomorrow at the district office, 35 Trellis Drive, San Rafael.

The board was regularly scheduled to meet Wednesday but advanced the meeting one day because of Thanksgiving.

Prison Escapees Let Go Elderly Hostages, Car

PORTLAND, Ore. (UPI)—Seven escaped convicts from the Washington State Prison released two hostages unharmed near here early today and continued their flight in a stolen station wagon, police reported.

Andrew and Cora Jeppe, both 64, of Walla Walla, Wash., were released south of the Portland suburb of Gresham.

They told Clackamas County sheriff's officers the seven escapees had waylaid them as they returned from church yesterday. They took the Jeppes' car and headed for Portland. The couple told officers the convicts treated them "with more courtesy than you would expect."

The hostages said the escapees abandoned them and their car and stole the station wagon near Gresham. The vehicle was too far away for them to determine its make or license number, they said.

The convicts, three of them convicted murderers, burrowed under the walls of the Walla Walla penitentiary last night.

When men go to the moon they will find that earthshine there is far greater than the glow of moonlight on their home planet.

Rail Strike Talk Taking A Holiday

CHICAGO (AP) — Postponement of a nationwide strike scheduled for 6 a.m. today will allow rail traffic to move as usual this Thanksgiving week, but negotiations between the railroads and three unions will resume next week in Washington.

The three non-operating shop craft unions put off the threatened strike for at least a week Sunday after receiving an urgent request by Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz.

Later yesterday, J. E. Wolfe, chief negotiator for the railroads, telephoned Judge Joseph Sam Perry of U.S. District Court that the carriers were dropping an injunction petition which sought an order barring the strike.

REDISTRICTING PLAN—This is how Marin County's five supervisorial districts would look under plan proposed by Supervisor Byron W. Leydecker. Plan was presented to the board with boundaries roughly drawn on a census tract map. Independent-Journal artist Jack Lucey has placed them on a map showing city boundaries to show how the scheme would place much of East and South San Rafael in the Fourth District, along with almost all of Corte Madera and a corridor through Larkspur. The city of Larkspur would be split three ways—part remaining in the Second District, part going into the Fourth and part going into the third. The plan would achieve the population balance among the districts demanded by the California Supreme Court.

Redistricting Plan Approval Expected

These changes would increase the West Marin district from its present 3.9 per cent to 18.1 per cent of the county's population.

Storer, who will represent this district after Jan. 1, says he "dislikes the plan very much."

If it comes to its scheduled vote Dec. 1, however, District Four's vote will be cast by outgoing Supervisor George H. Ludy, and Ludy says he is "in perfect agreement" with Leydecker's suggestion.

"Naturally, the people out here would have liked to see the district stay as it is now," Ludy said this weekend, "but we face a Supreme Court decision, and I think this plan meets more of our needs than any other I have heard.

"I would have felt this way regardless of the outcome of the election."

Supervisor Peter H. Behr of Mill Valley, whose District Three would change only slightly, was cautious in his comments, noting that he had been on vacation when the plan came forth, and wished to study it closely before the Dec. 1 hearing. But he predicted the board probably would pass it with few changes.

"I see no other answer to the problems involved," he said.

Leydecker said his proposal was based roughly on his earlier suggestion to draw bands across the county, "slicing the more highly populated eastern area into equal zones. Another plan, based on this concept, received three "yes" votes when it was voted on several months ago, Leydecker recalled, but failed to pass because state law then required four votes for passage of any redistricting plan. This requirement has since been changed.

Calling it "the best I could come up with," Leydecker said his tentative map was intended to disturb existing districts as little as possible, yet still meet the court requirement of no less than 18 per cent of the population in any district.

It also would meet the court's other two greatest concerns: reducing overly large districts and splitting up the unincorporated area of the county, he asserted.

Leydecker said he felt giving Tomales and Marshall to the Novato district would "make two of the supervisors responsive to the interests of West Marin."

Storer, however, predicted a

San Francisco Crash Bumps Hub Motorist

Miss Dorothy Zimmerman, 42, of 160 Los Angeles Boulevard, San Anselmo, suffered a bump on the head after her car zoomed out of control and dropped off the James Lick Freeway at Vermont Street in San Francisco today.

Her car sideswiped a passing auto, struck a parked car and bounced through the window of the General Fireproofing Co. at 1591 Vermont Street, police said.

American legal education began between 1782 and 1784 when Judge Tapping Reeve of Litchfield, Conn., set up the first school for the teaching of the common law.

PLAN

"generally adverse reaction" from his constituents, particularly those in Tomales and Marshall.

"You should not split the traditional ranching area," he said.

Saying he plans to lodge a strong protest at next week's session, Storer contended it would be "more logical" to take Fairfax and Sleepy Hollow from District Two and give them to District Four.

While this would bring the district up to only 10 per cent of county population, the supervisor-elect said he thought this would present no great problem.

"The Supreme Court approved nine per cent for one district in Monterey County a few months ago," he said. "I don't know why this county should go overboard with 17 or 18 per cent.

"We could always add more later."

Storer said he did "not see the logic of a belt from Point Reyes to San Quentin. We should start with the nearest contiguous area which has any concentration of people.

"This plan would make it far more difficult to represent the district."

Kettenhoffen, who said he had "worked four hours a day for a week trying to come up with a better plan, and couldn't," disagreed with Storer. "I commend Mr. Leydecker," he said.

Kettenhoffen said he had prepared a plan of his own to present to the board last week. However, he abandoned it in favor of Leydecker's proposal.

He said he would strongly object to any suggestion that Fairfax be taken from his district, and was prepared to debate the matter with Storer.

Many of his campaign promises were tied to the Fairfax area, and must be fulfilled, he declared.

Contending that he had committed himself to Fairfax voters on the Corte Madera Flood Control Project, alternate east-west highway route and other issues, Kettenhoffen said, "I have a commitment to a larger number of people than Mr. Storer has.

"We are not talking about the wishes of the supervisors, we are talkng about the wishes of the voters."

Chairman William A. Gnoss of Novato was out of town and unavailable for comment, but Leydecker and Kettenhoffen said Gnoss had commented favorably on the proposal.

300 Brave Rain For Concert At Gym

By MAYBELLE SPECKMAN

An audience of some 300 people turned out Saturday night in the rain to hear the College of Marin's first concert in the new gymnasium—a program by the madrigal group and organist Dr. S. Drummond Wolff.

It is a pleasure to report that now the college's musical events can be enjoyed in a much better setting acoustically than in muffling Olney Hall.

Though the greater comfort of the theater-like seating arrangement and the stage of Olney Hall are sacrificed, with the use of a shell to help projection the greater clarity and resonance of music in the gym are well worth the sacrifice.

Singing a cappella, except for the concluding "Miserere" by Gregorio Allegri, the group of nine young women and seven young men presented madrigals of the 16th and 17th centuries and four pieces of liturgical music by Schroter, Schutz and Dr. Wolff himself.

Dr. Wolff has molded these young singers into a smoothly functioning and beautifully balanced group who show the unmistakable hallmarks of his training. These include razor-sharp attacks and releases, incredibly long sustained pianissimo and legato passages, wide contrasts in dynamics and maintenance of uniform intensity of tone that is well controlled in crescendos and diminuendos.

With the advantage of the enhancing acoustics, the electric organ in Dr. Wolff's skillful playing of works by Scheidt, Buxtehude and Pachelbel had remarkable power and resonance. Pachelbel's "Chorale with Variations" and "Fantasia and Chromatic Fugue" were high points.

Indistinct diction was the only flaw in the chorus's singing.

Though two of the madrigals were delightfully humorous, the over-all mood of the program was perhaps a bit somber, an impression augmented by closing it with the liturgical pieces and "Miserere."

Sheet Rock Helps Save Apartment During Blaze

Sheet rock was credited with saving a two-unit apartment house early today at 137 Upper Crescent Avenue in Sausalito.

Kevin Mercer, who lives in the upper apartment, called firemen at 4:25 a.m. and put a garden hose on the blaze, concentrated in a hall between two bedrooms and a linen storage closet.

"I was awakened by the sound of the fire and the light which was as bright as day," said Mercer, who estimated damage in linens and personal items at about $200.

Robert Perrine, a navy lieutenant, who lives in the lower apartment, was awakened. His apartment suffered no damage.

Fireman Ralph K. Pedersen said "the only thing that saved the house, which is old, was that the hall was sheet rock enclosed." The two units are owned by Collette Shillig of 164 Cazneau Avenue.

Viaduct Barrier Bid Date Set

Bids for construction of the center barrier on San Rafael overhead will be opened Jan. 6 in Sacramento, state Sen. John F. McCarthy (R-San Rafael) announced today.

"I am highly pleased to find the Division of Highways acting on my request for the barrier," said McCarthy. "Marin has experienced too many tragic mishaps on the overhead already."

The Division of Highways has approved expenditure of $149,000 for the project. Senator McCarthy said he hopes the barrier construction can be completed during the early part of next year.

High Court Upholds Wording Of Pledge

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Supreme Court refused today to review state court rulings which allowed use of the words "Under God" at pledge of allegiance exercises in New York Schools.

The challenge to the religious reference in the salute to the Flag was rejected by three state courts. Today's Supreme Court action was in the form of a brief order, with no opinion.

In prior terms, the court had ruled out as unconstitutional prayers and Bible reading in public schools when used as devotional exercises. The pledge of allegiance to the Flag is primarily a patriotic ritual.

In other actions today, the court:

1. Quashed the defamation conviction of New Orleans District Attorney Jim Garrison which resulted from his criticism of the city's judges during Garrison's effort to clean up Bourbon Street nightlife activities. The Supreme Court held that the Louisiana statute under which Garrison was tried was unconstitutional. In the majority opinion, Justice William Brennan declared: "Speech concerning public affairs is more than self-expression; it is the essence of self-government."

2. Threw out the conviction of a Cleveland man, William Beck, who was arrested without a warrant and searched for "numbers" slips which were found in his socks. Speaking for the 6 to 3 majority, Justice Potter Stewart commented: "No decision of this court has upheld the constitutional validity of a warrantless arrest with support so scanty as this record presents."

3. Set Dec. 10 as the date for arguments on Georgia's 1962 reapportionment law for its state senate. The new reapportionment was held unconstitutional by a three-judge federal court last March 27.

Billie Sol Estes Ordered Jailed On Bond Violation

DALLAS (UPI)—U.S. Dist. Judge Sarah T. Hughes forefeited the $10,000 bond of convicted promoter Billie Sol Estes today and told the U.S. marshal to arrest him.

It marked the first time that Estes had been confined since his first arrest by the FBI March 29, 1962.

U.S. Atty. Barefoot Sanders made the motion for bond forfeiture because, he said, Estes had travelled outside the 100-county jurisdiction of the federal court.

That violated the condition of the bond, Sanders claimed.

Estes, the former farm tycoon, is under indictment here on charges of making false financial statements to the Department of Agriculture's Commodity Credit Corporation. He has been convicted in federal court at El Paso and state court at Tyler, Tex., on charges growing out of his dealings in fertilizer tanks.

Students Promoted At Academy

Five students have been promoted and seven named to the National Honor Society at the San Rafael Military Academy.

Heading the promotions is Merrit Smith, son of Mrs. Keith V. Smith, 236 Laurel Place, San Rafael, promoted to cadet lieutenant and named executive officer of headquarters company at the academy. Melville R. Baruh Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Melville R. Baruh, 224 Laurel Grove Avenue, Ross, was promoted to first sergeant and named Headquarters Company first sergeant.

Promoter to cadet sergeant first class were Robert Breton, son of Mrs. Ruth G. Breton of 1140 Ridgewood Drive, Millbrae, and Howard W. Breton of San Francisco, to serve as B Company guide; Ben MacMillan, son of Mrs. Nancy W. MacMillan of Seattle, Wash., to serve as D Company sergeant instructor; and George O'Neill, son of Mrs. John S. O'Neill, 50 Lunada Court, San Rafael, to serve on the drill team.

The seven cadets named to the National Honor Society were Frederick Dietrich, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick T. Dietrich, 228 Ricardo Road, Mill Valley; Merritt Smith, mentioned above; Philip Welchman, 222 Reed Circle, Mill Valley; Vaughn Feather, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack V. Feather, of Oakland; Stephen Lind, son of Mr. and Mrs. Irving L. Lind of Olympia, Wash.; Bruce McKee, son of Dr. and Mrs. Wayne P. McKee of Ferndale, Humboldt County; and Leland Rather, son of Dr. and Mrs. Arnold J. Rather of San Francisco.

Goldwater To Resume Column

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The syndicated newspaper column of Sen. Barry Goldwater, which he suspended early this year upon deciding to seek the Republican presidential nomination, will be resumed Jan. 4.

The Los Angeles Times Syndicate introduced the Arizona senator as a columnist in 1960. Once again it will distribute the three-times-a-week column, according to an announcement in Los Angeles by Goldwater and Times publisher Otis Chandler.

Fall In Crossing Injures Woman

Cecelia D. Brown, 48, of 1330 Fourth Street, Apt. 9, San Rafael, suffered a broken left ankle at 11:20 a.m. Saturday when she fell while crossing the intersection at Fourth and B streets.

She was in satisfactory condition today at Terra Linda Valley Hospital, after first being treated at San Rafael General Hospital.

San Rafael police said she apparently turned the ankle as she stepped from the curb.

Bridge Meeting

The Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District board will meet Nov. 30 at 10:30 a.m. in the directors' room at the Administration building of the bridge toll plaza. This meeting will be held instead of the regularly scheduled meeting of Friday, which has been cancelled.

Teen-Age Driver Hits Parked Car, Is Hurt

Mary Morrison, 17, of 206 Hawthorne Street, Mill Valley, suffered a cut mouth and skinned knees at 6:45 p.m. Saturday when her car struck a parked car and then a fence as she drove north around a curve on Evergreen Avenue about 200 feet south of Ethel Avenue, near Mill Valley.

The parked car, owned by Bryan W. Arant, San Francisco, also hit the fence as it was pushed forward. Miss Morrison refused hospitalization, the California Highway Patrol reported.

Radioactive Samples Taken From Ocean

Robert Hammond, physicist of 552 Wisteria Way, Terra Linda, returned last week from heading a two-week cruise sampling deep ocean water for radioactivity.

How much radioactivity he and his colleagues found won't be known for some time, since extensive laboratory analysis is needed to measure the very small quantities involved. But eventually, Hammond hopes, the samplings will help fill in some blank areas in the knowledge of global fallout levels from nuclear tests.

Hammond and three colleagues from the United States Radiological Defense Laboratory left Long Beach Nov. 9 in the Navy ship Davis, headed for three points about 400 miles offshore.

The scientists and the crew of the Davis didn't have time to get to all three locations in the time they had allotted, but further trips are contemplated.

Their samplings were taken at 35 and 40 degrees latitude 400 miles from shore and at seven different depths, down to 2,500 meters. The samplings had to be large because very small quantities of strontium 90 and cesium 137 were anticipated.

A special contained designed to take samples of 140 liters at great depths was used.

The reason for taking readings at varying depths was to determine the "mixing rate" of the particles. At the surface the mixing rate is very rapid because there is much surface movement, but at great depths the sea is practically motionless sometimes.

Knowledge of the mixing rate will help scientists to analyze future samplings of North Pacific water. Samplings from the sea combined with readings on land and in the upper atmosphere will all help to complete the picture of global fallout from bomb tests.

Hollis Says Trustees Are 'Second Class Citizens'

County schools supt. Virgil S. Hollis has charged that school district board members are "second class citizens by law," restricted by taxing limitations.

He urged action "to unshackle our school trustees from these needless restrictions" in his superintendent's message in the November issue of "Marin County schools reporter" published by his office.

The Marin County Board of Supervisors can raise county taxes "without imposing separate override taxes, without being hamstrung by limitations, and without having to conduct innumerable expensive override tax elections," Hollis said.

"The eleven cities' councils can raise local taxes for their particular needs without going to the people time and time again to ask for override taxes. The 87 other separate taxing districts in Marin County do not have tax ceilings. Why, then, do school districts?"

(In fact, general law cities are restricted to a tax rate of $1 per $100 assessed valuation for general purposes, although then city councils can levy additional taxes for special purposes. San Rafael City Council is similarly restricted by the city charter.)

Hollis said he wondered why school trustees, schools staffs and communities" have to dissipate their valuable time and energies on endless tax override elections and defend other actions on 25 separate school tax rate limitation and override taxes."

Hollis concluded that it is time "for the people to take corrective legislative action to make our dedicated, hardworking and much-maligned school trustees first class citizens by law."

Burglars Ransack Home In Fairfax

Burglars ransacked the home of Mrs. Anne Borland, 215 Tamalpais Drive, Fairfax, last night, and took $10 in Kennedy half dollars, an undetermined amount of jewelry, a coat and a portable radio.

The burglars entered the home through a kitchen window between 6 and 8 p.m., police said, and ransacked the house thoroughly—strewing clothes everywhere—before leaving. The jewelry belonged to Mrs. Borland's daughter, Mrs. Laura Laidley, who was away today.

WHITE'S HILL TOO MUCH FOR 1919 CAR

In the days of the Model T Ford, it was a good one that could climb White's Hill on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard. Lyle E. Atkinson, 64, San Francisco antique car afficinado,, had a good one which made it to the top yesterday afternoon. But as he started down the east slope about 4 o'clock, the Rucksell axle of the 1919 vehicle let go, sending the Ford careening in neutral down the steep slope. Atkinson tried to slow it by zig-zagging, then finally tried a U-turn, only to hit the bank, the California Highway Patrol reported. The driver was treated at Marin General Hospital for scrapes on shoulder and left wrist—but look what happened to the car!

Mountain Lion Hunt –But No Cat Bagged

Beach-goers to Fort Cronkhite were given a Sunday treat yesterday when they came upon a "mountain lion hunt" just outside the west end of the tunnel at Forts Barry and Baker.

Many shots wer fired by Army military police but, at last count, no big cat had been felled although one may have been wounded.

An Army spokesman said today that the animal fired upon was a lynx. He said residents in the Capehart Housing at Fort Barry had called reporting a lynx. "They did not hit the critter," said the spokesman.

Bystanders, of which there were about 100, either en route or returning from the beach at Fort Cronkhite, said the animal was definitely a mountain lion.

Bob Sellers of 616 Vendola Drive, Santa Venetia, said he saw the lion at a distance of 150 to 200 yards from the roadway as it emerged from some greasewood. He estimated it to be about four feet long and two and one-half feet high.

"It was definitely a mountain lion," said Larry Phillips of 107 Cornelia Avenue, Mill Valley. Phillips added it had a long tail and was brown, with white underneath.

The animal was spotted at about 12:30 p.m. by the two military police from their patrol car near the tunnel entrance. They took turns firing M-24 rifles as the big cat slunk up the hillside onto property of the proposed new city of Marincello. A herd of deer stood stockstill on the hillside above the animal after shots were fired.

One of the soldiers said that fore parts of the legs of a deer had been in the vicinity on Saturday and that a large black cat, possibly of Puma strain, had also been seen in the area.

Sports Car Lifted, Two Wheels Stolen

Two wheels and tubeless whitewall tires were stolen from an MG sedan at the used car lot of E. F. Sweeney Imports, 439 Francisco Boulevard, Friday night, Leslie J. Hancock of the auto firm told San Rafael police Saturday.

The stolen items, which were removed by using a 12-foot two-by-four as a lever to jack up the car, were worth $80, he said.

Novato Gets Suspect In Auto Theft

Roy L. Burts was arrested by Novato Patrolman A. W. Schroeder after a chase from Highway 101 and Grant Avenue to 7530 Redwood Highway.

San Rafael police said Albert K. Goto of 105 Canal Street, Apt. 7, arrived home at 3:45 p.m. and was entering his apartment when he heard his convertible's engine start up.

Racing outside, he saw a man behind the wheel. He tried to stop the theft by stepping in front of his car, police said, and the driver tried to run him down.

Schroeder heard an all-points bulletin from San Rafael on his radio and recognized the convertible as it went by.

Police said Burts allegedly stole a car in Burbank Saturday, driving it to San Rafael and abandoning it on Highway 17. The car was found there after he was arrested.

Two Are Arrested In Theft At Bar

San Rafael police arrested two men last night after an amateurish hold-up at the 881 Club, 881 Fourth Street, but the one who got the money was still at large today.

Police said the trio, all known to bartender John H. Weisner, entered at 11 p.m. One went to a rear phone booth and the others took places separately at the bar.

After the latter two ordered drinks, one pulled out a .45-caliber automatic pistol and asked Weisner, "You know what this is, Johnny?"

Weisner, who knew what it was, gave the man about $400 from the cash register.

The third man stayed in the phone booth.

On his way out, the holdup man asked Weisner if he recalled the amount of a check he had cashed there previously.

Weisner told police he replied, "Yes, $200. Do you want change?"

The second man at the bar then stuck his hand in his jacket as though he, too, had a gun and said, "we don't want any change" as both walked out.

The third man still remained in the phone booth, even as Weisner rushed to it, grabbed the phone from him and called police.

Officers came and arrested Gerald Quinton Viviere, 21, of 565 Canal Street, Apt. 6, San Rafael, in the phone booth. Then they went upstairs and arrested James Albert Sprague, in his room in the Live-In Hotel above the bar.

Still sought, however, was the third member of the trio, who police said had held onto the $400.

County Employees Set Safety Award

Marin County employees won the top safety award in their category at the convention of the County Supervisors Assn. of California last week at Palm Springs.

The award went to the county for having the lowest injury frequency rate from July 1, 1963 to June 30, 1964, among counties with between 701 and 1,300 employees. The award was presented by the State Compensation Insurance Fund.

Blackouts Hit Inverness, West Novato

Power failures darkened Inverness Park and the West Novato area for more than four hours yesterday.

Short circuits in high tension wires in Inverness Park on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard left about 2,000 homes in the area without electricity from 4:50 to about 10:30 p.m. Cause of this failure could not be learned today from Pacific Gas and Electric Co.

The West Novato failure began about 2 p.m. when an unidentified boy threw old bedsprings over a high line on San Carlos Drive. The resulting short-circuit caused an overload on the Novato Boulevard line which burned in two, according to Lee Wise, manager of the PG&E's Novato office.

Residents of San Marin, Pleasant Valley, Sutron Avenue, Vineyard Road and Novato Boulevard to Stafford Lake were affected, he said.

Power was restored to the area about 6 p.m.

Supervisors Meeting On Administrator

The Marin County Board of Supervisors will consider an ordinance which will strengthen the position of the county administrator at its meeting tomorrow at the Civic Center.

The meeting begins at 9 a.m.

The proposed ordinance gives the administrator the power "to administer, supervise, direct and control the administration of all county offices, departments, and institutions, elective or appointive, in such matters that are the concern and responsibility of the board of supervisors."

It also gives the administrator the job of resolving all interdepartmental problems and disputes.

The meeting starts at 9 a.m. with discussion of the ordinance set for 10 a.m.

During its afternoon session the board will continue its hearings on a tentative map of Paradise Cove Marina Unit 2, which has been opposed by the City of Tiburon, and zoning of Oak Manor Highlands, which has been opposed by Fairfax.

The board also is scheduled to discuss financing of the Richardson Bay development, but there were indications that the matter may be continued to a later meeting.

Synanon Hints Federal Aid To Addict Swap Proposals

Opposition to Synanon on a county level was countered by indication of possible federal support yesterday.

The County Supervisors Assn. of California stated its opposition last week to the Synanon plan to transfer narcotis addicts from New York to California, Marin County Supervisor William A. Gnoss said today.

The association passed a resolution against the proposal at its convention in Palm Springs, Gnoss said. The resolution said the plan to transfer New York addicts to the Synanon rehabilitation center at Marshall would create a burden to the counties of California and law enforcement agencies and possibly lead to a mass influx of addicts to California.

Stanley Burnie, national chairman of Sponsors of Synanon, said yesterday that Democratic Sen. Thomas Dodd of Connecticut is preparing a bill which would provide federal funds for the five Synanon branches in the United States.

Burnie made the statement at a luncheon at the Marshall center, during which sponsors of the Marin County Synanon Foundation became the first Synanon chapter to be formally presented with a charter.

Jury Selection On In Dredging Violation Trial

Jury selection in the trial of George Kappas, owner of Kappas Yacht Harbor at Waldo Point and charged with excavating without a permit, began in Marin Municipal Court today.

Kappas allegedly continued digging sludge out of Richardson Bay at Waldo Point south of the seaplane base last Sept. 3 although directed by the Marin County Board of Supervisors to desist.

He is represented in court by Wallace S. Myers, attorney. Deputy Dist. Atty. Gary Thomas is prosecuting before Judge Leonard A. Thomas.

HIKE BEGINS — This was the start of the John F. Kennedy memorial hike from near Fairfax to Bolinas Beach yesterday. After a ride to the crest of the Bolinas Road hill, the hikers piled from trucks and began to walk the remaining 12 miles. All got there, one way or another. (Independent-Journal photo)

Novato's Two School Boards To Meet Today

The two Novato unified school districts boards will meet tonight in the administration building at Seventh Street and Marion Avenue.

The old Novato Unified School District board will hold its regular meeting starting at 8 p.m. Immediately after that, the new seven-man board of the combined Novato and San Jose districts will meet.

The old board will discuss the purchase of the Sinoloa School site at Vineyard Road and Sutro Avenue.

It will also draw up a contract with the architect for plans for a new junior high school for that site. However, this should be signed by the new board, which will see the project to completion.

It will also approve a contract with the county superintendent of schools for the rental of the two classrooms for the current school year.

The new board, which was sworn into office last Saturday, will discuss the building program and personnel for the new district.

New Offices

Dr. George R. Caesar of Greenbrae has opened offices at 1619 Lincoln Avenue, San Rafael, for the practice of psychiatry. He is a 1955 graduate of the University of California School of Medicine.

Rain Threat Holds Back Some Hikers

Marin County's John F. Kennedy memorial hike drew fewer persons than its backers hoped yesterday, but the 100 youngsters who turned out pronounced it a success.

Its backers concluded the threat of rain probably discouraged many from showing up, but not a drop fell on the hikers as they made the 12-mile trek from the crest of the Fairfax-Bolinas Road, about four miles out of Fairfax, to Bolinas Beach.

BARE FEET

Most of the hikers were from San Rafael High School, home base of the sponsoring Conspirators Hi-Y Club, but several grade schoolers went along as well.

One young lad walked the scenic route in his bare feet, according to Jay Widmer of San Rafael, chairman of the march.

Widmer said San Rafael High School coach William H. Monti, acting as an adviser, asked the boy if he wasn't going to hurt his feet that way, and the boy replied:

"Oh, I do my paper route this way all the time."

All 100 got to the beach, one way or another, Widmer said, but he confessed that about half were forced to ride part of the way after the going got rough.

GIVE DOLLARS

Each hiker gave a dollar, and a few Marin citizens gave more, so the club hopes to have $100, after expenses, to send to the Kennedy Library building fund.

After a picnic at the beach, the hikers returned to their starting point in the trucks, loaned by Nationwide Truck and Trailer Rentals of San Rafael.

Determined to make it an annual event, Widmer said, his group will start working well in advance next year in an effort to interest students from all county high schools, and maybe a few older folks as well.

LBJ Guests Get Eight-Point Deer

JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (UPI)— Two Georgians visiting on President Lyndon B. Johnson's LBJ Ranch bagged eight-point bucks today during an early-morning deer hunt.

The White House said Gov. Carl Sanders and U.S. Sen. Herman E. Talmadge were the first to succeed among the group of leading Georgia Democrats who were invited to the ranch for the hunt.

The president himself stayed at the ranch with some of the group, including Sen. Richard Russell. They have not yet gone hunting.

School Tax Hike Is On Agenda

The San Rafael Board of Education may soon ask voters to approved a hike in the $1.75 ceiling on the elementary district's tax rate.

Board members will discuss this at their meeting scheduled for 7:30 p.m. tomorrow in Room 802 of Terra Linda High School.

District Supt. Bert C. Corona will submit preliminary estimates of the expected 1965-66 elementary budget. In his printed comments on the agenda, Corona notes that the district's 1962 Stanford Study predicted the need for a tax hike this year, and says, "It appears we can no longer postpone action on a higher maximum tax rate for Elementary District."

The board also will look at final plans for the addition to Gallinas School.

Large Family

Doctor's Brief Case Stolen From Auto

Dr. Frederick Gordon Dunn of 4 Madrone Avenue, Ross, told San Rafael police someone stole a brief case, containing records, narcotics forms, medications and a change of clothing, from his car at San Rafael General Hospital about 7 p.m. Saturday.

Police said the case and its contents were valued at $200.

Redwood Art In German School

An exhibit of paintings and jewelry, made by students in Redwood High School's art classes, has been received by its affiliated school in Preetz, Germany.

In a letter received by art teacher Wallace E. MacDonald, the head of the art department of the Friedrich-Schiller gymnasium in Preetz praised the student work as "stimulating and interesting." The exhibit is being displayed in the corridors of the Preetz school.

According to the letter, an exhibit of paintings by students in Preetz is being prepared for shipment to Redwood.

Car Club Dance

The Road Men of Marin car club will hold a dance at the Terra Linda Decreation Center at 8 p.m. Saturday. Music will be provided by the Wild Ones. Proceeds from the dance will be donated to Guide Dogs for the Blind Inc.

Marin Population Put AT 223,000 By 1990

Population increase in Marin County of more than 223,000 by 1990 has been forecast by the county planning department in its first information bulletin on population characteristics.

Greatest population growth in the county is forecast in central Marin where the census bureau's 1960 population figure of 82,695 is expected to jump to 171,600 by 1990.

The second fastest growing area will be northern Marin where 83,900 people will be living in 1990 where 21,705 persons live now.

The southern and western portions of Marin are expected to have a population increase of more than 35,000 in 26 years.

Included in the projections are estimates of the number of housing units, vacant and occupied, which will be available in the county in proportion to the increasing population.

Tables comparing the number of persons per square mile in Marin's 11 cities, distribution of income by families, distribution of employed persons by place of work and means of transportation to work and amount of schooling Marin residents over 25 years of age have had, are included in the booklet.

The purpose of the bulletin is to provide researchers and the public with a compilation of available data relating to the characteristics of population and housing from the Bureau of Census.

Peptic ulcer ranks 16th as a cause of death in the United States.

TB Campaign Gets $10,600

More than $10,600 was received by the Marin Tuberculosis and Health Assn. during the first five days of the 1964 Christmas Seal campaign, it was announced today by E. Warren McGuire, chairman.

During the same period last year, $8,133 was raised, but contributions to the 1964 campaign have been decreasing daily, he said.

"We hope thist rend will be reversed so that the association can fight harder to halt the rise of tuberculosis," McGuire stated.

SOME PURITANS HAVE BEEN SEEN AT REDWOOD NATIONAL BANK

They came right in the front door, sat down at their long Redwood desks, and began working. This morning at 9. They called themselves "banking puritans." Then, at 10 A.M. customers began pouring in. Seems our customers don't mind a bit having puritans serving them. Because, you see, there are still some people around who believe in some "puritan" banking ideas, like devotion to service. It's an old idea, we admit, and only some banking puritans would have thought of it, in these days. But, here's the best part. Once you've accepted the idea of serving, then you'd better forget the rest of your old, puritan ideas and start thinking up new ways to really work for the people of this county. Like charge free checking service on personal accounts maintaining a $200 balance. And like letting everyone know you mean to continue serving better than any bank in county history. Just to prove it, we're planting an acre of corn somewhere around here. By next thanksgiving . . . well, you'll see. Meantime, like the puritans we are, we wish you the finest Thanksgiving yet.

ANSWER TO TRAFFIC JAMS?

British-designed hover-craft, looking like a combination boat, bus and aircraft, is tried out Friday on Potomac River near Washington. Riding low on a cushion of air, the 15-passenger craft can travel over swamp and moderately rugged land as well as water. Bay Area organizations have considered testing hover-craft as answer to commute problems. Craft is built under British license in United States. (AP Wirephoto)

Jobless Rate May Be On Rise Again

By ADVANCE NEWS SERVICE

WASHINGTON — Government economic forecasters have taken a hard look at the job situation shaping up for 1965, and they are not happy at what they see.

Their projections indicate that, unless the trend of business activity confounds all expectations, unemployment will be moving upward before next year is over. It's entirely possible that the increase in the jobless rolls will prove quite substantial.

The Johnson administration is acutely aware of this possibility. As the president noted earlier this week, "unemployment is still far too high." He has been hoping that the present jobless rate of 5.2 per cent of the labor force can actually be cut well below 5 per cent in 1965.

Virtually all forecasts see further economic growth next year. But the gains won't quite match those of 1964. Meanwhile the number of new workers will be rising faster.

This year, the big Kennedy-Johnson tax cut helped lift total output of goods and services about 40 billion dollars over 1963, a jump of 4½ per cent after allowing for price changes. This growth created 1¼ million new jobs over the last 12 months. That was enough to absorb the million-man increase in the labor force and still cut 240,000 from the ranks of the unemployed.

Next year, the number of persons entering the labor force will rise to 1.4 million as the huge World War II baby crops come of working age. But national output is expected to rise only 3 per cent to 3½ per cent—and, in the process, to create less than a million new jobs.

Indeed, the gap between new jobs and new workers may be greater than the half-million indicated. The growing trend to automation will displace many thousands who will have to re-enter the employment market.

Weighing all these trends, manpower experts conclude that the economy would have to soar upward at the boomy 1964 rate just to keep unemployment from rising. To trim the number of jobless would require a faster rate — something economists consider unsustainable for all but very short periods.

The President will be pushing his war on poverty to take young people off the jobless rolls while they are being retrained. He hopes, too, that the excise tax cuts he is proposing will provide some new stimulation. And he'll be pushing his advisers for new schemes to crack the problem.

But so far, in the economists' view, all these add up to only a more moderate rise. A year from new, unemployment seems likely to be up again to the 5.6 per cent of the labor force that prevailed 12 months ago — wiping out the hard-won gains of 1964. If the moderates prove over-optimistic, as some forecasters claim, a rate approaching 6 per cent would not be out of the question.

New Yacht Service Opens At Side Of San Rafael Canal

A new business, Canal Yacht Service, has been opened at 345 Francisco Boulevard, San Rafael, where Marin Boat House used to be.

The concern specializes in complete yacht maintenance, boat and engine repairs and indoor storage. A mechanic is on hand and there is a launching ramp there.

ARGENTO

It is operated by former restaurateur Dick Argento who last had the Ranch House in San Anselmo. Boat sales are planned and displays will be shown soon.

NEW OWNERS of the Novato Garden Center are Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Hendricks and Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Sales — all of Novato. They have taken over from Joseph D'Amato.

Mrs. Hendricks will manage the business. Her husband and Hales both work at the Presidio in San Francisco. Mrs. Hales is with the Novato Unified School District.

The name remain the same and the center will continue along the same lines as before. It will include a small gift shop featuring ceramics and handle inside and outside plants as well as garden and lawn equipment and supplies.

REFINISHED and reopened for business is Atlan-Soubeyran, the photographic and art studios of Pierre Atlan and Gerald Soubeyran at 1414 Fourth Street, San Rafael.

Souubeyran's own paintings are featured here — scenes of Paris, and many of San Francisco. He also does portraits of children. Atlan is the photographic expert, formerly was associated with the French motion picture industry.

Display attractions right now are a cardboard and plaster medieval castle complete with drawbridge and in every detail, and a live Santa Claus who gives out candy to the youngsters.

The studio is open daily from 10 a.m. to 9 p.m., including Sundays.

GEORGE T. LAWRENCE, manager of the Lachman Bros. San Rafael store, notes that his firm has been awarded the 1963-64 Posturepedic Gold Achievement Award by Sealy Posturepedic Mattresses for being one of the top 10 in the country in sales.

MRS. BETTIE J. NEW ADDITION to the staff of Fox and Carskadon's downtown San Rafael real estate office is Chapin Coit, former manager of the commercial leasing department of the Draper Companies, and a member of the San Francisco Real Estate Board. He and his family are planning to relocate in Marin.

THE NORTHERN CALIFORNIA Pharmaceutical Assn. reports that three San Rafael pharmacists have been accepted for membership — Clif F. Clark, Charles N. Mitchell and Mary Ann Sandlund.

A SALES MANAGEMENT conference sponsored by the Sales and Marketing Executives Assn. of San Francisco will be held tomorrow at the St. Francis Hotel. All interested salesmen and executives may attend by registering with the association. The conference deals with the use of the computer in assisting sales and marketing problems.

One of its features is a hand-automated set of word-forming dials with different calibrations that alternate vowels and consonants, such as Kodak, Talon and Rinso.

Litton Reveals Planner Merger, Stock Proposal

NEW YORK — Roy L. Ash, president of Litton Industries, Inc., and Austin Goodyear, president of Hewitt-Robins, Inc., announced that the two companies have agreed on a proposal to merge Hewitt-Robins into Litton.

Ash and Goodyear also announced that the two companies would conduct a joint research and development program based on the complementary nature of the materials handling and processing systems of Hewitt-Robins and the digital computing and control capabilities of Litton.

Goodyear again strongly urged that shareholders not accept the $32.50 tender offer made by David Brown /Parent/, Ltd., until the shareholders receive Hewitt-Robins proxy statements with respect to the proposed merger and have given it their fulll consideration.

He emphasized that a statutory merger is a tax free transaction, while a sale of stock involved in acceptance of a tender offer is a taxable transaction.

Golden Gateway Strives To Firm Up Financial Deal

SAN FRANCISCO — Golden Gateway Center today expressed confidence it can let contracts for construction of the 25-story Alcoa Building by Dec. 23 if team effort prevails in final legal documentation of financing, the basic terms of which have been approved.

Leon E. Hickman, executive vice president of Aluminum Co. of America, told a news conference this morning all documents must be completed and ready for final approval by the board of supervisors early in December to stay within the garage and office building construction contracts. Alcoa is one of the general partners of Golden Gateway Center.

"Due to general increases in wage structures and certain increases in material costs, we believe Dec. 23 to be a firm deadline beyond which we are unable to assure ourselves that the building will be economically feasible," noted Hickman.

Drake Celebrates Championship Grid Victory

7,400 See Rally Rip Terra Linda

By RALPH CHATOIAN

Marin Athletic League football for 1964 is all history today, but they're still rejoicing at Drake High School in San Anselmo.

The Drake Pirates won the legaue championship with an awsome display of second half power against the scrappy Trojans of Terra Linda High School Saturday in Kentfield. Final score was Drake 35, Terra Linda 18.

Both teams went in to the game with 8-0 season records. Terra Linda completely dominated the first half and came off the field at intermission with an 18-7 lead. But in the second half, the Pirates blasted through the Trojan defense for four touchdowns and held T.L. scoreless as the estimated 7,400 fans were treated to one of the best shows in Marin Athletic League history.

Terra Linda scored twice before Drake ever made it to the scoreboard. First tally was in the first quarter after a Trojan drive of 95 yards in 10 plays, helped out by a 15-yard penalty against Drake. Tim Garvin scored the touchdown on a sweep around left end from the four with 6:35 left in the period. A pass from quarterback Gary Lieberman to end Bill Hall fell incomplete on the try for extra point.

Key play in the drive was a 29-yard scamper by halfback John Clifford. He moved the ball from his own 25-yard line to the Drake 44. But on the tackle, one of the Pirate defenders was caught pulling on Clifford's face mask, the 15-yard penalty advancing the ball to Drake's 29. Five plays later, on a four down play, Garvin swept into the end zone.

Frazzini Crashes Over For TD

Then in the second quarter, Terra Linda put together another drive of 40 yards for a score. The drive almost bogged down on the Pirates' 37, but Lieberman hit Garvin with a 19-yard pass on a fourth-and-7 play. On the next play, halfback Garvin cracked left tackle for two yards, but another "face mask" penalty against Drake moved the ball to the 8. Fullback Steve Frazzini hit at left guard for four yards to the four, and on the next play Frazzini again crashed through left guard behind the block of Norm Trondson for the remaining four yards to pay dirt with Drake defensive halfback Larry Stein holding on to one of the 180-pound fullback's legs.

On the extra point attempt, Lieberman hit end John Forry with a pass, but the play was nullified because of illegal procedure called on the Trojans. Lieberman tried to pass again for the PAT but Drake's defensive end Brian Palmer and tackle Lee Jamison swarmed the quarterback before he had a chance to throw. But the Trojans of Terra Linda had notched up a 12-0 lead against Drake.

Drake, always with that threat of scoring with a bomb, exploded its first detonation about a minute later. It was a pass play from Drake QB Al Simontacchi to speedy halfback Dean Lazzarini that covered 43 yards. It was a short swing pass on the left side that Lazzarini hauled in on the 29. From there he outraced the Terra Linda secondary to the end zone. Joe DeMasi added the extra point on a shot through the middle.

62-Yard Bomb Scores For T.L.

Terra Linda exploded a bomb of its own later in the second quarter, with only 45 seconds left in the half. It boomed right after Forry, a back on defense for Terra Linda, intercepted a Simontacchi pass on the Trojans' 38-yard line. On the first play after that interception, Lieberman threw a strike to Garvin on the midfield stripe. The 165-pound halfback caught the ball and cut in between Drake safety man Mike Miller and linebacker Joseph Wardell and raced the rest of the way to the end zone. It was a 62-yard play.

Lieberman tried to pass for the PAT but the ball was batted down by linebacker Bruce Trimble.

And that's how it was in the first half as Terra Linda completely dominated the game. The Trojans' offense rolled along like a machine, picking up 213 yards to only 74 for Drake. Many fans were ready at that time to nail the lid on the Pirates' coffin. But then came the second half and the game was completely reversed.

It started on the first play from scrimmage in the third quarter after Drake received the kickoff to start the second half.

A Galling, Disheartening Setback For Poor 49ers

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Just when it appeared they were going to win their second straight game — something they haven't done in two years — the San Francisco 49ers discovered a new way to lose one.

In what must rank as their most disheartening defeat of the season, the 49ers lost a 23-21 decision to the Chicago Bears yesterday and thus dropped into sole occupancy of the National Football League's western division cellar.

The defeat was particularly galling because the 49ers:

— Got inspired running from Dave Kopay, a free agent no one expected even to make the team.

— And had Tommy Davis kick a 49-yard field goal that would have provided the winning margin, only to see the kick disallowed.

Davis' field goal came in the waning seconds of the first half, after San Francisco had rallied to cut Chicago's early 14-0 lead to three points at 17-14.

With time running out, the 49er field goal unit rushed on the field and Davis booted a long, low line drive. The ball squeezed over the cross bar as the gun sounded and the 49ers headed happily for the dressing room with what appeared to be a 17-17 tie.

The resulting penalty nullified the kick and, despite Coach Jack Christiansen's protests, the officials ruled time had run out and San Francisco couldn't try another kick.

Actor Roger Leclerc booted his second of three field goals to give the Bears a 20-14 third quarter lead, the 49ers launched a 7-6yard scoring march climaxed b Brodie's 10-yard peg to Bernie Casey.

George Mira, starting quarterback for San Francisco, fumbled on his own 13-yard line on the third play of the game to set up the first Bear touchdown. Rudy Bukich tossed to Rick Casares for the score.

Jon Arnett rambled 10 yards with a Bukich swing pass for the second Chicago touchdown, but San Francisco roared back to score after Abe Woodson returned a kickoff 70 yards deep into Bears territory. The payoff came on Mike Lind's one - yard plunge set up by three Kopay runs.

The second 49er touchdown came at the end of a 94-yard drive with Brodie passing 10 yards to Dave Parks for the tally.

Mira suffered a shoulder injury on the play on which he fumbled. He played no more but said after the game the injury was not serious.

Marin Mafia Strikes Again! Pirates Dine, Trojans Whine

Saturday's prep football championship game, which, by the way was the best we've seen in recent years, reminded me of a neighborhood scuffle between a smart-alecky, little new kid on the block against the big neighborhood tough.

Terra Linda, the Marin League's youngest school, came out early and smote the big Pirates a terrific punch in the kisser, showing nothing but contempt. But the big guy shook it off and proceeded to push the new kid all over the place. If the fight had gone on any longer I'm afraid it would have been homicide.

It was like watching two different football games, each 24 minutes in duration. Terra Linda won the opener, 18-7 and Drake took the nightcap—28-0. Put them all together and they add up to a mighty championship for the Pirates.

Halftime intermission was the turning point of the game. While Coach Pete Limm's T. L. Trojans apparently rested on their laurels, Bob Franceschini must have fed his Pirates a feast of meat balls and spaghetti. The way DeMasi, Lazzarini, Simontacchi and their Junior Marin Mafia came back in the second half to dominate the action it looked like an Italian track meet. But in the end it was Terra Linda that was whining.

John Boothby was a Drake hero near game's end, scoring two touchdowns, thereby applying an added dash of parmesan cheese to the Maffia's spaghetti feed and earning a bold face "i" to replace the "y" at the end of his name. Gionboothbi, he's known as around the Drake campus today.

THE ATTENDANCE, estimated at 7,400, fell about 2,000 or more short of the Marin prep game record set Thanksgiving morning, 1962, when undefeated Tam and Drake played for the title and the drumstick. Redwood won, by the way.

It's very difficult to estimate crowds. That was part of my job Saturday and I had an awful time. I got up to six thousand, eight hundred and four, six thousand eight hundred and five . . . and just then a pretty girl walked by.

One, two, three, four . . .

CROWD CONTROL was the best we've ever seen at Kentfield for a mob this size. Terra Linda, the home team, did a magnificent job in that respect. Where in the past the crowds spilled out of the stands and jammed two and three deep along the sidelines, Saturday's SRO throng was kept far back of the playing field and standees for the most part were kept in back of the end zones.

For a game of this magnitude, the crowd behavior was near perfect. Only twice did we see signs of trouble abrewin' and in each instance school officials smothered it before it started.

Battle Cry At Stanford: Wait Until Next Season!

BEKELEY (UPI)—Stanford isn't going to the Rose Bowl, but that old battle cry, "Wait until next year," is ringing on the Indian campus today.

The reason prospects look so bright is a lad named Dave Lewis, a sophomore quarterback who kicked, passed and ran Stanford to a 21-3 decision over California in the 67th renewal of the "Big Game" on Saturday before 77,000 fans.

It was Lewis, an Indian from a tribe so long forgotten that neither he nor his parents know how to spell its name, stands 6-2 and weighs 200 pounds. He got his first call as a starter two weeks ago and piloted Stanford to an upset 16-7 win over Oregon State—the team that probably will go to the Rose Bowl.

Lewis may be the best all-purpose quarterback at Stanford since the Rose Bowl days of Coach Clark Shaughnessy and Frankie Albert. He does everything.

But it was over-all balance during the second half that lifted the Indians from a 0-3 deficit to victory. During the triumphal march, here is what Lewis accomplished:

—Completed five out of eight passes for 92 yards and one touchdown.

—Carried the ball 13 times for 28 yards gained.

—Averaged better than 47 yards on his punts — including one record-smasher that went 75 yards and rolled dead on the Cal one-yard stripe.

—Passed for one touchdown, set up another with a pass, and ran 11 yards for one score.

—Did an outstanding job of blocking for other runners.

"It was a tremendous effort," said Coach John Ralston. "But he got a lot of help. The turning point was that great catch by end Mike Connelly."

With Stanford trailing 0-3 in the third quarter, Lewis unleashed a 46-yard pass to Connelly. The end, going at full speed, caught the ball over his shoulder on the Cal four. From there fullback Ray Handley scored easily.

The "tackle eligible" play was responsible for the next two scores. Fergus Flanagan, a regular interior lineman, caught a 16-yard pass to set up the 11-yard Lewis touchdown run for the second score by Stanford. And Flanagan, on the same play, caught the 11-yard touchdown pass from Lewis that salted the game away.

The lone Cal points came in the first period on a 29-yard field goal by Tom Blanchfield.

"I'm utterly disappointed with this game and the whole season. The thing wrong today is the same as the past six or seven years at Cal. We lack maturity. We have a staff and players who have been together several years."

The future for Stanford looks bright because so many stars of the big game were only sophomores or juniors. Connelly, who caught the "turning point" pass was a junior. Flanagan, the "tackle eligible" man is a junior. John Guillory, a defensive halfback who intercepted two of Craig Morton's passes, is only a sophomore. Ray Handley, the rushing leader for the Pacific Athletic Conference, is a junior.

The victory was the 29th against 28 losses for the Indians in the 67-game series, with 10 ties.

Lost in the brilliance of the Stanford performers, was the great Morton. Craig completed 20 out of 36 passes for 247 yards. But when the chips were down he just couldn't get the ball across the goal line.

Colts Champions; Brownies Stalled

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Baltimore Colts are planning a retirement party for Gino Marchetti that promises to be more exciting than the one they gave him when he retired last year.

The prize defensive end helped prepare for the festivities yesterday as the Colts whipped Los Angeles 24-7 and clinched first place in the National Football League's Western Conference.

The victory, their 10th straight since losing the season opener to Minnesota, brought the Colts their first conference title since 1958 and 1959 when they also won the league championship.

Immediately after the game, Marchetti announced this was his last season. But retiring is nothing new to the 37-year-old veteran of 13 years in the NFL. He quit after last season, only to be convinced to return for another year.

Even though his bones might not appreciate his decision, Marchetti himself must. Instead of going out on a third-place team that won eight games and lost six, he will retire — if he actually does — after a championship game.

The Colts most likely will play the Cleveland Browns, who lost to Green Bay 28-21 yesterday but still hold a 1½ game lead over St. Louis in the East with three games to play.

Marchetti led a Colt blitz that constantly kept the Los Angeles quarterbacks on their backs. Roman Gabriel was dumped six times for 56 yards in losses and Bill Munson five times for 46 yards, a total of 102.

METS BUY SPAHN

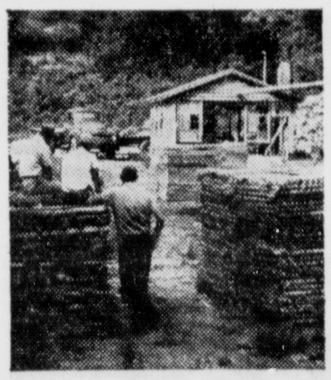
NEW YORK (AP)—The New York Mets purchased pitcher Warren Spahn from the Milwaukee Braves today.

IF YOU LIKE STORIES ABOUT THE OLD DAYS, all you have to do is sit around Jack Daniel's sawmill at breaktime.



One of the stories you're bound to hear is about how Jack Daniel first made the charcoal he used to smooth out his sippin' whiskey. He sawed up the hard maple, ricked it, and burned it right up in the woods. Then later he built a sawmill in the Hollow and did it all here, the way we do now. And the charcoal that results is exactly the same. You can count on our old-timers to make sure of that.

Coaches Review Turning Points In Prep Thriller

Drake Adjusted Its Defense, Then—Wham

By MAURICE WEINGER

"Our team played its greatest game of the year," said winning coach Bob Franceschini of Drake after his Pirates had defeated Terra Linda, 35-18, Saturday at Kentfield.

The Drake mentor, who led the Pirates to nine straight wins and the MCAL title, felt "the team reached its peak especially in the second half" when Drake came from a 7-18 halftime deficit to completely outman the lighter Trojans.

Asked to explain the complete reversal of form that stopped Terra Linda cold and contributed to the team's win, Franceschini commented, "We adjusted our defense during our halftime talk and whenever they (Terra Linda) put a flanked to one side, we told the linebacker on the opposite side to rush their quarterback (Gary Lieberman).

"We just weren't rushing that Lieberman during the first half and he was completing all those passes. We started to pressure him by putting on the big rush. It was a gamble as we gave them the running game, but we won."

Franceschini, who has been the head coach at Drake since 1958, felt "this team is the greatest I've coached. I feel success is how a team can come back in the second half when it's down. This club has been a second half team all season. You'll remember we were behind against Petaluma at the half and won and were just leading Manteca at the half before we exploded for the win.

BEST COMBO

"I've seen greater running teams, and I've seen greater passing teams, but this team's combination of passing and running is the best out."

The Drake linebackers, Jerry Feickert, a three year letterman, and Bruce Trimble, got extra praise from both Franceschini and assistant coach Carl "Red" Brown.

Brown added that the linebackers really put on the rush in the second half. "During the first half Terra Linda was two timing our middle guard (Bill Hickerson). We told our linebackers to take up the slack and they did a fine job."

The coach added: "Feickert not only twisted an ankle near the end of the first half, but got a couple of teeth loose and also got a split lip. He insisted on playing."

FIELD GOOD

Franceschini was asked to comment on the condition of the field which was the big factor in postponing the game from the previous week. Bob said, "The field helped us tremendously. It was a fast track and this helped our speed. We're not a bunch of mudders. You remember that we lost on a wet field last year to San Rafael (24-0 in the 1963 championship game—Drake still tied with San Rafael, both with 5-1 league marks) and barely got by San Rafael this year on a sloppy field."

"One last thing," said Franceschini. "A head coach is only as good as his assistants and I have a great group of dedicated men working with me," said Bob about the rest of the Pirate staff that consists of Brown, Mahlon Conley, Morrie Shephard and Gordy Chan.

TWO KEY PLAYS

Terra Linda's head coach Pete Limm summed up the game by feeling that two key plays in the second half changed the complexion of the ball game. "What hurt us was (Dean) Lazzarini's long run on the opening play of the third quarter and then in the last quarter after we stopped Drake, we fumbled on the 50 when John Clifford lost the ball and they made a touchdown on the recovery."

"We might have been able to pull it out but that fumble really hurt us," said Limm.

While the head Trojan coach has not had time to view the game films, he did however single out Lieberman, Tim Garvin and Bill Hall as having played a fine game.

"Actually Garvin hurt himself in the first half and we didn't find out about it until after the game. It seemed that Tim's rib cage was injured in the opening minutes, but he played gamely on." It is reported that Garvin may have a possible cracked rib.

Even Franceschini felt Garvin played a fine game for the losers. Francescini said, "That Garvin did everything, run and catch the ball. He sure did the damage against us."

PRAISES DRAKE

Limm had high praise for Drake. "Any team that can come back from two touchdowns is a good team."

Also commenting on the Trojans' cause was assistant coach Don Lucas. His comments almost paralleled Limm's in most cases. He felt the fumble with the ensuing Pirate touchdown that made the score 28-18 in the last quarter was the turning point.

"That touchdown put us 10 points behind and it was too much to catch. That, plus losing our momentum during the second half, cost us the ball game," Lucas said.

The Trojans' plan against Drake worked fine during the first two quarters. "We knew we could throw on them and also felt we could run through their middle. Our boy Norm Trondson we felt could easily handle their big boy Hickerson," Lucas added.

Lucas praised the fine running of Drake fullback Joe DeMasi. "We just couldn't stop him. Even when Lazzarini went out of there and we keyed on him (DeMasi) he still got yards on us. He sure did one hell of a job during the second half."

Drake Rips Terra Linda In Second Half Power Display

Lazzarini took a handoff and started around right end. The right side of the Pirates' line, like one huge body, rolled the Terra Linda defense on its back as Lazzarini sped by without a hand being laid on him. Even quarterback Simontacchi and fullback DeMasi got into the blocking act. The last man to have a chance at Lazzarini was Rick Edwards who was in pursuit. It is doubtful that Edwards, the Marin 440 champ, could have caught Lazz, 100-yard dash champ, but just to make sure, Drake's other speedster, Stein, laid a beautiful block on Edwards on the 15 as Lazzarini finished off his 67-yard TD run. John Bootby, the right half, added the extra point on a run through left tackle.

73-YARD GALLOP

After Terra Linda was unable to move the ball on the ensuing kickoff, Doug Barker punted and Drake took over on its 27-yard line. Lazzarini took the handoff on the Pirates' first play and this time went around left end, getting terrific blocking from the left side of his line. It was a gallop of 73 yards for an apparent touchdown, but a clipping penalty on the T.L. 30 moved the ball back to the 45.

But it would take more than that to stop Drake, now rolling in high gear. Six rushing plays plus two Trojan penalties for 29 yards, and the Pirates had their touchdown anyway. It was DeMasi's turn this time as the 232-pound fullback smacked through right guard from seven yards out with the touchdown that put the Buccaneers out in front for the first time in the game. DeMasi got the call again for the extra point and blasted through the left side of the Terra Linda defensive line. Right guard Ed Farina and right tackle Richard Cohen were the bruisers who opened up the holes for DeMasi on both the TD and extra point runs. Drake now had a 21-18 lead.

FINAL QUARTER

In the final quarter, Terra Linda held back a Drake drive, only to fumble the ball away on its first play. Clifford was the one who bobbled the ball. Drake's Mike Miller fell on the ball, but it squirted away with teammate Jerry Feickert finally corralling it on the Drake 49.

The Pirates drove to the 29 where they were faced with a fourth down, needing four yards for a first-and-ten. Drake got more than that. Boothby, from his flanker spot, went down on a pass play, faked to his left and picoted to the right. Cimontacchi made a perfect throw and the Pirates had another touchdown, this time a 29-yard pass play. Again, DeMasi powered his way through the line for the PAT.

Boothby must have liked the feel of that touchdown, for he made another one seven plays later, this time on defense. He intercepted a Lieberman pass and raced 52 yards for the touchdown. Just as the Terra Linda signal caller was throwing the ball, he was hit by tackle Steve Schafer. That caused the ball to go short, where Boothby picked it off. When DeMasi cracked through the line for the PAT, it made the score 35-18 and completed the second half rout. When the game ended, Drake had all fresh white uniformed chargers in the game as head coach Bob Franceschini tried to empty his bench.

GREAT DAY

Lieberman had a great day in the passing department, completing 13 of 23 passes for 165 yards. But in those last two minutes of the game, three of his tosses were picked off for interceptions, one of them costing six points.

Drake beat Terra Linda on all counts in that second half. Most important was in scoring, 28-0. But an indication of what happened is evident in the statistics that showed the Pirates soundly thrashed the Trojans in yardage, 199 to 18 in that second half.

For the whole game, Drake was on top of Terra Linda in yardage, 273 to 231, but the Trojans out-first downed the winners, 13-7. And most interesting is that Terra Linda ran off a total of 61 plays to only 40 for Drake.

Lazzarini wound up with 125 yards in 12 carries for a 10.4 average and DeMasi had 76 yards and a 4.5 average. Simontacchi completed four of seven passes for 81 yards and two touchdowns.

Oregon St., Troy Players Honored

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A bulky linebacker and a swift halfback who led their teams to the co-championship of the Pacific Athletic Conference are the loop's top players of the week.

Jack (Mad Dog) O'Billovich, whose slashing play is nearly as colorful as his nickname, was outstanding defensively in Oregon's dramatic 7-6 victory over Oregon. He was named lineman of the week.

Mike Garrett, a 5-9 speedster with good power for his 185 pounds, earned back-of-the-week honors by picking up 180 yards in 28 carries as Southern California bombed UCLA 34-13.

O'Billovich played a starring role in the Oregon State defense which tossed Oregon quarterback Bob Berry for 63 yards in losses as he attempted to pass. The 207-pounder also made key tackles all over the field.

Both O'Billovich and Garrett can try for more honors next year. Both are juniors.

Ranked behind Typee were Psyche, Red Head, Kialoa II, Audacious, Ichiban, Kai Tiki, Sirius II, Islander and Soliloquy.

South Beats North In Marin Warner Tilt

The South All-Stars crushed the North 26-12 yesterday in the annual Marin County Pop Warner Football League all-star game on a slippery College of Marin field in Kentfield.

Before about 600 fans, the South continually intercepted, powered up the middle and connected with short passes to run up a comfortable margin.

Pete Carroll, halfback from Redwood's team, scored three of the South touchdowns, having a really busy day. He scored one TD on a 7-yard run, and the other two on pass receptions, one for 35 yards and the other for 9 yards. Donnie Mackin of Tam's Junior Indians threw both passes. Carroll also scored an extra point on a pass from Mackin.

Ronnie Small, Tam fullback, scored the other South touchdown on an 8-yard run. The other extra point was scored by Robby Nelson, Tam end, on a pass from Mackin.

North, held scoreless through the first half, scored two touchdowns in the second half, both on break-away plays. In the third quarter Gary Trono, defensive back from Terra Linda, intercepted a pass and returned the ball 40 yards for a touchdown. In the final stanza, Don Penales, halfback from San Rafael, broke free for a 77-yard touchdown scamper.

Rains from Saturday night made the field muddy for the youngsters. Fullback Rebel Minutoli and guard Bruce Jenkinson, both from the Redwood team, were named the game's outstanding back and lineman respectively.

Chuck Vaughan, head grid coach at Marin Catholic High School, presented plaques to each boy.

MORE ON MARIN SPORTS TRAIL

Marin Stadium at 11 a.m., two and one half hours before kickoff time. At 12:30, auto traffic was backed up one mile. At 1 p.m. every seat was filled and arrivals thereafter had to stand.

ONE OF Marin's most ardent sports fans was there—Mervin "Bro" Phillips, a Santa Venetia insurance man and a paralytic for many years. Bro watched from his special bed in the back of a station wagon parked on the track in front of the Terra Linda bleachers. He was enjoying himself just as he was when I first met him at a ball game in 1946. Then, as now, he was flat on his back.

JOHN DISTEL, a Drake cheerleader, showed tons of courage at halftime. When the T.L. mascot Trojan swiped a Drake pennant and tossed it up into the T.L. stands, Distel raced through the crowd and literally dived into the stands to retrieve the flag to the cheers of his schoolmates. They were not in the least surprised at Distel's spunkiness. He's a fine athlete, a first baseman in baseball and, according to Director of Athletics George Corson, a model student in physical education classes.

He has only one arm.

CORSON and Bill O'Bayley, directors of athletics at Drake and T.L., respectively, met before the game to chat and the subject turned to the condition of the playing field. "Nice and firm," smiled O'Bayley. "Yes it is," replied Corson, "in fact it's so hard," he observed with tongue in cheek, "our team physician may decide to postpone the game for fear of injury to players."

This was a slap at Terra Linda officials who postponed the game from the previous Saturday because of muddy conditions. They said their team physician advised the postponement because an excessively muddy and slippery field is conducive to leg injuries.

THE GRIDIRON, which from overuse every fall resembles a potato patch more than a football field, provided good footing. It was still a bit sticky, but did not impede runners' footing.

THE WEATHER was excellent for football. Increasing cloudiness throughout the afternoon with mid-50s temperatures, just right to keep the crowd jumping.

The rain held off and didn't start to fall until some two hours after the final gun, prompting San Anselmo's Bob Alvarado to remark: "Even the man upstairs helped out."

THAT GOSH awful Kentfield scoreboard was down to its usual standards. In the fourth quarter the board read 0 to 0 and half of the game the clock worked in reverse.

DRAKE'S HELMETS bore the words, "Beat T.L." At the end of the game one Pirate's helmet was smeared so that only "Beat T.-" was visible.

SOUTHERN CAL OR OREGON STATE?

Await Vote On Coast Rose Bowl Bid

By DEREK SCHOEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Pacific Athletic Conference season is over, but the race for the Rose Bowl continues — at least one more day.

Representatives of the eight PAC schools will decide today whether they should make their Rose Bowl selection tomorrow, or wait until after Southern California plays top-ranked Notre Dame next Saturday.

Oregon State and Southern Cal tied for the loop championship Saturday with victories that kept their bowl hopes alive. Two other contenders — Oreg and UCLA—were their victims.

Only 54 seconds remained in the game when Oregon State scored the touchdown and extra point that gave the Beavers a 7-6 victory over Oregon. Then the Beavers held their collective breaths as a 44-yard field goal attempt by Oregon fell short at the final gun.

Booker Washington slashed 15 yards to the Oregon 1 to set up the tying touchdown, then plunged in for the score. Steve Clark's kick for the extra point gave the Beavers the victory.

Oregon quarterback Bob Berry, despite a rugged Beaver defense that dropped him for losses 13 times, kept the Webfoots in the game with his passing. His 52-yard toss to Corky Sullivan set up Oregon's only score, which came on a two-yard run by Dennis Keller.

The victory was Oregon State's eighth in 10 games overall.

Faced by the passing of Craig Fertig and the running of Mike Garrett, Southern California simply outgunned UCLA 34-13.

Fertig tossed touchdown passes of 31, 49 and 9 yards, while Garrett repeatedly kept Trojan drives alive by gobbling up vital yardage. He gained 180 yards in 28 carries, while Fertig's passes netted 124 yards.

The Trojans improved their overall record to 6-3, while UCLA dropped to 4-6 for the season.

Washington ran its conference record to 5-2 by whipping Washington State 14-0. It was the fourth straight victory for the Huskies after a poor start and gave them a 6-4 record overall.

All the scoring came in the second uaqrter, withh Jeff Jordan running four yards for one touchdown and Charlie Browning plunging one yard for the second.

But the big story was defense. The Huskies allowed the Cougars just seven yards rushing and 102 yards overall.

Nicklaus Nips Palmer By $81.13 For Money Honors

Had Brewer sunk the ball on the 18th green of the Oakbourne Country Club course in yesterday's final round of the $25,000 Cajun Classic, Palmer would have retained the money championship he had won the two previous years.

The putt cost Brewer $200. He'd have won $2,100 by finishing alone in second place, but he had to settle for a tie with Nicklaus, while Palmer finished third.

The showdown for top money honors of the year overshadowed the blazing triumph of Miller Barber, who won the Cajun Classic — his first official tour victory ever — by five strokes.

While the temperature hovered just above freezing and most players hovered just above par, and higher, Barber, a balding 33-year-old Louisiana native, fashioned a 68 and a 67 in the marathon windup yesterday.

"I'm speechless," said Barber, who refused to believe for a while that he had victory in his grasp. Nicklaus was still on the course.

Palmer rushed away as soon as Brewer finished putting and was in the air in his private plane winging directly over the Oakbourne clubhouse as Barber and Nicklaus picked up their checks.

"I sure wanted to win this one," said Nicklaus. "But this is one time I don't mind finishing in a tie for second."

Colts Celebrate Division Title

tossed fully clothed into the shower after the triumph. Among the others was owner Carroll Rosenbloom.

"Now I feel like I really belong," a dripping Rosenbloom beamed.

In other games, St. Louis crushed Philadelphia 38-13, Detroit tied Minnesota 23-23, Pittsburgh annihilated New York 44-17, Chicago edged San Francisco 23-21 and Washington trimmed Dallas 28-16.

Lenny Moore, who has scored touchdowns in more consecutive games than any other NFL player in history, put the Colts in front with an 18-yard scoring romp in the first quarter. It was the 14th straight game in which he has scored.

Johnny Unitas set up the touchdown with a 62-yard pass to John Mackey. Jerry Hill scored what proved to be the decisive touchdown on a 17-yard run in the third quarter. Los Angeles finally scored in the fourth quarter on Munson's 21-yard pass to Bucky Pope.

Green Bay used a fumble by Jimmy Brown to help hold Cleveland's magic number at two. Any number of Cleveland victories and St. Louis losses totaling two will give the Browns the eastern title.

Bart Starr scored the Packers' go-ahead touchdown on a four-yard dash shortly after Lionel Allridge fell on Brown's fumble at the Cleveland 22. Starr's 55-yard pass to Max McGee on a fourth-down-and-inches situation at the Packers' 44 set up the tying score 3½ minutes earlier.

Raiders Rally To Whip Jets, 35-26

OAKLAND (AP)—No sooner had the Oakland Raiders won their third American Football League game of the season than coach Al Davis was thinking about a possible fourth triumph.

"It's nice, it's nice," Davis said of his team's 35-20 trouncing of the New York Jets yesterday, "but I'm more worried about Denver next week."

If Davis' thoughts were elsewhere, those of the 15,589 partisan fans who witnessed yesterday's contest in Frank Youell field were not. They carried away a mental picture of another fine passing performance by Raider quarterback Cotton Davidson.

Davidson, enjoying one of his greatest afternoons, completed 20 of 25 passes for 358 yards and three touchdowns. Many of the completions were after Davidson was forced to fire on the run by an aggressive Jet defense.

New York jumped off to an early 10-0 lead on tackle LaVerne Torczon's 40-yard touchdown run with an intercepted pass and Jim Turner's 39-yard field goal.

Oakland struck back when Davidson connected with Clem Daniels on a 60-yard scoring play, but the Jets moved ahead 17-7 on Wood's nine-yard toss to Bake Turner.

A 10-yard Davidson to Billy Cannon scoring toss cut the margin once more, but the Jets took a 20-10 lead into the dressing room at halftime when Jim Turner booted a field goal from 14 yards out.

The first came on a one-yard plunge by Cannon, the second on a nine-yard pass from Davidson to Cannon and the third on a six-yard run by Davidson.

After the game, Davis predicted the Raiders would have a tougher time next Sunday in Denver. "The Broncos will be ready to pay us back for the 40-7 licking we handed them here earlier," he said.

Little Bird Turkey Rolls Stunning Dinner Addition

These adorable little bird "baby turkey" rolls are a stunning but simple addition to the Thanksgiving dinner. Made from frozen ready to bake bread, they are "quick as a wink" to make. The children will be intrigued with the process and want to make them for you. They'll be "busy little bees" making these baby birds as their contribution to the turkey dinner.

LITTLE BIRD ROLLS

Butter

Remove frozen loaf from bag and let soften at room temperature (about one hour). Cut loaf into quarters. Then cut each quarter into four pieces for a total of 16 pieces. Using the hands, roll each piece on a lightly floured board to form a thin rope about 10 inches long. Tie into a knot as for bow knots leaving the ends about 1" long. Taper one end to form a beak, and, using a kitchen shears, make a small cut for an eye. Place half of a raisin in the cut. Flatten the other end slightly and make three cuts to form the tail. Let rise on a greased cookie sheet in a warm place until doubled in size. Bake 375 Degrees F. about 15 minutes or until golden brown. Brush with butter, if desired. Yield: 16 rolls.

Afraid Of Baking? Try Apple Muffins

Who's afraid of baking?

According to our private survey, a good many young women admit that they're unpracticed at this art. At the donning of an apron, they'll cook France's Beef Bourguignon or America's Country Captain, but they wilt at the idea of making from scratch.

If you are timid about baking cakes, cookies, puddings, pies or pastry, our advice is to start your baking career by trying your hand at muffins. Muffin-making is foolproof—if you don't over-mix.

This muffin recipe produces such a pleasant and nutritious hot bread that even experienced cooks are likely to want to try it. Serve these muffins for breakfast, brunch, lunch, supper, snacks or what-have-you. But do serve them hot; if you bake them ahead, be sure to reheat them. And offer them with butter.

APPLE OATMEAL MUFFINS

1 cup sifted flour
3 teaspoons baking powder
¾ teaspoon salt
¼ cup firmly-packed light brown sugar
1 cup quick-cooking rolled oats
3 tablespoons butter or margarine, melted
1 egg
1 cup milk
12 thin unpared apple slices
1 tablespoon granulated sugar
¼ teaspoon cinnamon

Into a mixing bowl, sift together the flour, making powder and salt. Stir in the brown sugar and rolled oats. Add butter. In a small bowl, beat the egg enough to combine yolk and white; add milk and beat to combine; add to sifted ingredients and stir only until they are moistened. Fill buttered muffin cups two-thirds full. Place an apple slice on top of the batter in each cup; sprinkle with a mixture of the granulated sugar and cinnamon. Bake in a hot (400 degrees) oven for 20 to 25 minutes or until a cake tester inserted in the center comes out clean. If muffin cups are ⅓-cup size, recipe will make 12 muffins. Serve hot or reheat; pass butter.

Note: Do not overmix batter to prevent peaks and tunnels. Use a small ladle, if available, to pour batter into muffin cups to prevent overmixing.—(AP)

Good with Spinach

Layer slices of cooked smoked tongue and sauteed mushrooms in a baking dish and add a mushroom sauce—you can use slightly diluted canned mushroom soup if you like. Bake in a moderate oven until bubbly. Tastes good with buttered spinach.

Two Tantalizing Tea-Some Munchables—

For your afternoon enjoyment home economists have created two tantalyzing tea-some munchables—Tea Leaf Cookies and Tea Apple Pillows! That versatile ingredient — instant tea — gives both of these tasty tidbits their unusual character. Easy to prepare, they freeze well to keep on hand for serving at any luncheon, bridge party or late evening snack with hot cups of "brisk" tea.

TEA LEAF COOKIES

½ cup butter or margarine
½ cup granulated sugar
1 tablespoon water
2 tablespoons instant tea
1 egg
½ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon grated lemon rind
½ cup finely chopped walnuts
1½ cups all-purpose flour

1. In a small bowl, with mixer at medium speed, beat butter or margarine and sugar until creamy.

2. Stir water into instant tea; add to butter mixture with egg, salt, lemon rind and walnuts, beating until light and fluffy.

3. Blend in flour, then chill one hour. Shape into two rolls, each about 7 inches long and 1½ inches in diameter. Wrap in foil and chill at least two hours, or overnight.

4. Preheat oven to 375 degrees. Cut dough into ⅛-inch slices. Place slices on ungreased cookie sheets and shape each with two fingers tapering to a point to resemble a leaf; mark veins with blunt edge of table knife. Bake about 10 minutes, or until light brown. Makes about seven dozen.

TEA APPLE PILLOWS

⅔ cup butter or margarine
All-purpose flour
Water
3 tablespoons instant tea
2 teaspoons lemon juice
5 tablespoons granulated sugar
2 tablespoons brown sugar
⅛ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon nutmeg
3 cups finely diced peeled apples (about three medium)
½ cup sifted confectioner's sugar

1. Cut butter or margarine into two cups flour until mixture is like coarse corn meal. Toss flour mixture with about four tablespoons water to form ball.

2. Preheat oven to 425 degrees. In medium bowl, blend two tablespoons instant tea with lemon juice; add sugars, salt and nutmeg, blending well.

3. Divide dough into four parts. Roll each part on lightly floured surface to 8" by 8", trimming edges. Then cut into 4-inch squares.

4. Place a heaping tablespoon of apples and one teaspoon tea-sugar mixture on each square. Moisten edges with water and bring the four corners up to the center, pinching the sides well to seal. Continue the same procedure for remaining tarts.

5. Bake on cookie sheet 25 minutes or until top is golden. Combine confectioner's sugar, one tablespoon water and one tablespoon instant tea; use to glaze top of hot "pillows." Cool on racks. Generic term: Instant tea with freshed-brewed flavor.

Mandarin Cheese Filling Exotic Addition To Ham

Serve baked ham with mandarin cheese filling when you want an exotic, elegant, easy-to-prepare buffet main dish. It's hard to believe this ham is so simply prepared. In fact, to save last minute fixin', this ham may be prepared several hours before serving time, arranged on the serving tray and covered with clear plastic wrap and stored in the refrigerator until serving time.

The canned ham is heated and glazed with preserved ginger sirup or honey. After cooling, diagonal v-shaped slashes are made across the top of the ham and the slashes filled with mandarin cheese filling. Presto! It's finished as quickly as that.

Complete the menu with a tossed salad, hot rolls, coffee and a glamorous dessert —perhaps peaches flambe or angel food cake slices topped with whipped cream sweetened with crushed peppermint stick candy. An ideal menu for festive entertaining the year around.

HAM WITH MANDARIN CHEESE FILLING

1 canned (6 to 8 pound) ham
¼ cup preserved ginger sirup or strained honey
1 package (8 ounce) cream cheese, room temperature
1 tablespoon cream
¼ cup finely chopped drained preserved kumquats
¼ cup finely chopped preserved ginger

Brush ham surface two or three times for 30 minutes using sirup drained from preserved ginger or honey, as desired. Cool ham. Blend cream cheese and cream until smooth. Stir in kumquats and preserved ginger. Make 1-inch, deep v-shaped slashes in top of ham on the diagonal and 1 inch apart.

Fill slashes and garnish top with cheese mixture. Chill. Slice the thickness desired. Serve sliced ham with additional cheese filling, if desired. Yield: 25 to 30 slices, 10 to 15 servings.

Time For Goldwater Group Get Working For Party

Supporters of Sen Barry M. Goldwater, especially in California, are intensely dedicated to the philosophy of the Arizona conservative.

This was evident before the Nov. 3 election, and it is becoming even more clear after the big Republican debacle.

Although Goldwater suffered one of the biggest defeats in modern American political history, his followers in California and in Marin have not given up.

To the contrary, dedicated Goldwater supporters are already rallying "Goldwater conservatives" with an eye to "ultimate victory in 1966" for Republican candidates who share Senator Goldwater's philosophy.

A Larkspur businessman is heading a group which he calls "Republicans for Conservative Action," urging the formation of "26 Million Clubs."

The official Citizens for Goldwater-Miller, which operated throughout the campaign, has been disbanded.

The new drive, sparked by the Larkspur businessman, disclaims any connection with the former Citizens for Goldwater-Miller. It is apparently a drive to cement individuals who believe in the Goldwater philosophy behind a single banner with hopes of victory two years or four years hence.

But in this case, the insistence on pushing to the fore the name of a man who was rejected so decidedly by the majority of American voters will scarcely do the Republican Party any good.

If the post-election enthusiasm for Senator Goldwater were nationwide, it would be another matter. But political observers, who have checked the country after the election, report that the enthusiasm for Senator Goldwater is decidedly cool in the East.

Caspar W. Weinberger, former state chairman of the Republican Central Committee, observes that in the East, high Republican officials appear to be in full agreement that the GOP must alter its course drastically after its swing to the right following the Cow Palace convention.

"In the East, everyone is terriby aware of the 42 million votes for President Johnson," says Weinberger.

California appears to be one of the few areas where Goldwater backers are putting so much stock in the 26 million voters that the Arizonan received.

We believe the Goldwater supporters would be doing the Republican Party more good by yielding a bit to the more moderate elements of the party and working for a united front in 1966 and 1968.

Beloved By Coons And Men

If you like the slick, slurpy, sweet fruit of the persimmon tree, then you have something in common with Brother Raccoon. They are his heart's delight.

These orange, globular fruits are making their autumnal appearance in Marin markets. We also have a few trees, leaves fallen, yet loaded with persimmons, a rather strange sight, as though someone had hung orange Christmas baubles on a dormant tree.

If you have avoided persimmons, take the plunge now. All those men and raccoons can't be wrong. Just be sure they're soft and ripe—otherwise they'll have a slight bitter taste and draw up your mouth.

California Assembly Districts Prove To Be Interesting Study

By EDWIN S. CAPPS

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — "Assembly districts shall be as nearly equal in population as may be."

That is the language in Article IV, Section 6 of the State Constitution, dealing with apportionment of the 80 Assembly districts in the California Legislature.

IF THE LAXITY allowed in apportioning State Assembly districts can be allowed in the proposed reapportionment of the State Senate, perhaps the senators don't have as much to worry about as they fear. Of course, the apportionment of the Assembly has never been in question, other than the ruling of the U. S. Supreme Court that both houses of the state legislatures must be apportioned solely on the basis of population.

A look at the Assembly district populations would indicate, however, that if the U. S. Supreme Court ruling is to be carried out to the letter, it will require a reapportionment of the State Assembly, as well as the State Senate.

POPULATION FIGURES for each Assembly or congressional district, which are based on population, are not readily available, but the registered vote in the districts is available and should be fairly accurate as far as population is concerned.

The apportionment of Assembly districts, as drawn up by the 1961 Legislature, shows some interesting contrasts. Traditionally, reapportionment bills have been controlled by the party in power, to the advantage of the party in power, and 1961 was no exception.

At present, Assembly districts range from a low of 25,835 registered voters in Imperial County to a high of 186,237 voters in Orange County.

IN CONGRESS, the 5th District in San Francisco, held by a Democrat, has 139,490 voters, as compared to the 28th District in Los Angeles, held by a Republican, which has 366,182 voters.

The present setup in the State Senate, of course, presents even a wider variance in one instance, although the general pattern is even more regular than in Congress or the Assembly. The State Senate finds the 28th District—Alpine, Inyo and Mono counties—with 8,955 registered voters, while the Los Angeles County district has 3,137,194.

The Assembly reapportionment presents some interesting pictures. In Orange County, a Republican stronghold, the 463,003 voters registered for the Nov. 3 general election were represented by three Assembly districts. In San Francisco, a normally strong Democratic district, the 389,990 voters had five Assembly districts.

IN KERN COUNTY, there are a total of 126,485 registered voters but the county has two assemblymen — both Democrats.

There are 11 Assembly districts which have more than 126,000 votes for a single district. Interestingly, every one of the districts but one is a strong Republican district, which traditionally has elected Republican assemblymen. The exception is the Santa Barbara-San Luis Obispo district, the 36th, with 143,154 voters in which a Democrat scored an upset victory this month.

Let's Get On With Kentfield Plan

Editor, Independent-Journal:

WHY OH WHY, should Larkspur be so concerned with the Kentfield Master Plan, did they ask our, (Kentfield's) concern over the high rise skyscraper at Greenbrae? Do they ask us about their roads and where they are going to dump their traffic? We have waited and heard of this master plan for close to 30 years and it is still being shelved and pushed around. The Plan has been approved by the Kentfield Civic League, Kentfield Merchants Assn., the Planning Commission, the Planning Staff, the College and has had numerous public hearings both night and day and now we must wait for the new Supervisor Elect to voice his opinions. Surely if there had been any objections on his part, being a public spirited citizen, and keeping in time with the events happening in our (and his) wonderful community he would have voiced them by now.

This plan is the will of the majority and has had 30 years of planning under numerous Planning Directors, Planning Staffs and Boards of Supervisors, please let us not delay any longer, I am getting old and decrepit and before I pass on to that Vale in the sky over Tamalpais and that super community of Kentfield in the Kingdom of Heaven I would love to see my dream come true. Before we know it, we will have one City and County of Marin and then all of this work of 30 years will have gone to naught and we will have to start all over again. This is KENTFIELD'S PLAN not Larkspur's, Ross, San Rafael, or any other community. When their City Councils decide to do something they do not consult with us, though they all border on us they go ahead and do it. Now I know how they feel in West Berlin surrounded by all the Satellite Countries.

Let's get this show on the road and for once get it finished with or else secede from the Union. Use our Nuclear Weapons, (votes), incorporate and do it ourselves. Citizens of Kentfield, ARISE, be at the College of Marin the evening of January 21st, 196(5).

While we are at it let us here; there have been numerhave a Sheriffs sub-station We are a rapidly growing community and our Sheriff's force is spread thin, but before more drastic things happen in our community, Mr. Montanous and Mr. Kettenhoffen, get us a sub-station, let the Sheriff's Dept. have more men to control our parking problems with the College traffic by day and more thorough patrol of our streets and homes by night.

One Way To Snap Out Of Blues Is To Recall Memorable Times

NEW YORK (AP) — Everyone is subject at times to self-pity and nameless melancholy.

One way to snap yourself out of these attacks of the blues is to sit down and catalog past experiences that made life memorable for you in some way.

HERE IS ONE man's partial list of cherished moments:

The taste of honey and the first strawberry of spring. Sunlight on ice-encrusted trees, turning the woodland into a forest of flaming diamonds. The pride in childhood of working out a loose tooth all by yourself—and waking up the next morning and finding a dime under your pillow.

Hearing a cello played in an unseen room. Dandelions studding winter's last snow in yellow surprise. Getting a valentine in kindergarten from the only girl in the world. Listening to anything by Mozart. Climbing the Great Pyramid of Cheops at dawn and, on reaching the top, having the eerie feeling of being totally alone in a lifeless universe.

CHANTING WITH the katydids on a warm summer night. Sleeping under a blanket of stars in the Tunisian desert in wartime. Hearing the buzzsaw tenor scream of Gen. George S. Patton as he bawled out a sloppy sergeant. Being praised by your mother for dyeing the prettiest egg in the Easter basket.

Getting sick the first time your country cousin talked you into chewing tobacco — and swearing off forever. Feeling devilish the first time you smoked a Cubeb cigarette and managed to blow smoke out your nose. Sending away for a correspondence course in muscle building, and deciding that at those prices you'd get along with the muscles you had.

FALLING DESPERATELY in love with your sixth-grade teacher, and bringing her a dollar box of face powder for Christmas. Earning the money as a street corner newsboy for your first suit with long pants: Cost, $17.50. Going to the funeral of a schoolmate, the best boy in the class, and being haunted by his dead face for years afterward.

Opening a letter from the Internal Revenue Service and discovering, instead of a further claim, an unexpected check. Reading a slender volume of poems by Emily Dickinson, and feeling as if your soul had been struck by lightning.

THE HOMELY eloquence of Gen. Omar N. Bradley's kind smile. The wet flavor of that first dry martini. Cradling in your arms a dying pet dog poisoned by a hateful neighbor.

Gazing into your own eyes in the mirror as a child until your mind reeled with the mystery of your own identity —who were you, where did you come from, where was time carrying you?

TRY AND STOP ME

BENNETT CERF

A DARTMOUTH student decided to spend his vacation hitch-hiking all the way to California. In Cincinnati he aroused suspicion by registering at a motel and carrying only a large gas can. "Where's your luggage?" demanded the motel clerk. The student pried open the can and pulled therefrom a clean shirt, underwear, and a toothbrush. He explained that people seeing him trudge along the highway with a can figured him for a motorist without gas, and felt it safe to stop and give him a lift.

THE FATTEST singer in the history of the Metropolitan Opera House was the famous contralto, Ernestine Schuman-Heink. And how she loved to eat! One evening, her co-star Enrico Caruso, saw her prepare to devour a nine-pound steak. Exclaimed Caruso, "You're not going to eat that steak alone, are you?" "Certainly not," replied Schuman-Heink. "With some potatoes, noodles, and four steins of beer!"

MORE RIDICULOUS riddles:

1. Q. What's yellow, soft, and goes round and round?
A. A long-playing omelette.
2. Q. What's black and white and hides in a cave?
A. A zebra who owes money.
3. Q. What's white outside, green inside, and hops?
A. A frog sandwich.

Soviet Leaders Facing Many Woes After Khrushchev Ouster

BERLIN—Seen close up from this window on the Communist world, the effects of the fall of Nikita Khrushchev are even more far-reaching than at first apparent. They are:

1. Soviet influence is weakened everywhere in the Communist bloc.

2. The prospect of any real reconciliation with Red China remains slight, bordering on the unattainable.

3. The ability of the Kremlin to dominate the Communist regimes of Eastern Europe and the Communist parties of Western Europe is still declining.

4. The new Soviet leadership is a bureaucratic level of talent which will find it even harder than Khrushchev to run the country; it will be cautious, conservative, tough-minded on the small decisions but very likely unable to innovate on the big ones where innovation would be most needed.

WHAT ACUTE embarrassment for the new top men of the Kremlin that delegations from the once servile satellites in Eastern Europe and from the Communist parties in Western Europe travelled to Moscow to demand an explanation of what had happened and why, even to snooping around the capital to try to find Khrushchev and talk with him.

They have now come away shaking their heads, only half satisfied, determined to reduce their loyalty to Moscow to the lowest common denominator of self-survival.

Where is the Soviet Union going to benefit? Is it going to get a reconciliation with Red China on terms it can accept? The unanimous view of all the European Soviet experts I have talked with is no.

TRUE, THE Chinese had concentrated their attacks on Khrushchev personally, but they had not attacked him merely as an individual but as the highest official of the Soviet government and, even more, as the very embodiment of Soviet policy which they secretly and lately openly fought for 10 years.

Red China's Chou En-lai "graciously" consented to go to Moscow for the 47th anniversary celebration of the Bolshevik Revolution, but he came with bomb in hand, and made it clear that he would be glad to make up—on Chinese terms.

But is it really open to the new Soviet leaders to give in to the Chinese demands, to rekindle the flames of the cold war against the U. S. and the West—as Peking demands? Is it really open to them to promote revolutionary movements in Asia, Africa and India with all their power, to break with India, to close the iron curtain, to put the Soviet intelligentsia back into straitjackets, and to throttle the consumer goods industries in order to supply Red China with tremendous quantities of machinery—as Peking demands?

OBVIOUSLY, they could do all these things, but at what a price! The price would be to revert to nearly total Stalinism under which the Soviet economy stagnated, reducing the attractiveness of communism for other nations to below zero.

And would Red China be satisfied with much less? Would Peking accept minor concessions now that the overthrow of Khrushchev and the explosion of its first atomic bomb have boosted Chinese self-confidence to alarming proportions?

The answer on this side is no; there will probably be a moderating of the language of the rift, but no meaningful reconciliation.

THIS LEAVES the new Soviet leaders confronted with grave difficulties on four fronts: Red China burgeoning with confidence and recalcitrance, a fragmenting of Russian power in Eastern Europe, a loss of influence with the Communist parties in Western Europe, and—on top of them all — the haunting economic failures of Khrushchev at home.

Obviously, Mr. Brezhnev and Mr. Kosygin are going to be a little busy—if they last long enough.

INSIDE WASHINGTON

Labor Set To Make Demands Of Johnson

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — The meeting of the AFL-CIO Executive Council this week is aimed squarely at President Lyndon B. Johnson and the heavily Democratic new Congress that convenes in January.

The 29 top union chiefs, thoroughly convinced organized labor played a decisive role in the Democrats' landslide victory, are bent on collecting what they consider their "just rewards." For that purpose, they are getting together to agree on a bill of legislative and other particulars.

SLATED TO BE foremost among the laborites' demands are:

Appointment of the next secretary of labor from their ranks. The union leaders will not ask that Secretary Willard Wirtz be replaced. They are not opposed to him, and are not seeking his ouster. But when the former law partner of U.N. Ambassador Adlai Stevenson does depart, they want his successor to be a laborite.

An administration - backed bill to make good the Democratic platform plank promising repeal of Section 14b of the Taft-Hartley Act, which empowered the states to adopt right-to-work laws. Twenty now have such statutes, and renewed efforts will be made to enact them in others in legislatures meeting next year. The laborites want to block that and knock out existing right-to-work laws by killing Section 14b. They believe the chances are good this can be done if Johnson will throw his weight behind it.

INCREASE IN the $1.25-an-hour minimum wage scale. The union chiefs will propose $2, but don't expect to get it. Privately, at the most they aren't counting on more than $1.50.

Putting unemployment compensation standards on a federal basis. Presidents Dwight D. Eisenhower and John F. Kennedy recommended that, but got nowhere. President Johnson has told labor leaders he favors it and will press it in the new Congress. They want him to make good on that.

Also likely to be on the union chiefs list is a 35-hour week with double pay for overtime. But its prospects are dim. The president doesn't favor cutting the work week at this time.

He is more sympathetic to double pay after 40 hours, instead of time and a half.

JOSEPH KEENAN, executive secretary of the Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, is the most likely choice for labor secretary when Wirtz leaves.

Able, knowledgeable, quiet-mannered and popular, Keenan rates high with the president, and is the first preference of AFL-CIO President George Meany. During the recent campaign, when Johnson asked Meany to designate a labor leader to accompany him, he picked Keenan.

After the election, the president warmly thanked Meany for selecting Keenan, and highly lauded the latter.

AT LEAST ONE head of a foreign government will attend President Johnson's inaugural in January. Brazil's President Branco has been authorized by his Congress to leave the country to attend the Johnson ceremony. Brazil owes the U. S. hundreds of millions of dollars in loans, some of them in default, and is seeking still more urgently needed financial aid.

Interstate Commerce Commissioner Rupert Murphy, 55-year-old Georgian appointed by President Eisenhower, will not be reappointed when his term expires early next year. A lawyer and traffic authority, he will be replaced by a Negro —the first on the ICC. President Johnson is credited as planning to name a prominent Chicago Negro.

Lone Fireman Stands Up To City Hall In Mill Valley

IN THE BEGINNING and end we are "loners." In the middle we tend to go along with the crowd. But there are some independents.

Last week a lone fireman, Jim Vice, stood up in Mill Valley City Council chambers and said, "I speak on my own. I'm from a proud and honorable profession.

"I'm disappointed on the results (of an employees' appeal on a salary study). . . . I have yet to hear a reason which I think is valid. As a previous speaker said, 'You can't fight city hall.'" He continued, ". . . Good luck," and sat down alone in the back row.

RUBY CULLINAN with the Pullman-type cafe in Sausalito is another loner. She has a sign up in her window, "Absolutely no change. No. Ever."

This was so final we asked Ruby, "Whatsa matter with you?" She replied, "The Greyhound passengers whose stop is outside always ask for change. I'm tired of it."

"But, Ruby," we said, "don't those Greyhound riders buy your pies?"

"Never," she responded. "I'd just as soon they move across the street."

IN FRONT OF city hall we met Fred Turner. "You're hard to get ahold of," said Fred. "The other day a car went off the highway and I called. You were out. So was the Corte Madera man and I called San Rafael." What happened? we asked.

"I was all alone downstairs in my tub having a soak," said Fred. "My wife was upstairs and I heard this crash. I thought it was someone who'd come through the roof."

Drying off, he said, he went upstairs to find his wife telephoning the highway patrol and police. It seems a car had gone through the guard rail above their house above Hecht Avenue.

HANGING ON the brink, said Fred, was the car. Two men jumped out, one on either side. Then the car slid down a steep incline about 50 feet and got hung up on a bush. Pretty soon Art Boates came along, hitched it on and dragged it up.

"This is the third time this has happened there," said Fred, "but before the occupants went down with the car."

PORKY WAS OUT at Lucky Porky Delicatessen. Mrs. Porky said, Yes, the city had asked that some of their chairs be taken out as per ordinance. Then, a couple of days back, she said Mayor Jan Paul Dyk walked in with City Mgr. Charles A. Brown and there were no seats.

"Porky went upstairs and got the two chairs he'd put up there and brought them down for the mayor and Mr. Brown." Jack Van Meter, counter man, said, "I asked them if they wanted their own chairs with their names on them like at the city council."

TOMATOES WERE very large this year in Sausalito, according to Marie Souza. She said their two plants had hundreds of tomatoes, some given away to people as far as Belmont. The secret, according to Mrs. Souza's mother, Mrs. Rosa, is fertilizer. "Everything comes up lovely," she said.

In Mill Valley, Theresa Clivio is the coffee cake baker of Lovell Avenue and she has done it again. This time she baked a hot cake for the workers building the Canepa apartments across the street from her. It's her hobby, she said, and a good neighbor policy.

Woman Booked For Bad Checks

A former San Anselmo woman was returned to Marin County from Pomona Friday and booked at county jail on charges of having written $278 worth of bad checks.

Asst. Chief Sam Serio of the San Anselmo Police Department said Dorothy Mae Shed, 42, was arrested Tuesday in Pomona on a bench warrant issued Oct. 17.

Serio drove to Pomona and brought Mrs. Shed back, returning at 11 p.m. Friday.

Mrs. Shed told Serio she had written the overdrawn checks when she was unable to meet debts which piled up after she was unable to secure a permit to run a rest home on Foothill Road.

This Couple Brings Romance Back Into A Dull Marriage

WASHINGTON—One of the problems of being married and having young children is that much of the romance goes out of people's lives. A friend of mine has solved the problem. Every week he has an "affair" with his wife.

What he does is he kisses his wife goodbye in the morning and goes off to work. About noon he calls her up and whispers, "This is George. Is your husband home?"

"I've got to see you this afternoon," the husband says.

"Get one of the neighbors to take care of them. Tell them it's an emergency and you have to go into town."

"Do I dare?"

"PLEASE, DARLING, we don't have much time together."

"I'm frightened."

"I love you."

"I'll come. Where shall we meet?"

"Somewhere where no one will recognize us. I'll pick you up on the corner of F and 14th Street, at three o'clock."

THE WIFE arranges for the neighbors to take care of the children and gets dressed up in her prettiest suit. She then drives into town, parks two blocks away, and waits on the corner.

Her husand pulls up. She glances around fast and then hops in.

"I think I was seen, darling," she says nervously.

"Relax," the husband says comfortingly.

"Where are we going?" she asks.

"THERE'S A MOTEL just across the bridge. We'll check in there."

"But we have no luggage," she protests.

"I'll check in. You stay in the car and then we'll drive to the room."

After they get into the room she laughs.

"I didn't even bring a toothbrush."

"I THOUGHT about you all week," he says, kissing her.

"So did I," she replies. "I waited for this moment. I thought it would never come."

"I wanted to call you, but I was afraid he would answer the phone."

"He wouldn't stop watching television to answer the phone. Does your wife know about us?"

"SHE'S TOO busy taking care of the kids to know about anything. I told my secretary if she called to tell her I was out at a conference."

"How long can we go on like this?"

"If we'd only met each other before."

"I feel that way, too."

AT SIX O'CLOCK they check out of the motel and my friend drops his wife off at F and 14th. "Until next week, my darling," he says as he kisses her.

"It will seem like a year," she says tearfully.

She hops out of the car without turning back.

An hour later her husband arrives home. "Anything happen today?" he asks casually, as he pecks her on the cheek.

"The same dull routine. Anything happen with you?"

"No, just another crummy day," he yawns. They both smile inwardly and sit down to dinner.

ALMANAC

Today is Monday, Nov. 23, the 328th day of 1964 with 38 to follow.

The moon is approaching its last quarter. The morning stars are Venus, Mars and Jupiter. The evening stars are Jupiter and Saturn.

The 14th president, Franklin Pierce, was born on this day in 1804.

On this day in history:

In 1930, Henry Ford, an ardent supporter of prohibition, refused to permit his English workers to drink, even in their homes.

In 1954, the Chinese Communists said 11 U.S. airmen arrested during the Korean War and two civilians had been convicted of espionage.

Thought for the day: American humorist Will Rogers said: "Everything is funny as long as it is happening to somebody else."

TIME AND TIDE

Department of Commerce, United States Coast Geodetic Survey, Western District headquarters. Times and heights of tides at San Francisco (Golden Gate):

HOW TO PLAY

WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

You Can Count On Mistakes When Playing Game Of Bridge

Atlanta and Texas took all the prizes a few months ago in the finals of the National Mixed Team Championship.

The title went to Mrs. Margaret Wagar of Atlanta, Mrs. Emma Jean Hawes of Fort Worth, John Gerber of Houston, and Dr. John Fisher of Dallas. Only one-quarter of a point behind were Mrs. Bernadine Jenkins and Hampton Hume, both of Atlanta, Mary Philley of Houston, and Martin Cohn of Detroit. (The Northerner must have sneaked in when nobody was looking.)

Land on Top

Both teams had to count on mistakes to land at the top. Whether you're playing for marbles or for a national championship you have to make fewer mistakes than the opponents.

In this case South made a very harmless-looking misplay. It's the sort of thing you might do yourself on a bad night—and it might cost you a championship or a few marbles.

South ruffed the second round of hearts and led the queen of spades. When this was refused, South led a low trump from his hand and played dummy's king.

Fatal Error

It was a fatal error, for it landed South in trump trouble. East took the ace of spades and returned a heart to make South ruff again. This left South with the singleton jack of trumps.

If South drew trumps, East would get a heart trick when he got in with the ace of clubs. If South led clubs before drawing trumps, East would lead another heart to make South ruff with the jack.

First Trick

After winning the first trump trick, South must lead the jack of spades instead of a low spade. South can ruff the heart return, knock out the ace of clubs, and ruff another heart return with a low trump.

Then declarer enters dummy with a diamond to draw East's last trump with the king of spades.

When you know you'll have to ruff often, save enough small trumps for that purpose. Use your high trumps to draw trumps held by the opponents.

Daily Question

You hold:
♠ K 9 6 5
♥ 7 6 4 2
♦ Q 3 2
♣ J 3

What do you say?

Answer: Bid two spades.

The pass (made by the actual player) is too timid. When partner doubles one heart for a takeout he promises excellent support for spades (the unbid major) as well as a good hand.

BRITISH PRIME MINISTER'S wife Gladys Mary Wilson in the drawing room of her new home at number 10 Downing Street, London, as she received newsmen and showed them around the place. She explained how she is adjusting to life in the historic mansion that is the home and office of Britain's prime ministers. (AP Wirephoto)

Adjusting To Life At No. 10 Downing

LONDON (AP)—Gladys Wilson cooks breakfast for her husband and their son, washes the dishes and helps clean their apartment. But the wife of Britain's prime minister says: "I can't quite see myself hanging washing out from No. 10."

MRS. HAROLD WILSON, the new mistress of No. 10 Downing Street, had a group of reporters in for tea, showed them around the place and told how she is adjusting to life in the historic mansion that is the home and office of Britain's prime ministers.

The fair-haired, reserved Mrs. Wilson made headlines the other day by dismissing the cook at No. 10. She explained that she can handle the family's breakfast and "then there is nothing to do until the evening meal."

"I AM GOING to see how it goes and may review the position later," she said. "Formal entertaining is done by government hospitality, (catered, that is), but at the moment there is only myself for lunch to consider."

Mrs. Wilson is 48, the same age as the Prime Minister. She has a cleaning woman in for three hours in the morning. No. 10 now has a washing machine with a drier and a rack, so Mrs. Wilson doesn't have to hang the washing out.

The Wilsons moved to No. 10, after the Labor party's election victory Oct. 15, from the London suburb of Hampstead Garden.

Easy Steps To Holiday Pine Cones

Glittering mobile hanging pine cones will be a highlight of Christmas artistry when the Woman's Society of Christian Service holds its bazaar and family fun day on Dec. 4 in Turley Hall of the First Methodist Church in San Rafael.

The pine cones, which were an original creation of Mrs. Leo C. Vigars, are first sprayed with gold, silver or white paint and allowed to dry. Glue is then placed in the top of the cone to hold the bow. Then follows two 18-inch strips of ribbon which are pinned and glued in the center of the bow. The strips are glued together to give a dimensional effect. Final touch to the hanging mobile cones is to brush the tips with a mixture of one-half glue and water and brush on the glitter.

The bazaar to be held from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. will also feature other original Christmas gift items, decorations and homemade candies, plants and baked goods.

A buffet luncheon will be served at 11:30 a.m., and dinner will be served from 5:30 to 8 p.m.

Barbara Grinnell Recites Vows With Kenneth Jonker

Barbara Elaine Grinnell became the bride of Kenneth Webster Jonker of Sausalito at the Mill Valley Community Church on Saturday afternoon, the Rev. Benton Gaskell officiating.

The bride, whose parents are Mr. and Mrs. Harry Grinnell of Farmington, Mich., was given in marriage by her father. She wore a gown of ivory brocade with chapel length train.

Capt. David Scott of Dearborn, Mich., was best man, and the ushers were the bridegroom's nephew, David Evans of Belvedere, and Larry Thompson of San Francisco.

The bride was graduated from University of Michigan and is employed at San Francisco State College. Pvt. Tom Grinnell of Ft. Sill, Okla. is her brother.

The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Hartger Jonker of Grand Haven, Mich. and the late Mr. Jonker. He was graduated from Michigan State University and is employed in San Francisco. He is the brother of Mrs. Robert Evans of Belvedere, Alvin Jonkers and Mrs. Irving Stoner of Michigan.

Pleasing A Worldly Palate

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Housewives may someday find papaya from Formosa, truffles from Italy or angulas eels from Spain at the corner supermarket if an experiment underway here is successful.

One supermarket chain has opened its first international supermarket devoted to gourmet foods from 50 countries — the first international supermarket in the United States, the company believes.

From fish to cheese, wine to coffee, the shelves offer thousands of varieties of foreign delicacies and native specialties, along with the know-how to prepare them properly, company officials say.

The latter problem — how to tempt housewives to try foods they do not know how to cook—is solved by providing attendants and consultants in each department to explain how it's done, according to the store.

Among the special departments are cheeses and sausages, prime meat, fish and poultry, wine and liquor, specialty and foreign grocery, fruit and produce, bulk coffee, frozen foods and others.

Huge Greeting Card Variety Includes More Spectaculars

NEW YORK (UPI)—This year, Americans will send a record 3.5 billion Christmas cards.

Industry sources, making the estimate, say the total is expected to be from five to eight per cent higher than last year's.

The total is more than double the 1947 output. The 1964 total breaks down to 15 cards for every man, woman and child in the United States, says the group.

SENDERS HAVE SOME 56,000 designs from which to choose this year, including the devotional theme, international understanding and world peace motifs, says Steve Shannon, executive director of the Greeting Card Assn., which represents the bulk of the industry.

Shannon preferred not to put a dollar value on the cards to be sent this season.

But he said that 50 per cent of the greeting card total sold annually are for Christmas. Other seasonal cards account for 15 per cent of the total. And the non-seasonal, such as birthday and convalescent, account for 35 per cent.

It was in 1875 that a lithographer of Roxbury, Mass., Louis Prang, hesitantly introduced the first cards. They were an instant success—but the floral designs were far different from today's familiar holly and poinsettia.

Prang used spring-like roses, daisies, scarlet geraniums, and sprays of apple blossoms. By 1881, Prang was printing five million Christmas cards a year, said the association. But the lithographer abruptly discontinued cards in 1890 because of the competition from low-priced foreign imitations of his designs.

The modern era of greeting cards began about 1910, when many of today's firms were founded.

THE ASSOCIATION reported these trends in the new cards:

—Santa Claus has switched his style from "Jingle Bells" to up-beat tunes. On one card, Santa conducts a choir of cherubs billed as "Santa's Folk Singers." On another, he and a chorus of reindeer tune up for "Santa's Hootenanny, December 26." Other greetings show Saint Nick strumming the banjo.

—THERE IS A WIDER than ever choice of reverent greetings. The great religious paintings of such famous artists as Raphael, Michaelangelo, Murrillo and Van Dyck are reproduced on cards. And there are dozens of versions of Madonna and Child by modern artists. Symbols and scenes of the Christmas story also are depicted—the Dove of Peace, the Christmas Star, the Journey to Bethlehem, the Adoration of the Shepherds, the Three Wise Men.

—MORE CARDS THAT serve somewhere in between a regular greeting and a gift. The industry calls these "spectaculars." Typical is a mistletoe-decked card, shaped like a Christmas tree ornament, which turns out to be exactly that.

Style Outlook Is Pretty, Feminine

By GAY PAULEY

Clothes lovely to look at and flattering to wear abound in the spring collections of ready-to-wear from New York manufacturers who with only a few exceptions now have previewed their latest styles for the nation's store buyers and press.

FERDINANDO SARMI summed up the dominant trend in comments on his own collection — "It's the neat, pretty, fresh, uncontrived way of looking," he said. "All lightweight, soft and subtle in color and construction. Occasional crisp accents and cuts."

And what woman wouldn't look beguiling in some of the expensive Sarmi clothes—and others from Seventh Avenue manufacturers whose lines are within the average woman's budget. With all the chiffon, crepes and organzas on the scene, spring 1965 promises to be one of the best-dressed ever.

Add too the contributions of wider, often swirling skirts in suits and dresses for day as well as in evening wear; the ruffles and flounces; and the flattering whites, off-whites and pastels in all collections.

SOME OBSERVERS argue that the shortest skirts since the flapper era—in some collections they're two and three inches above the knees—are not flattering. Sarmi, for instance, asked, "Why show the part where a woman's leg is the ugliest."

Those short skirts look great, however, on the young models and would with any other female with a pair of Dietrich-like legs. But not all is above the knee in this, the nation's number one garment center. Sarmi's day hems covered the knee. So did hemlines with the firms of Pauline Trigere, Mollie Parnis, Jo Copeland of Pattullo, Adele Simpson, Jane Derby, and others. They were higher than last season however at Christian Dior—New York, Tiffeau and Busch, Oleg Cassini, Maurice Rentner, and Monte Sano and Pruzan.

SARMI'S COLLECTION showed some of the best examples of the flattery of chiffon. A whole group of floor length formals were made of watery silk chiffon prints topped with dyed feathers, layered to shape the bodice.

It will be a big print season, come spring. Every major designer in New York uses prints, some of them printed surahs; some printed chiffons over printed silks; some in muted, soft tones; others, bold splashes of reds on blacks or abstracts of black and white.

A softer look showed also in coats and suit fabrics, with the spongy and bulky wools playing second string to the smoother gabardines and twills.

THESE OTHER trends emerged as the show drew to an end:

—Gains for a new length for evening, something called the demi-longueur. This ranged anywhere from just above the ankles on up to mid-calf, depending on the designer.

—GAINS FOR a return to the natural waistline with numerous dresses belted, competing however with the continuance of the no-belt shift. Suits came with crushed leather belts all around, or loose backs and half-belts at the front.

—CONTINUED POPULARITY of the skinny coat, either shown as a wraparound or fitting the figure with both single and double-breasted closings.

Judo Seen As Women's Best Protection

NEW YORK (UPI) — The scene was a busy street just off Times Square. The time, around 5 p.m.

A woman teacher of printing was walking toward a subway entrance when suddenly a man approached—and grabbed her wrists. But the mugger had picked the wrong victim.

In an instant, he crash-landed on the sidewalk. When he could get up, he did not try to renew his attack. He ran.

For he had been thrown by a woman prepared for such dangers.

The woman was "armed" with the knowledge of judo, what the Japanese call "the gentle way," and it saved her from being robbed, perhaps injured.

Ruth Horan, a teacher of judo for nearly a decade and still a student of it, tells the story of the Times Square incident to illustrate her belief:

"We'd put an end to most of the attacks on women of our cities if they all would just take a little time to learn judo."

To Brighten Hospital Days

Hospital days may be gloomy ones, but there is a tried and true way to bring a little brightness to the poor shut-in.

Fresh flowers, carefully selected, add a spot of color to normally bleak hospital rooms. They also serve to remind the patient of the affection and concern that is being felt for him.

THE SOCIETY of American Florists has timely tips on the proper choice of sick room flowers. Select blooms that are not too fragrant, avoiding those of heady scent that may prove to be unpleasant to someone who is ill. Delicate fragrances, such as those of carnations and roses, will be much more appreciated.

There was a time when nurses could spend valuable moments arranging flowers that arrived loose at the hospital. Today, however, every instant of a nurse's time is precious. Because of the acute shortage of nurses, she must take care of many more patients than was her habit before. Consequently, she can no longer attend to the superficial niceties—such as arranging flowers. The Society suggests that flowers be sent already arranged in their own container.

MOST FLORISTS have a wide selection of vases on hand. They are generally inexpensive and very attractive. The cost is negligible and one can rest assured that his flowers will arrive in tip-top shape.

For flowers to stand on a bedside table, choose a low arrangement. One charming choice might be rose buds and daisies in a small wicker basket. This would be particularly appropriate for a new mother or perhaps for a little girl.

Carnations are a particularly happy flower for hospital rooms. They may be arranged either in a shallow bowl—short stemmed ones are used for this—or in a high goblet. Milk glass is a good selection since it seems to match the quaint old-fashionedness of the flowers. Also, their spicy scent is no overpowering.

DURING THE autumn season, a great many tawny orange flowers are available. Asters, mums, and a wide variety of lilies are particularly suited for a man.

WHAT'S HE SAYING, DOC?

Cy, the famous "talking" sea lion at Marineland of the Pacific at Palos Verdes, is examined by dentist Dr. Sydney Pattison after he pulled three of the animal's teeth last week, to correct abcesses. It is believed the first oral surgery ever done by a practicing dentist. Pattison was called in because he is family dentist for several Marineland employees. Cy "speaks" into a microphone, making gobbling noises that sound like words, as part of Marineland's circus act. (UPI photo)

Bystander Is Killed

SAN MATEO (UPI) — An innocent bystander was killed last night when his car was involved in a collision with a stolen vehicle whose driver was fleeing police.

The victim was Clifford Chun, 21, of San Mateo.

He died when an auto slammed into his at an intersection. He was thrown 30 feet when his car burst into flames.

The other driver, believed to be about 20 years old, escaped on foot. A 17-year-old companion was hospitalized with cuts and bruises.

Police said a patrol car spotted the stolen auto on El Camino Real and chased it through two stop signs before the accident occurred.

Novato Police Streamline Reports -- Rolling Dictation

Dictating machines have been installed in four Novato police cars, and a new type dupilcator has been put in use by the department to speed up reporting and free officers for other work, Novato Police Chief Robert Di Grazia announced today.

The new duplicating machines reproduce hand-written reports which officers can make while on patrol. For longer reports, the officers can use the dictating units, tape from which is transcribed by clerks in the police office.

"This will give the patrolmen more time to do patrolling, which is their primary function," said Chief De Grazia. It also will reduce the amount of paper work for duty sergeants, he said.

GRAPE FROSTED PEARS ...
Cut 6 ripe D'amjou pears in half lengthwise; pare and core. Sprinkle pears with the juice of 2 lemons to keep color light. Blend 4 3-ounce packages cream cheese with 2 tsp. sugar, 2 tsp. vanilla and ½ cup light cream. Arrange a bed of salad greens on individual plates and place a pear half, cut side down on each. Spread an even coating of the cheese mixture over each pear. Stud the cheese frosting with seedless green grapes, either whole or cut in half, arranging them as close together as possible. Makes 12 servings.

JOLLY ROAST TURKEY ...
Wash turkey in cold running water. Pat inside and out with paper toweling. Sprinkle inside lightly with salt. Stuff turkey. Tie legs together and draw skin of neck to back and fasten with skewer. Bend wing tips under. Place turkey, breast side up, on rack in shallow pan. Cover loosely with foil. Roast in 325°, basting several times with drippings. Remove from oven ½ hour before serving and make gravy.

Redwood Students To Codify Laws

A series of constitutional codes will be drawn up by the elected student body leaders of Redwood High School in an effort to improve the organization of student government.

Each code will consist of a list of the laws which are now in effect governing each branch of the government. When new laws are passed, they will be added to the codes.

In the past, there has been much confusion as to what is law and what is custom. The codes will act as supplements to the school constitution.

Student body president Fred Ross will assemble the legislative and administrative code; the elections code will be written by Patsy Languille, commissioner of elections; Dean Davis, vice-president, will do the activities code; Mary Wissman is in charge of the social activities code; Tom Gootherts, head of student government, the judicial, and Dane Durbin, commissioner of finance, the financial code.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Parkinson Disease Brain Operation Greatly Improved

VAN DELLEN

The brain operation for parkinsonism (shaking palsy) has been improved considerably in the last decade. A tribute ought to be paid to the skill and ingenuity of neurosurgeons who have devoted much of their life to making the technique effective and safe.

Tremor and muscle rigidity are relieved in 80 per cent of selected cases and the mortality is less than 2 per cent. In addition, the procedure does not lead to loss of intellectual ability or damage to the personality. The results are most gratifying when symptoms are confined mainly to one side and the individual is otherwise healthy.

THE OPERATION does not cure or restore the involved muscles. It is not advised when the disease is progressing rapidly or the physical condition is poor. The decision should not be put off until the patient has passed the stage in which he can be helped.

The purpose of the operation is to destroy the small nerve center in the brain where tremor originates. This center lies deep in the brain and is slightly more than a quarter inch in diameter. Several methods are used. Some surgeons inject a chemical agent; others employ electrocoagulation, local freezing, or high frequency sound waves.

MANY DRUGS are available to block or reduce the activity of the brain cells that produce symptoms. Some medications work better on one person than on others so that treatment must be individualized.

The patient should be urged to adjust his life to his disability by avoiding stress, anxiety and fatigue. Physical therapy lessens stiffness. Parkinsonism is not hopeless. When the morale of the victim and his family is low, an all-out attack is needed to avoid the secondary changes that come from neglect and inactivity.

SWALLOWING PROBLEM

Mrs. B. writes: I am expecting my fourth child soon. In the third month of pregnancy, I developed a throat problem — difficulty in swallowing. The pills prescribed by the doctor have not helped. He says this condition often occurs during pregnancy but I never have had it before nor have my friends with large families.

REPLY

If you doubt your physician, ask for a consultation with a nose and throat specialist to determine whether an organic reason exists for this difficulty.

HOSPITAL PROCEDURE

A. T. writes: Can tonsils be removed in a doctor's office?

REPLY

Yes, but it is not advisable because most offices have neither the help nor the equipment needed should complications arise. Many years ago tonsils were removed piecemeal with a cautery as an office procedure.

HAIR DARKENING

A. B. writes: What causes blond hair to darken? Can it be caused by the use of pills containing iron?

REPLY

Blond hair usually darkens with age. The color of hair is determined by the pigment cells at the roots and has nothing to do with the iron pigment in the blood.

BONE TB TESTS

D. B. writes: Can tuberculosis of the bones be diagnosed by the tuberculin skin test?

REPLY

No, even though the test is likely to be positive. X-rays and laboratory tests of the discharge are the best ways to make this diagnosis.

Dominant Gene Is Found Fatal To Unborn Males

By DELOS SMITH

NEW YORK (UPI)—Scientifically exciting news from human genetics is almost conclusive proof of a dominant gene which is deforming in females and so lethal in males they cannot survive gestation.

It is exciting because this is the first time such a gene has been demonstrated in human beings although they are known to exist in fruit flies, pigs and other experimental animals. It is important because any sound understanding of human genetics would greatly benefit the race.

There is a long way to go although newer techniques have permitted promising starts. However, in this triumph the convincing evidence is almost entirely circumstantial because the techniques are not yet fine enough to get at the physical basis — the chromosomes which contain the genes of inheritance.

The evidence covers four generations of one family. Over that span it had 89 live births of which 15 females but no males had the same general congenital defect of cleft palate, cleft tongue and abnormal formations of fingers or toes.

An elderly family member who had made herself family historian told the investigating scientists: "The boys were always fine but the girls always suffered a myriad of medical problems." Scientifically that was a key.

Over the generations there were seven sets of brothers and sisters in which some of the girls were affected. When all is genetically well the ratio of boys and girls works out 1-1, as everyone knows. In these combined sets of brothers and sisters it was 1 boy-2 girls.

Fourteen females with the congenitally yoked defects gave birth to 12 normal males, including a set of identical twins, and 21 females which works out to a ratio of 1 boy-1.75 girls. But there were eight spontaneous abortions and if these represented male conceptions, the ratio then would be at conception the normal 1-1.

The scientists went on to the six males who have sired children. They are the fathers of 10 girls and nine sons, all normal and there is no significant history of spontaneous abortion. This would indicate strongly that if the dominant gene is dealt to the male in the sorting of genes in the process of fertilization he can't "carry" it even if it should fail to prevent him from being born.

The investigating scientists were Drs. The

Where Marin's Shoreline Highway Begins

Homes cluster in the level areas at the base of Tamalpais Valley, but some houses are already climbing among the tree-studded hills.

Coyote Creek cuts straight between man-made dikes to enter the bay near the bridge. The Shoreline Highway traces around a small hill and then crosses the creek to head north before it bends around to the west again.

Still Waiting For Change To Maturity

By RICK DuBROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Was it already a year? This must have been a thought going through the minds of millions of televiewers yesterday as they tuned in the network tribute to President John F. Kennedy on the first anniversary of his assassination. For to this generation, the assassination and the four-day vigil before the television set will always be inseparable in thought.

It was, a year ago, television's saddest moment, yet at the same time the moment of its most dignified and towering achievement as a public service, and simply as a communications medium. And remember all the fine talk and hopes for video's future shortly afterward? Now, surely, some said, television could never be the same again as it was before. Now, surely, some said, a new maturity would come over video, influencing matters up and down the line. Everyone had seen how enormously and importantly television could serve as an instrument of communication. Such potential! Such promise! Wait and see, some said.

Well, we all waited. And waited. And we are still waiting. And nothing, of course, has changed, and nothing will. The opportunity not only evaded those who run television—they never even made an attempt to grasp it. And if such a video experience can bring about no alteration of direction, then it is doubtful that anything can. If anything, this television season is worse than last. And it is an irony that the only significant series to have its debut this season is "Profiles in Courage," based on President Kennedy's book.

Yesterday's various network tributes were of predictable general excellence, the pictorial equivalent of, and supplement to, the many special newspaper and magazine stories marking the event. Yet it was surprising, to say the least, that no full-program network tribute was scheduled for prime time last night, which is something like a newspaper failing to print the story on its front page. CBS-TV, however, aired an hour tribute in prime time last Wednesday. At any rate, last night it apparently was felt better by those in charge not to dislodge such series as "Bonanza" or "Wagon Train" or "Candid Camera."

THE CHANNEL SWIM: NBC-TV's children's series, "Exploring," examines Los Angeles as a city of the future this Saturday . . . ## Jazz Benefit Set For Civil Rights

Jazz singer Jon Hendricks of Mill Valley will present a benefit program for the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee at 8:30 p.m. Friday at the new Marin Friends of the Committee's office at the Marin County Heliport on Richardson Bay.

Hendricks, also a song writer and jazz poet, does an entirely improvised act, featuring jazz standards and nostalgic oldtime hits, according to Julie Laws, publicity chairman. He is accompanied by the Gildo Mahones Trio.

The singer is appearing at Basin Street West in San Francisco and lives aboard a floating home near the heliport.

INDUSTRIAL ARTS LACKING

Teachers Complain Of 'Hobby Shops' Schooling

By ROBERT M. COPPOCK

That charge is by Irvin Colt, who heads the vocational education program at College of Marin.

Colt called for an increase in an industrial arts program.

"There seems to be reluctance to even have such a program at the high school level in Marin County," he declared. "And where they do, it's often not serving its proper function, but is becoming more of a hobby type program."

"If the junior college didn't have such a diddly program, we might be able to do something," said Robert Agnew, in charge of industrial arts at San Rafael High School. "The junior college district has to take the lead."

IRVIN COLT
Puts blame on parents

But Agnew and counselors and teachers in Novato Unified and Tamalpais High School districts, agree that the major struggle is to steer students into shop programs that suit them.

"The parents are pressing their kids into classes where they don't belong," complained Jerry Barnacle, head of industrial arts at Novato High School. "Very few will admit, even when they are faced with the facts, that their kid won't graduate from college. And the counselor's hands are tied."

What happens to students who cannot meet the highly competitive requirements for entering major four-year colleges?

About 42 per cent of Marin's high school graduates enter College of Marin, College President Stephen E. Epler has reported to the county grand jury. But more than half of these do not show up for the second year's work.

When these college drop-outs hit the job market, they still have little in the way of marketable skill.

Edwin Mayer of the California Department of Employment office in San Rafael reported the situation is by no means grave, at least at the present.

He said that, as far as he can learn, most of these young persons find jobs, although not in Marin County. Mere possession of a high school diploma is a big help, he said. However, Ayer added, these young men may be the first to be fired.

"Some will be in and out of our offices the rest of their lives," he predicted.

Ayer said there are few high school dropouts in Marin, and no records are kept as to how many applicants have finished high school but dropped out of college.

An opposing view on the need for steering students into shop courses came from Eunice Reader, head of pupil personnel for the Tamalpais district. "Many of these children need to be built up, not torn down, about college," she said.

The Tamalpais district has an industrial arts curriculum with more variety than other high schools in the county. But Miss Reader said the district's main answer for the non-academic student may be its work experience program.

In this program, explained Robert J. Maher, who is in charge for the Tamalpais district, students work for private firms for part of the day. The San Rafael High School district has no such program. Novato recently started one.

Maher said the relationship of a young person to his boss can achieve results that similar relationships between a student and teacher, or a child and parent, cannot. But, he added, Marin County has too few openings for such students to find work.

Colt thinks the work experience offered is too limited.

In an electronics laboratory at a high school, a student will have a chance to work on many devices with many tools, and will be given careful training on the principals of electricity, he said. But in a television repair shop, the owner may not let the boy touch valuable equipment. Instead, the student may be cleaning the floors.

On one point Colt, Ayer, and the high school representatives all agreed: Boys have the toughest row to hoe.

Girls have less trouble finding jobs, mainly requiring clerical skills. Also, there is less parental pressure to girls to go to college. Therefore, girls enroll in "business" courses, learning typing, shorthand and operation of business machines.

New vocational programs are being developed in Marin County high schools.

The Tamalpais district has expanded its graphic arts program to include Redwood as well as Tamalpais High, and has applied for federal funds for offset printing equipment at Redwood and a shorthand transcription laboratory at Sir Francis Drake High School.

The junior college district officials would like to see six-year programs which would start in high school and run through two years of college. Colt has called meetings of high school shop teachers to begin mapping out such programs.

The county schools office recently received federal funds to launch a study to find just where the jobs are in the Bay Area, so that new programs may be geared to the need.

Colt was careful to draw a distinction between vocational education and industrial arts.

Vocational education in high school would be aimed toward a job on graduation. Industrial arts, which he said are needed most, would merely give a student a chance to learn if he had interest or talent in fields requiring manual skill.

He said parents should be convinced that they may be harming their child if they give him no chance to gain an interest in new technical fields. "It takes five technicians to support every engineer," he said.

"Many parents tell us they are very much in favor of an industrial arts program — for somebody else's child," complained Miss Reader.

Gallinas Sanitary Meeting Shifted

The Las Gallinas Valley Sanitary District board has postponed its meeting scheduled for tonight until Nov. 30 at 8 p.m. at the district office.

The board will consider giving tentative approval of plans for Lucas Valley unit 6.

60-Stall Stables To Be Erected East Of Novato

Construction of a 60-stall stable at the Atherton Country Club in Novato is scheduled to begin this week at the 40-acre club site at H Lane and Atherton Avenue.

Douglas Hertz, executive director of the club, is in charge of construction and manage- of the new facility, which is expected to be completed early next spring.

Purchase of the property was completed earlier this month, 17 months after the Atherton Land and Development Co., headed by Dr. Richard Walker of Novato and including Dr. Paul O. Sather, Alfred J. Smith, and Guido Areco, took a lease and option on the land.

San Rafael Chamber Office Looted Of $20

Someone stole about $20 from the San Rafael Chamber of Commerce building at 824 Fifth Avenue Friday night, San Rafael police reported yesterday.

LOCATED IN FAIR-ANSELM SHOPPING CENTER, FAIRFAX

LAUGHTER, THEN VIOLENCE

Iced Drinks, Fists, Rocks —That's Riot In Saigon

SAIGON, Vietnam (UPI)—A Saigon riot is a bloody bandage, a police car being smashed by tiny fists, rocks arching through the hot noonday air and the noise of laughing, jeering youngsters.

It's a Mardi Gras of violence perfumed with the stench of tear gas, a fun affair where people get hurt—sometimes killed—and governments crumble.

It's a scenario so incredulous Hollywood would never dare produce it. Death and violence one moment, laughter and happiness the next. It's a Chinese shopkeeper cautiously selling iced drinks through his grated doors to both police and rioters from his no-man's-land spot. It's the neutral spectators lining the rooftops pointing and gesturing as the battle moves back and forth in the street below.

It's the hysterical shouts of a police sergeant on a bull horn, the lofted tear gas bomb that lands at the feet of a white-pajamaed schoolgirl and the stampeding of hundreds of teenagers shoving, pushing and scrambling to escape the biting fumes.

It's a barrage of bricks and rocks that come sailing out of a narrow alley at bewildered green uniformed police. It's the immaculately attired mandarin walking serenely through the mob, his erect posture protected by a black umbrella. It's the jeep ambulances in their broken field running to pick up the injured and the long lines of troops resting on helmets and chatting with youngsters who later pummel them with rocks.

It's a shaven monk standing quietly aside, his head moving from side to side like a tennis fan following the street fighting that flows back and forth along the street in front of his pagoda.

It's an invitation from German-born Karl Ross to come inside his house and sip a cold beer while the fighting rages outside and the sputtering tear gas bomb fumigates the house mixing tears with beer.

It's children of primary grades being led in clenched fist cheering by a swarthy adult far too old to be classed a student, and it's the police standing five feet away who absorb his insults but make no move to arrest him.

It's charred gas tank, a car with a smashed windshield bearing the clasped handshake seal of friendship from America and the rock-filled deserted streets left behind as the battle moves on.

It's the gay laughter of a score of 12-year-olds who sortie out of an alley, rain rocks and bricks on a squad of soldiers and then retreat pell mell into the labyrinth of twisting lanes ahead of the charging soldiers and their tear gas. It's a cops and robbers game, but played with real cops.

Above all, it's the horrible power of mob violence, of the quick change from laughter to anger, of lethargy to bitter hatred and the quick-second change of a quiet group of human beings into a maniacal blood-seeking mob intent only to kick, to hit or to maim and kill other human beings. It's blood, it's sweat, and it's tears, all on a hot Wednesday afternoon in Saigon.

Passengers On Ship Recall Oswald Trip

Set Apart By Sullen Loneliness Going To Russia

WASHINGTON (AP)—From the time he set out for the Soviet Union in September 1959 until he returned home three years later, Lee Harvey Oswald saw few Americans other than embassy officials.

But those he saw remember something of the sullen loneliness that seemed to set him apart from other men.

The freighter Marion Lykes, bound from New Orleans to Le Havre, carried only four passengers: A retired Army colonel and his wife, a young student off to France to begin his college studies and Oswald.

UNSOCIABLE PASSENGER

George B. Church Jr., the retired colonel, remembered Oswald to the Warren Commission as an unsociable, withdrawn passenger who was seasick quite a bit during the 16-day journey and who, in his brief conversations, bitterly described the hard times his mother had during the depression.

The colonel's wife made an attempt to get to know the reclusive passenger, but was repelled and even had difficulty obtaining his address for her Christmas card list. She lent him a book, which he never returned, and left him to the conversational care of the chief engineer, who seemed to feel that Oswald was "a smart boy."

EXTREMELY CYNICAL

Billy Joe Lord, the student who was Oswald's cabin mate, found him "a normal, healthy individual, mentally alert, but extremely cynical." He recalled Oswald's bitterness "about the fact his mother had to work in a drug store in Fort Worth" and once heard his views on religion.

"I do not know why we discussed religion," Lord told the commission, "except that possibly he noticed that I had a Bible. Oswald could not see how I could believe in God in view of the fact that science had disproved the existence of God and that there was only matter."

HEADED FOR SCHOOL?

All three passengers thought Oswald was heading to a university, possibly in Switzerland. They had no idea he was on his way to defect to the Soviet Union. Lord didn't find out until a month later when his mother sent him a newspaper clipping from home.

Returning to the United States on the Holland-American liner Maasdam, Oswald penned a confused, heavily misspelled political treatise on ship's stationery outlining his disillusionment with both capitalism and communism.

"I have lived," he wrote, "under both systems, I have sought the answers and although it would be very easy to dupe myself into believing one system is better than the other, I know they are not."

Paris Quint Dies; Others 'Precarious'

A spokesman for the specialist hospital where the babies were born Monday said the dead infant was Jean-Luc, the last of quints delivered to the 27-year-old wife of mailman Raymond Sambor.

Doctors said Jean-Luc developed breathing difficulties yesterday and was unable to maintain body temperature.

All five babies were placed in incubators. They were nine weeks premature.

The condition of the four surviving infants was said to be precarious. Doctors said it would be at least three weeks before a definite prognosis could be made.

He said Tuesday the orchestra will make its debut Jan. 4 in Los Angeles.

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

He invited distinguished designers and architects to meet in Sacramento Dec. 8 with the men in state government who make decisions on design.

Contract Ratified

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The 6,000 members of the Department Store Employees and Retail Shoe and Textile Salesmen unions voted last night to ratify a new three-year contract with the San Francisco Retailers Council, representing 19 department stores and shops. Employees will get 28 and one-half cents an hour in wage increases and fringe benefits over the three years.

Skyhawk Crashes

MANILA (AP)—An A-4E Skyhawk of the U.S. Seventh Fleet crashed into the China Sea Monday, but its pilot ejected and was pulled to safety minutes later by a rescue helicopter, the U.S. Navy reported today. The pilot was Commander Henry Urban Jr., of Lemoore, Calif. He was not hurt, the Navy said.

O'Dwyer's Long Career Ended

NEW YORK (UPI)—Tributes poured in today for William O'Dwyer, the Irish immigrant, who rose from hod carrier to mayor of the nation's largest city. O'Dwyer, 74, died yesterday of a heart attack.

O'Dwyer, in his colorful and sometimes controversial career, served at one time or another as a bartender, clerk, policeman, magistrate, district attorney, lawyer, longshoreman, military officer and ambassador.

He made his first political success as the crusading district attorney of Brooklyn who helped smash the "Murder, Inc." gang. He was instrumental in sending a dozen hoodlums associated with the group to the electric chair.

O'Dwyer's role as crime buster helped propel him into the city hall in 1945. He was re-elected to the mayor's office in 1949 but resigned amid controversy in August of 1950 to accept appointment as ambassador to Mexico.

Married twice, he had no children.

John Jr. Has 4th Birthday

NEW YORK (UPI)—Today is the fourth birthday of John F. Kennedy Jr. and, unlike last year, he will have a party with a cake, presents, and games.

But it will be his second birthday without a father. President Kennedy was killed by an assassin's bullet three days before his son's birthday last year and the rites of the succeeding days prevented any celebration.

Several of John's cousins and playmates were due at the Kennedy apartment this afternoon for a birthday frolic. His sister, Caroline, will be there, too, looking forward to her own seventh birthday next Saturday.

Boy, 4 Shoots, Kills Kin, 80

Coroner Stephen D. Yoney said the boy, Layne Sander, picked up a 38-caliber pistol that had been lying on a nightstand in Mrs. Renshaw's bedroom for eight years.

Yoney said the boy told him he pointed the gun at Mrs. Renshaw, seated in a chair in her bedroom, and pulled the trigger twice. Nothing happened.

The child pulled the trigger again and the gun discharged, striking Mrs. Renshaw in the chest, the coroner said.

Mangano May Star As Greta Garbo

ROME (AP)—Italian film producer Dino de Laurentiis says he plans to make a movie about the life of Swedish film star Greta Garbo.

He said Tuesday that his wife, actress Sylvana Mangano, would portray Garbo and that he would try to reach Miss Garbo to ask her to collaborate on the film.

Sato To Visit

TOKYO (AP) — Prime Minister Eisaku Sato of Japan plans to visit the United States in January, it was disclosed today in Tokyo.

The American Flag 'Is Very Durable'

LEOPOLDVILLE, The Congo (UPI)—Michaed P. E. Hoyt, the U.S. consul in Stanleyville, was one of the lucky ones. He escaped death at the hands of Congolese rebels.

But the soft-spoken American diplomat was subjected to weeks of torture and shameful indignities. At one point, the rebels forced him to eat an American flag. On another occasion, he was marched into a public square and told that he would be executed.

Hoyt recalled his ordeal.

"When the rebels opened fire indiscriminately into the crowd they had forced on to the pavement, we jumped for cover wherever we found it — into gardens, house doors and behind walls," he said.

Only last Wednesday we were taken out to the Lumumba monument together with missionary Dr. Paul Carlson and two young Americans doing service in the Congo as conscientious objectors. They told us we were going to be executed.

"At the monument a crowd of 5,000 gathered to watch the executions. While the Americans were kept in cars, simbas (rebel soldiers) gathered around.

"They told us we would be killed and everyone had a different suggestion how to do it.

"They told us what parts of our bodies they would eat.

"But after half an hour rebel Gen. Nicholas Olenga arrived, ordered us back into cars and the execution was stayed.

"The crowd seemed disappointed and followed the cars, screaming for our lives."

The flag-eating incident occurred, he said, shortly after rebel forces seized the city in early August. The other four consular officials were involved.

"All four of us were chewing it at the same time," Hoyt said. He added, with a forced note of humor: "And I must say it's very durable."

Johnson Names Envoy To Laos

JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (UPI)—President Lyndon B. Johnson announced today he has picked career foreign service officer William H. Sullivan to be the new U.S. ambassador to troubled Laos.

The Texas White House said Sullivan, 42-year-old native of Cranston, R.I., would replace Leonard Unger in the Southeast Asia post. Unger is returning to Washington for a State Department assignment.

Johnson also announced his intention to appoint Ben Hill Brown Jr., another foreign service career man, to be ambassador to Liberia. Brown will succeed Charles Edward Rhetts, who has resigned.

Both the Sullivan and Brown appointments will require Senate confirmation.

Ruby Spends Routine Day

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—Jack Ruby spent a routine day in his cell in Dallas County jail Tuesday, the first anniversary of his shooting of Lee Harvey Oswald.

"He followed the same routine he follows on other days," said Sheriff Bill Decker.

He said Ruby spends much of his time playing dominoes and cards with guards assigned to his cell, which is apart from others.

Wins Own Gift

OUNDLE, England (UPI) — Fishmonger John Ganderton got the impression that the grace of pheasants he donated to a rabfle were a new homing variety. He won them back twice in a row.

FBI'S HOOVER GIVEN AWARD

FBI Chief J. Edgar Hoover (left) admires Sword of Loyola presented him in Chicago last night by Rev. James F. Maguire, S.J., Loyola University president. The award is to become highlight of Stritch School of Medicine and its presentation reserved for a person of prominence who has exhibited "courage, dedication and service." Hoover declared the FBI will not become the tool of pressure groups seeking "to attain their own selfish aims to the detriment of our people as a whole." It was Hoover's first public appearance since last week when he called Rev. Martin Luther King Jr. a liar. (AP Wirephoto)

Employees Unit Ired By 'Rank, File' Letter

The Marin County Employees Assn. yesterday rebelled at a suggestion that its membership exclude department heads and be limited to "rank and filers."

Its protest was made to the board of supervisors as the result of a letter by County Administrator Alan Bruce to the association suggesting a change in membership policy.

The episode started when County Purchasing Agent John Hettrich, a member of Bruce's office staff, was nominated for Association president.

The day before last Wednesday's election Bruce sent his letter saying that Hettrich, as a member of the board of supervisors' "management team," might be put in an untenable position if elected.

He also contended it would be difficult for Hettrich, a direct employee of the county administrator, to negotiate for the association with the administrator. He suggested the association consider "excluding from office, or preferably excluding even from membership, all department heads and division heads," and concluded, "A more effective employee organization would be the likely result if only rank and filers were admitted to membership."

In a letter to the board, the association said "the idea expressed in the letter is a dangerous attitude and one that should never have been put into words by one in the position of Alan Bruce."

For years workers of the association have been drawn mainly from officers, division heads and those with some years of service, "what most of us would call a representative cross-section of county employees, not 'rank and filers' or 'management team'," the letter said.

W. P. Duhamel, association liaison representative to the board, said the association has drawn strength from elective and appointive officers and there has been no friction.

Hettrich did not win the election. The association elected Mrs. LaVerne Robinson, a public works office employee, as president. But it elected Hettrick as a director, along with two department heads: Treasurer-Tax Collector Stanley J. Fontez and Auditor-Controller Michael Mitchell.

County Supervisor Peter H. Behr said he did not believe the last paragraph of Bruce's letter should be made a "cause." He said he would not like to see the incident "blown up" to the point of "making an elephant out of a mouse."

After discussing the association's letter, Behr suggested that the board review another employee matter: That of outside employment.

The board recently set a policy limiting outside employment by county employees. Behr, who was not present when the policy was voted, said it was "a rather stringent policy."

Supervisors George W. Ludy and Byron W. Leydecker said they did not intended to change their votes.

The board agreed to review the policy in public.

Twin Cities Library Plan Meeting Set

Any combination of resources of Larkspur and Corte Madera for library services would not involve Corte Madera pulling out of the county library district, Larkspur librarian Helen S. Wilson said today.

She said the new library, if it proved feasible, would be built under a joint powers agreement, probably between Larkspur and the county district.

Such a combination of resources will be discussed at a special meeting at the Larkspur Library Tuesday at 10 a.m., she said. She added she did not wish to give the impression that Corte Madera would have to drop out of the county district to join with Larkspur.

County Counsel Douglas J. Maloney said he has talked informally with librarians several times about use of joint powers agreements to build new libraries or to run them. He said he sees no legal problem in such a procedure.

Mrs. Wilson said the major part of the meeting will be a presentation by David Sabsay, Santa Rosa public librarian, who will discuss the state law on aid to libraries and the new federal Library Services and Construction Act.

County librarian Virginia Keating will also be present to discuss pros and cons of joining the North Bay Co-Operative Library System, which serves six north Bay Area counties.

The Caspian Sea is actually a like being entirely surrounded by land and having an area of 143,550 square miles, almost four times as large as Lake Superior.

Neighbors Oppose Woodacre School

Stone got a strong assist from David Van Pelt of the Marin County Planning staff, who explained how the San Geronimo Valley Master Plan was developed and school sites located in it.

When the valley is fully developed, there will be four, five or maybe six schools, Van Pelt said.

He said the planning staff recommended in favor of a school site in the floor of the Woodacre Valley because it came close to the population center.

"This is a very obvious choice," Van Pelt said.

Stone explained that the Woodacre Club site, six acres, is just one under consideration by the board. Also under consideration are 11 acres adjacent to Idyl Wild Rest Home (recommended by a citizen site selection committee) and 11.2 acres in Bates Canyon west of Woodacre.

The master plan shows a site for a private school on the north side of Sir Francis Drake Boulevard. This also has been considered by trustees.

The only maps available last night for projection on a large screen were of proposed development of the Woodacre site. When members of the audience asked to see plans of other sites, Stone said there were no problems in locating buildings on them.

Stone said the Woodacre site, when ready to build, was expected to cost about $141,000; the Idyl Wild site, about $134,000, and the Bates Canyon site, about $167,000.

Mrs. Winifred Frederick, chairman of the citizens committee, said she had always been opposed to the Woodacre site. She asked why improved land should be taken off the tax rolls when there is open land available.

This drew a round of applause.

Trustee John Nielsen, who left the meeting early, announced before leaving that he was in favor of the Woodacre site and would vote for it when the time came.

Stone said the decision might be made at a board meeting at 8 p.m. next Tuesday at Lagunitas School.

Supervisors Asking Cities For 'Spheres Of Interest'

Marin County supervisors are going to ask each of the county's 11 cities to indicate its "sphere of interest" so the county can inform it of planning activities in its sphere.

Supervisor Peter H. Behr proposed the plan yesterday after the board received a letter from Tiburon requesting quick notice of any matters arising in its "zone of interest." Tiburon considers land lying outside its city boundaries that eventually may be annexed as its "zone of interest."

Once the cities indicate the areas they are interested in, they will receive notice of all planning matters in those areas, Behr said. "Otherwise we're not fully informing them of county planning."

Planning Director B. D. Dobbs said cities are getting many notices now and the new plan would expand this procedure.

Behr noted that the county also would like to be informed of what cities are planning.

The proposal also came after the board upheld a planning commission recommendation that a five-acre portion of Oak Manor Highlands, an 82-acre subdivision near Fairfax, remain zoned for apartments.

The vote was 3-1, with Supervisor Byron W. Leydecker dissenting and Supervisor William D. Fusselman absent.

Fairfax City Councilman Peter Arrigoni Jr., who opposed the apartment zoning, said the city never got a notice on the zoning.

The Marin County Board of Supervisors also:

1. Received a check for $12,300 from the Housing and Home Finance Agency as the federal open space grant toward the $41,000 purchase of St. Hilary's Wildflower Park on the Tiburon Peninsula.

2. Received notice from the Marin County Soil Conservation District that the terms of two directors, Domingo S. Grossi Jr. of Inverness and David Leveroni of Novato, expire next March, but took no action.

3. Granted County Administrator Alan Bruce authority to apply to the State Department of Finance for a population increase estimate, to cost not more than $655, with a view toward gaining a greater share of motor vehicle in-lieu tax.

4. Delayed action on a proposal by John B. Ehlen of Sausalito that the board proclaim a "Bill Fusselman Day" in honor of Supervisor Fusselman, who will be leaving the board at the end of the year, and on a request from the Women's International League for Peace and Freedom that the board proclaim Dec. 10 "Human Rights Day."

5. Approved establishment of a five-member committee to study the Stafford Lake area, west of Novato, for development as a county park and named Supervisor William A. Gnoss and Mrs. Charles P. Davies of the county recreation commission as county representatives on the committee.

6. Approved purchase of six California Highway Patrol type cars, five to be used by the sheriff's office and one by the county fire chief.

7. Adopted ordinance limiting parking to 30 minutes on College Avenue in the Kentfield area from Sir Francis Drake Boulevard to Magnolia Avenue, and on a portion of Drake Boulevard fronting business establishments in the Kentfield area.

8. Delayed discussion of a plan to finance Richardson Bay development for two weeks, at request of Supervisor Behr.

9. Appointed Dorothy A. Hallett and Peggy C. Young as deputy clerks in municipal court; David W. Flynn as maintenance man, public works department, and Holbrook Teter as psychiatric social worker, mental health services.

10. Received a petition of intention, containing 18 signatures, to form a special assessment district along Main Street-Laurel Way in Tamalpais Valley for street improvements.

11. Granted Donald Ward of 2370 Vineyard Road, West Novato, an adjustment to permit a two-story detached barn within 10 feet of the rear property line instead of the required 40 feet, thereby overruling a planning commission recommendation for denial. Supervisor Leydecker dissented.

12. Approved the tentative map of Paradise Cove Marina Unit 2, a four-acre subdivision southeast of Paradise Drive on the Tiburon Peninsula, submitted by Prime Area Development Co.

13. Referred to the parks and recreation commission a letter from the Strawberry Recreation District indicating its desire to have a 7.8 acre parcel of tidelots donated by Eichler Homes dedicated to the district.

GOING HIGHER FOR EDUCATION

Marinwood Hill Plan Is Held For Review

Marin County Supervisors yesterday held for further review a proposal for a hillside development in Marinwood, the first of its kind in the area.

Under study will be the tentative map of Marinwood Terrace, a proposed 23-lot subdivision on 16 acres west of Las Gallinas Avenue and north of Lucas Valley Road.

Supervisor Byron W. Leydecker said the development is "critical" and must be analyzed further because it is the first hillside development in the Marinwood-Lucas Valley area and could set a precedent.

People of the area are interested in the development and should have "an opportunity to make their desires known," he said.

Leydecker questioned the plan for "daylighting" the top of a hill, encroaching into the green belt area, and slope development. He also urged that underground utilities be considered.

Attorney Julius Selinger, representing developer William M. Falcon, said the board should not pick this development as the place to start requiring underground utilities.

The board will consider the map further in two weeks.

Defense Says Hopps Made Up Whole Extortion Story

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO—Paul and Allen Dorfman, Chicago insurance men accused of an extortion attempt on Stewart B. Hopps, charged in their trial today that Hopps made up the whole thing in an attempt to get out of trouble.

The defense for the Dorfmans opened after U.S. District Court Judge William T. Sweigert said he would reserve decision on an earlier motion for acquittal.

Harvey Silets, one of the defense attorneys, said in his opening statement today that he will seek to prove that Hopps, formerly of Belvedere, "indicated to other people that he was trying to extricate himself from his own difficulties — mail fraud and tax evasion prosecutions — by fabricating threats and evidence to turn over to the government."

Silets argued that Hopps hoped for government action because of its interest in the Teamsters Union. The Dorfmans' Amalgamated Insurance Service in Chicago handles insurance for Jimmy Hoffa's union.

Silets said testimony would show that the Dorfmans used harsh words when they learned that $100,000 they had deposited with Hopps was missing, but there were no threats.

John Kearney, the final prosecution witness in the trial yesterday, failed to confirm specific threats in a phone call from Nassau in the Bahamas to Belvedere on Sept. 5, 1962.

Kearney, now of Mexico City, was the manager of the Intercontinental Insurance Co., headed by Hopps.

Kearney said he heard Allen Dorfman say into the telephone that Hopps had better "give me back my $100,000, or else."

Hopps earlier testified that Dorfman threatened to "cut another hole in your head" and give him a "concrete overcoat." He said the call terrified him.

Dorfman had gone to Nassau to check up on a $100,000 investment he and his stepfather, Paul, had made in Hopp's firm. When he discovered the money was missing, he placed the call to Hopps.

CONGO

The U.S. State Department temporarily withheld comment, pending receipt of the Soviet note, but the United States and its Allies were expected to reject the Moscow demand. Some officials privately described the Kremlin move as a "cheap propaganda maneuver."

British Foreign Affairs Minister of State George Thomson told Parliament in London that an estimated 30 to 40 Europeans were killed and at least 80 wounded in yesterday's Stanleyville slaughter. He added that about 1,000 Europeans and Asians were evacuated from Stanleyville yesterday and about a thousand more were being taken out today.

Attack Suspect Arrested

The second suspect in an alleged rape last Sept. 13 of a runaway Belevedere girl was arrested by Fresno police yesterday, Marin County Sheriff's Inspector Harold Sleezer reported.

He identified the man as Tyrone Perry of Marin City. The officer said Perry was apprehended on a charge of assault with intent to rape. Perry made $1,650 bail in Fresno, the inspector added.

The other suspect, Robert Freeman, 21, San Francisco, was arrested Nov. 18 on a charge of rape by threatening bodily harm, but is in Napa State Hospital for observation after attempting suicide in Marin County Jail.

Officers said the runaway girl, aged 16, told them four days after the alleged assault that two men approached her at Marin Bus City bus stop and she joined them for a walk.

The attack occurred in the vicinity of Manzanita School, she said.

Lee Closing Arguments Presented

Closing arguments in the felony hit-run trial of John P. Lee, 34, were presented today in Marin Superior Court. The case was expected to go to the jury this afternoon.

Lee, formerly of San Anselmo, is accused of failing to halt his vehicle after striking bicyclist Robert G. Miller, 12, of 30 Corte Loyola, Greenbrae, last July 9.

In testimony yesterday, Lee said he "heard a crash" while he was driving on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard at La Cuesta Drive that day, but didn't know what he struck.

He said eye trouble has caused him to drive with sun glasses for several years, that he was nearly blinded by the evening sun and was unaware if he ran a red traffic light at the intersection.

According to Lee, he then couldn't find a place to halt his vehicle at the accident scene, and continued on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard until the first island turn, where he returned to the intersection.

Lee testified he was "paralyzed" with shock when a motorist, Robert F. McCullough of 79 Almenar Drive, Greenbrae, halted him and informed him he had struck the boy.

Lee said he cried, "Oh, my God! Call an ambulance! Please call an ambulance."

McCullough, who testified earlier, was called again to the witness stand. He declared he never heard Lee speak these words.

Store owner George Hoyle said hundreds of drugs were taken from their regular places. He estimated that more than $1,000 worth of goods were missing from the store, including 32 watches ranging from $9.75 to $25 in price.

The second floor offices of Robert H. Andresen, attorney, were entered via a window at the rear but Andresen said nothing appeared to be missing. A window to Andresen's office had been left ajar. Footprints were found on Andresen's glass-topped table.

Sellers said the hole in the wall was 14 by 11 inches.

PLAN

lives in Alto, an area now considering incorporation, was one member of the audience. The other two were Mrs. Erickson and Erickson's assistant, Roberta Rosenthal.

Erickson said he used these assumptions to create the plan: the Northwestern Pacific Railroad will be allowed to abandon service through Mill Valley; a future rapid transit route will go east of Highway 101; about 150 acres of open water will be preserved; main civic facilities will remain in Lytton Square area; the city will assume eventual political jurisdiction over most of the areas within the planning area now under county jurisdiction, and a freeway between Highways 101 and Shoreline will lead to west Marin via Tennessee Valley.

Erickson envisions three main shopping areas, the Locust Center which would stop being a "strip" development on Miller Avenue and expand into Homestead Valley; an area along Highway 101, and an area near Tennessee Valley Road and Shoreline Highway.

Abandonment of the railroad right-of-way would bring water closer to the city near Camino Alto. A recreational area is recommended for Coyote Creek near Shoreline Highway.

Sycamore Avenue extension, now planned to go through from Camino Alto to Highway 101 service road, should end at the city yacht harbor and Enchanted Knolls school site.

Lomita Avenue is proposed to be located along the railroad right-of-way to a point beyond Alto School, and there should be a road link, between Mill Valley and Sausalito Street in Corte Madera.

Erickson's plan suggests that Pacific Gas and Electric Co.'s 11 acres and old station be added to the city for possible recreational use. He recommends that undeveloped hillside land behind Alto homes be zoned for 1.5 dwelling units per acre.

Commissioner Edward J. Boessenecker commented that if rapid transit comes to southern Marin, the only practical route is along the present railroad line.

1965 Sports Coupe Stolen From Lot

A 1965 sports coupe owned by the Ford Motor Co. was stolen from the rear lot at Ames Ford Sales, 619 Francisco Boulevard, San Rafael, yesterday, according to San Rafael police.

Rehabilitation Center Bid Is Accepted

Marin County supervisors yesterday accepted a $486,500 bid for construction of a family rehabiljtation center and other structures at the county farm on Lucas Valley Road.

The contract was awarded to Paul V. Wright and Ben Oretsky of Santa Rosa to construct the center, a three-classroom school building and a dining-kitchen-laundry facility at juvenile hall.

The bid was challenged by the second low bidder, Zoellner Construction Co. of Ross, but the board proceeded after County Counsel Douglas J. Maloney said the points of challenge were debatable.

Because the costs were 4.3 per cent above the estimate, the board deleted the alternates for a fireplace and folding partitions.

Prior to accepting the bids the board was asked to consider the effect of a proposed shopping center at Lucas Valley and County Farm roads on operation of the center, which would house disturbed teen-agers.

Chief Probation Officer Walter H. Busher said the shopping center might be an attraction that would spur flirting between center residents and local teenagers. It also would create a problem of noise and would complicate the job of maintaining privacy, he said.

Supervisors agreed to consider more planting to screen the center and other changes that would minimize the effect of the shopping center.

The shopping center, proposed by Eichler Homes, was originally scheduled for another location farther east, but was switched to County Farm Road.

Supervisors postponed action for one week on Eichler's application for a use permit so minor changes could be considered.

Catholics To Hear Mass In English

Catholics in Marin County will hear Mass said in English Sunday.

Except for a few earlier demonstrations at St. Raphael's in San Rafael, it will be the first and most extensive use of English in the service here.

English is replacing much of the Latin in churches throughout the San Francisco Archdioces Sunday in compliance with a decision of the Second Vatican Council in Rome.

Opening prayers at the foot of the altar will still be in Latin, but the Introit, Kyrie and Gloria will be in English. The Collect will continue to be in Latin.

There will be prayer responses in English from the congregation.

Archbishop Joseph T. McGucken, just back from the Ecumenical Council in Rome, said the change will elevate spectators into participants in the ancient ceremony. He said there undoubtedly will be some Catholics who will "take a few weeks to get used to it."

"On the whole, I think the English Mass is going to have a unifying effect," he said.

They Have Fast Day At Seminary

While others were nibbling at the Thanksgiving feast to come tomorrow, students and professors at Golden Gate Baptist Theological Seminary today observed a fast day.

The Student Assembly proclaimed the day "Thanksgiving Fast Day" and only soup was served instead of the regular full hot meal in the cafeteria of the seminary in Strawberry.

The regular 75-cent price tag remained the same. Proceeds will go to some organization for the relief of hunger, the Student Assembly reported.

Dixie Board Discusses Music Aides

The Dixie School District board last night requested a new job description and salary schedule for the district's music director.

The present job description and salary schedule was adopted when the district had two persons in the music department and 1,500 pupils Supt. Dennie B. Willis reported. The board agreed the job has changed as the district has grown to 4,000 pupils, and four fulltime music teachers.

The Dixie School District board also:

1. Appointed W. A. Craig of 379 Holly Drive to the district's advisory finance committee.
2. Accepted the resignation of Barbara Albertazzi, sixth grade teacher at Bernard Hoffman School, who is moving.
3. Authorized purchase of a lift trailer at cost of $900, to be used to transport maintenance equipment from school to school.
4. Granted Terra Linda Athletic League permission to leave its equipment storehouse on the Vallecito School grounds for the next three months.
5. Granted Miss Daisy Hatten, fifth grade teacher at Mary E. Silveira School, a sabattical leave to study linguistics as related to the elementary school educational program.
6. Directed Willis to prepare a plan which will enable intern supervisors to work with more intern teachers and serve part-time as special teachers.
7. Granted maternity leaves to Mrs. Diane Dougherty, second grade teacher at Lucas Valley School, and Mrs. Joan Blaney, third grade teacher at Don Timoteo School, and a leave of absence to Mrs. Barbara Gowman, special teacher at Don Timoteo School.
8. Canceled the scheduled Dec. 9 board meeting and set the next meeting for Dec. 17.

Burglaries Reported To Sheriff

Three burglaries, including the ransacking of Bel Aire School classrooms in Tiburon, were reported today by Marin County sheriff's officers.

John C. Fitch, school principal, told deputies he discovered the burglary Monday on arriving at the school. He said empty ice cream and milk containers had been scattered over a play area, and small change was taken from classroom desks.

No forced entry was evident, however, Fitch reported.

Esther L. Snyder, 794 Las Colindas Road, Terra Linda, told deputies a $90 trumpet was taken from a rear bedroom closet during the past month. She said she didn't know how entry was gained.

Henry H. Fogel, San Francisco, reported theft of Christmas packages containing five sweaters and three pair of men's trousers from the trunk of his car yesterday. The vehicle was in a parking lot at Sabella's Restaurant, 555 Redwood Highway, Alto.

Novato Woman Hurt In Crash

Mrs. Ruth Gibby, 47, of 1016 Third Street, Novato, was injured at 10:26 a.m. today in a car-truck accident at Center Road and Wilson Avenue, Novato.

She was treated at Novato General Hospital for multiple cuts on her face and arms.

Mrs. Gibby was eastbound on Center Road when her car collided with a dump truck driven by Frank Espinal, 26, of Petaluma, going north on Wilson Avenue, Novato police reported.

In the car with Mrs. Gibby were Mrs. Billie Vaughn of 62 Buena Vista, Novato, and her two children, Karen, 4, and Carol, 3, who were not injured.

The services will be conducted in an uncompleted courtyard of Wurster Hall, headquarters of the College of Environmental Design, of which Mrs. Wurster was associate dean.

Mrs. Wurster, a distinguished city planner, apparently fell while hiking on the mountain and struck her head, suffering a concussion. She was found after a search by more than 300 volunteers, sheriff's deputies and firemen.

She is survived by her husband; a daughter, Sarah Louise; her mother, Mrs. Jacob L. Bauer of Princeton, N.J.; a brother, Jacob L. Bauer of Mountain City, Tenn., and a sister, Mrs. Kenneth Kassler of Princeton, N.J.

Funeral services are private.

Mrs. Shockley, 55, died in a Vallejo hospital Monday after an illness of three months.

She and her husband, Frank Shockley who survives her, operated a tavern in downtown Vallejo. They sold it a month ago.

Mrs. Shockley moved from San Rafael to Vallejo 20 years ago. During World War II she was a civilian worker at the Mare Island Naval Shipyard.

In addition to her husband, she leaves a daughter, Mrs. Lois McCormack of Hawaii; a son, George Fontes of Mill Valley; a brother, Joseph J. Capelli of San Rafael, and two sisters, Mrs. Florin Mazolli of San Rafael and Mrs. Mary Leo of San Francisco.

Rosary will be recited at 8 p.m. tomorrow at the Colonial Chapel, 1000 Redwood Street, Vallejo. Burial will be at Mount Olivet Cemetery, San Rafael.

MRS. FLEGAL

Memorial services for Mrs. Walter J. Flegal and her daughter Eleanor, of Sausalito, who died in a Rome plane crash today, will be held at 10 a.m. Friday in Christ Episcopal Church, Sausalito.

Rev. John Thornton will conduct the service. Mrs. Flegal and her daughter will be buried in Clearfield, Pa.

The two women, who lived at 30 Spencer Court, Sausalito, were en route to Nubia, Sudan, when the plane crashed during takeoff from Rome's Fiumicino Airport.

Novato Asks County's Help In Try For New Library Building

The City of Novato will ask Marin County to build a new branch county library in Novato.

That was the upshot of discussion that took the first one and one-half hours of a four-hour Novato City Council meeting last night.

Council members were obviously torn between two approaches: asking the county to build a branch financed from county library taxes (as advocated by City Administrator J. Julien Baget) or agreeing to city inclusion in a county services area to levy its own tax for a library building (as advocated by a citizen committee headed by Jerrold D. Moore). In the end, however, they voted unanimously to try the county first.

1. "Affirm as a basic policy that library services and construction of a new Novato library is a county responsibility."

2. "Recommend the Marin County Board of Supervisors have the county staff, in cooperation with the city staff, vigorously investigate all possible means of obtaining interim improved facilities" to replace the 1,500-square foot branch library now in Novato until a new building is erected.

3. "Request the board of supervisors, as a policy matter, to finance a new Novato library within the present county library district" from its library tax.

4. "Request the board of supervisors to immediately apply for a federal 50 per cent library construction grant for a new Novato library.

5. "Recommend the board of supervisors ask the Marin County Employees Retirement Fund Board to consider a construction loan for a new Novato library."

Eventually he got all but the last, although in slightly modified form. And Alfred W. Bowman, a member of the county employees retirement fund board, arose in the audience to say his board would welcome such a loan request. It is having difficulty finding good places to invest its funds, he said.

Baget's recommendations were strongly opposed by Moore, who tied his urging for a county services area largely to the need to accept—before it is too late—an offer by Harry Heifetz of a 60-acre free site in his Scottsdale subdivision.

(A county services area is a taxing entity set up by the board of supervisors on vote of the residents, and may be for almost any purpose. The supervisors levy the taxes for it and operate it; it has no board of its own. The supervisors cannot include a city in a county services area without the city council's consent.)

Moore said no interim quarters are available in Novato, the county supervisors would never agree to building a Novato branch library with taxes raised county-wide, and "if we pass it (the gift of land) up, we're losing $157,000."

Peter Ferrarese, also a member of the citizens library committee, urged the county services area be put on the ballot "just as soon as possible." He and Moore talked of combining it with an April election. (There will be a trustee election in the new Novato Unified School District in April.)

County Librarian Virginia Keating endorsed the county services area method of financing. She disagreed with a grand jury committee contention that Novatans are paying twice for the county library.

Baget, in his presentation, quoted from County Auditor-Controller Michael Mitchell's opinion that this would represent double taxation and that branch libraries should be financed from the county-wide tax.

Councilman J. Wayne Womack pointed out the 60 free acres are on the Scottsdale master plan as open land, so the city will get them whether it builds a library there or not.

Planning Director Robert Lagle said he could not recommend the Scottsdale site.

Finally, Womack moved the to declare its policy to build branch libraries from tax funds raised county-wide.

After that passed, Councilman William Jack Adams moved the council declare its policy to stay in the county library system rather than building a city library.

That one done, Adams moved for the city-county search for larger library quarters during the interim before a new building can be built. Then Womack moved the county be asked to apply for federal funds. All passed without dissent.

Baget then brought up No. 5 (the retirement fund loan), but Mayor Robert D. Carrow declared, "We'd really be getting ahead of ourselves."

The council did not turn down the possibility of a county services area. It left that for consideration in case the board of supervisors says "no" to county financing, as Adams predicted it will.

Meantime, the planning staff was asked to prepare a recommendation on site for the next council meeting, which will be Dec. 8.

Neighbors Lose On San Marin Protest

The Novato City Council last night approved the tentative map of San Marin Unit 9, and thereby tabbed rural Feliz Road to become a future major city street.

The 3-to-2 approval was over the protests of a score of residents on and near Feliz Road who were present in the council chamber. They made it plain they did not want their road widened and improved, and had noi ntention of paying for the improvements.

Voting against the map were Mayor Robert D. Carrow and Councilman Lucile Cannon. Carrow said he thought Sunset International Petroleum Co., developers of San Marin, should share in the cost of widening Feliz Road outside the subdivision. Mrs. Cannon felt the proposed widening unnecessary.

The planning commission had imposed a dozen conditions on approval of the map for the 151-lot unit of the vast San Marin development. One of them was that a barricade should be placed at the connection of Feliz Road within the subdivision and the existing Feliz Road, to be removed only when the latter is improved to a 60-foot city street with curbs and gutters.

Attorney Albert Bianchi of Mill Valley, who spoke for the opponents (with plenty of help from them), called this a subterfuge. Obviously the city planned to improve Feliz Road, either by assessment district or with gasoline tax funds, he said. Nobody on the council contradicted him.

Several of the protestors urged connection into the new San Marin subdivision be via Lees Lane, a narrow, winding street even more rural than Feliz Road. Planning director Robert Lagle insisted that would be impractical and would destroy the traffic pattern.

The Novato City Council Also:

1. Presented Mrs. Phoebe Barlow with a certificate in appreciation of her work as Novato United Nations Day chairman.

2. Adopted by unanimous vote an ordinance rezoning 12 subdivisions to single family residential.

3. Put off action on a proposal by Wilsey, Ham and Blair, Millbrae engineers and planning consultants, to prepare a precise plan for downtown Novato. Lagle urged action be held up until the new North Marin Master Plan is submitted.

4. On suggestion of Alfred W. Bowman of the Downtown Improvement Assn., authorized City Mgr. J. Julien Baget to prepare certificates recognizing owners of six downtown business properties for repainting and beautifying their buildings. The six are: Bea's Sew-Sew Shop, Tobin's Appliance Shop, Ben Franklin Store, Bettencourt's Antique Shop, Novato Men's Store, and Graham Medical Building.

5. On suggestion of Richard P. Nave, chamber of commerce president, authorized Mayor Carrow to write the State Division of Highways asking that it again put the former Grant School property on the market. Three public sale offerings of the property, at minimum bids of $210,000, $197,000 and $175,000, have failed to produce a buyer.

6. Accepted deeds of property for street widening from Chapel of Marin, J. Richard and Vada K. Hansen, William and Marianne S. Thomas, Edward L. and Sarah E. Brunetti, and Nave Brothers.

7. Introduced an ordinance making it a misdemeanor to operate a public parking lot in Novato which has not been surfaced to city specifications.

8. Authorized Mayor Carrow to write officials of the San Rafael Military Academy urging that it move to Novato. The academy, crowded in its San Rafael campus, is looking for another site. Planning director Lagle said he had been told North Marin is being considered.

Panel To Evaluate Marincello Program

The Marin Council for Civic Affairs and the Marin Federation of Improvement Clubs will sponsor a panel discussion on "Marincello and the Future of Marin" at 8 p.m. Dec. 2 in the supervisors' chambers at the Civic Center.

Chairman of the public meeting will be Mrs. Margaret Azevedo of Tiburon, former county planning commissioner. Members of the panel will be M. Justin Herman of Sausalito, redevelopment director for the City of San Francisco; Napthali Knox of Mill Valley, University of California community planner, and Michael Wornum, mayor of Mill Valley, architect and planning student at University of California.

Evaluation of the proposed 2,100-acre development in Southern Marin, its implications for future planning policies, its effects on the county, and realistic alternatives to the plan will be discussed at the meeting.

School Board Approves Plans For Additions

The San Rafael Board of Education last night approved detailed plans for an addition of four classrooms and a kindergarten at Gallinas School and directed they be submitted to the State Division of Architecture.

The architectural firm of Cantin and Associates estimated cost of the structures at $156,000. Marin County School Department will pay $60,000 of this, since the building will include classrooms for hard of hearing children from throughout the county.

The four-classroom addition will cost $104,000 and the separate kindergarten building was estimated at $28,000. Additional costs are site work, covered walks connecting the kindergarten building to the school, and carpeting for the hard-of-hearing classrooms.

Makeup Chief

County Is Dubious Of City's Plan

property rights accompany ownership of tidelands.

"In any event, a plan for the use of tidelands should not be extensive and should be predominately open rather than only 25 per cent," Dobbs said.

He told supervisors that there is a conflict between the San Rafael plan and the Las Gallinas Valley Master plan.

On either side of the railroad north of the Civic Center, San Rafael's plan indicates a professional-administrative area while the Gallinas plan shows tourist commercial.

"Another conflict is found between the forks of the Gallinas Creek where the San Rafael plan shows high density residential and the Gallinas plan shows lagoon development," Dobbs said.

Supervisors said these conflicts should not go unnoticed by San Rafael.

Dobbs also expressed doubts about plans for a large industrial area east of the railroad and north of the proposed eastward extension of Lucas Valley Road. "This is tied in with the bay fill problem," he said.

Supervisors agreed with the San Rafael plan on the need for an east-west freeway (Route 17) originating in the vicinity of San Rafael, but said they might not be unanimous on the location.

Dobbs said a connection from the vicinity of Bellam Boulevard to San Pedro Road should be shown on the San Rafael plan, even though the plan explains why it is not shown.

Supervisors also agreed that there was no need to indicate the route of a causeway south of San Pedro Point in the San Rafael plan, but rather just the idea.

The proposed freeway link should either point to the Richmond side of the bay, or merely indicate a connection with the Richmond-San Rafael Bridge or whatever traffic facility reaches the Richmond side, Dobbs suggested.

The freeway shown on the San Rafael plan is aimed to link up with a bay crossing in the vicinity of the Tiburon Peninsula and there might not be a bridge in that vicinity, he said.

Dobbs also said the hillside cluster areas indicated in the San Rafael plan are quite extensive, and in the main occur outside the city limits.

One of the drawbacks of the plan is that in the cluster areas it does not "attempt to solve the knotty problem of separating single families from multiple areas . . . perhaps resulting in a heterogeneous mixture of residential uses," he said.

Dobbs also noted that "there is not one major intensive use park in the plan." A city the size of San Rafael should have a major park system, but "it's just not shown," he said.

Dobbs did not comment on other aspects of the plan which, he said, "appear to be totally within the limits of San Rafael or are minor in nature."

Supervisors authorized him to present his views to the San Rafael council and stress the board's stand on fill, east-west freeway location, and areas where plans conflict.

Strep Infection Lead Increases

Forty-nine cases of streptococcic infection were reported to the Marin County Health Department last week, Dr. Carolyn B. Albrecht, county health officer, announced today.

Sixteen of the cases were in San Rafael, with Mill Valley close behind with 13 cases. Others were scattered.

Only other communicable disease cases reported were three of mumps, two of measles, and one of salmonella.

The President suddenly decided to make a 300-mile flying trip to the dinner, throwing secret service agents and others into a turmoil as he hitched a ride in Gov. Connally's small DC-3 aircraft which landed on the Mount Pleasant's dirt-runway airport. Watson, a key aide in Johnson's campaign, is rumored due for a Washington post.

Job Corps To Get Going Next Week

JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (AP) — Money to launch a nationwide campaign against poverty will soon be flowing to 32 states under the administration's anti-poverty program.

The first 120 projects to win approval were announced Tuesday by Sargent Shriver, the nation's antipoverty chief. They'll get a total of 35 million dollars out of the 800 million dollars approved by Congress for the first year of the program.

The biggest chunk — 15 million dollars—will be used to establish 41 Job Corps training centers where idle youth, 16 to 21, will receive basic education and perform conservation-type tasks.

A big recruiting job to get volunteers for the Job Corps will be launched next week. Most of the camps will be for boys, but a few will be set up for girls.

Another 13 million dollars will go for community-run programs such as training unemployed parents in job skills, and providing social services for impoverished areas.

Hub Council Hires, Zips Down Agenda

San Anselmo City Council hired a new police officer and zipped through nine other items on its agenda last night in 47 minutes.

Woodrow V. Capurro was acting mayor, in the absence of William Franchini, who was away on a business trip.

City councilmen hired Morgan A. Peterson of 170 Lavender Drive, Mill Valley, as police officer at $505 per month. He starts work next month.

Peterson is a Tamalpais Valley fireman and a reserve on the San Anselmo police force. Police Chief Raymond R. Buchignani said Morgan was number one on the police eligibility list.

The San Anselmo City Council Also:

1. Passed a resolution opposing any fare increase by Greyhound bus lines. Greyhound's request for an increase is scheduled for public hearing before the state Public Utilities Commission on Dec. 7.

2. Postponed a request by Wallace S. Myers and Robert P. Praetzel for a chance from zone 1 to zone 2 on a lot on Tunstead Avenue in Linda Vista Tract. They plan to build an office building on the lot. The postponement will give the fire chief a chance to review the request.

3. Established a no-parking zone along 100 feet of Lincoln Avenue (between 21 and 31 Lincoln Avenue) where it intersects with Bank Street. Police Chief Buchignani said parking there creates a traffic hazard.

4. Extended the eligibility list for police sergeant for another year. The existing list would expire on Dec. 3.

5. Reappointed Warren Landon as San Anselmo's representative to the Marin Mosquito Abatement District board.

6. Approved $12,517 in unbudgeted expenditures. The bulk of this was for the Caletta Avenue Bridge repair ($9,358) and sending the police chief to the FBI Academy ($1,500).

7. Re-introduced the city's new library ordinance because of word changes made at a meeting with library trustees two weeks ago.

8. Made appropriate accounting entries to make up for $358 stolen from the library during a burglast last August. City Controller A. C. Kaeppel said the loss is apparently not covered by insurance, although he is still looking into the possibility of collecting.

Nude Girl, 17, Found In Dorm

MARTINEZ (UPI) — Discovery of a nude 17-year-old girl in a dormitory at St. Mary's College has led to the suspension and arrest of three male students.

St. Mary's is an all-male school at Moraga.

The Contra Costa County sheriff's office said yesterday that the girl was discovered in the early morning hours Saturday by a student proctor.

College authorities called deputies, who took the girl into protective custody and arrested John Horgan of Reno, Nev.; William D. Kron of San Mateo, Calif., and Donald Delamain of El Sobrante, Calif. All are 20 years old and juniors at the college.

They were charged with contributing to the delinquency of a minor.

Synanon Actions Strain Relations With Marin

At the outset of the conrtoversy over Synanon's plans in Marshall, it wasn't too clear just what or how big the problem was.

But as the proposed plans were gradually disclosed, largely through press pronouncements, it seems to us that Synanon is getting a bit "pushy" in its effort to foist itself on the Marin County scene.

The purposes and goals of the Synanon Foundation may be noble, and its insistence on taking over the old Marconi property as one big, happy family, may be legal. (The legality has been questioned, and the courts will probably have the final say on this point.)

Synanon's contention seems to be that the 42-acre Marconi property is located in a residential-agricultural zone, which permits one-family and two-family dwellings. Therefore, since Synanon considers itself just one big family living as a single housekeeping unit, it has a right to settle there without a county use permit.

County officials don't see it that way and have started abatement proceedings against Synanon Foundation for not applying for a use permit.

Synanon certainly has a right to pursue any course to which it feels it may be legally entitled. But the course it has elected to take is not conducive to good relations between the Foundation and the County of Marin.

Whatever chance may have existed for a little give and take in negotiations with the county has been severely jeopardized. It appears that the ire of the county supervisors has been aroused to the point where any "give" by the county will have to be strictly because it is legally required to do so.

A Synanon "family" of 50 or 100 might have been palatable, but Synanon has since released information about an ultimate population of 5,000, with possible "exchange" of residents with New York.

Back in Connecticut, a court may well have ruled that the Synanon House was indeed a "single family dwelling." We don't know the details of that ruling or the size of the "single family."

A similar ruling may or may not be handed down in California. We don't presume to know the law on such matters.

But morally and on the basis of common sense, we, as one voice in Marin, cannot conceive how the definition of "one-family" can be stretched to include a conglomeration of 5,000 or more human beings from all parts of the country brought together only because they were at one time addicted to narcotics.

We agree with our county supervisors that "We don't interpret family the same way you (Synanon) do."

We feel that the county has acted with proper restraint thus far in the controversy. When an outsider enters the county and begins to get "pushy," our supervisors are entirely within their rights to push back.

Marin's Distinguished Winter Visitors

If you have berry bushes in your yard, you are probably well acquainted with the genteel, handsome, refined Mr. and Mrs. Cedar Waxwing. They are true aristocrats of the garden.

Their sleek, tailored appearance, waxy looking wings, and neat crested head give them a distinguished look. Their reddish-gray, cedar color adds to their attractiveness.

Their courtesy is fabulous. A group of Cedar Waxwings will land on a berry bush and one will pick a berry and pass it around. As it makes the rounds, it is almost as if the birds were saying, "After you." "No, I insist, after you."

They are a valuable bird, as they are particularly fond of certain destructive beetles and other insects.

Legislature May Take Look At State Civil Service System

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS)—It is possible the State Legislature may give more than a cursory glance at state civil service practices during the next session of the State Legislature, insofar as those practices apply to recruitment of personnel for state service.

UNDER THE constitutional amendment authorizing civil service, which was voted by the people some years ago in an effort to do away with the so-called spoils system under which an administration handed out jobs to party supporters, there was at least a supposed guarantee that the state would get the best qualified persons available to do the job in question.

However, the current inbreeding of state employees serves to thwart the original purpose of the act. This practice limits the competition for jobs to those already in state service. It is followed on the principle of maintaining good promotional patterns for state employees; the method by which it is accomplished in state service is subject to some question.

It is a fact there are very few jobs open to persons not already a state employee, so if one has a desire to be a chief clerk, he must start as an office boy.

THUS THE EXPERIENCED individual, trained in a profession or a business, or an executive capacity, virtually is barred from state employment, and as a result the people are deprived of the experience gained in private employment and, sometimes, in other departments as well.

Certainly the privilege of looking forward to promotions in state service should not be abridged. On the other hand, people who have gained their experience outside of state service should be allowed to compete for the higher class jobs. Those who are in state service and are really qualified for the next highest job offered would have little to fear from outside competition.

ANOTHER ITEM which can bear investigation is the rule which allows hiring one out of the first three highest on the eligible list.

Under this rule, if, say, 300 people pass an examination, the agency wanting starts at the top of the list and hires one of the first three.

Eventually, number 300 on the list becomes number one, although his examination grade score may be barely passing. And if a new examination is called to fill out the list with eligibles, the last individuals on the old list become the highest on the new list, which assures their hiring ahead of people who might be much better qualified to hold the job.

FUNDAMENTALLY, civil service could provide an excellent block against inefficiency in government, were it not abused to the point where it operates more for the benefit of the employee rather than for the people of the state, who incidentally pay the bills.

Other Kudos Asked On Bodega Issue

Editor, Independent-Journal:

I refer to your glowing editorial of Nov. 19, in which you so warmly praise PG&E for having been practically forced to abandon their proposed nuclear plant, intended for location in such dangerous proximity to the notorious San Andreas Fault as to have been inexcusable and arrogant contempt for the public safety.

It seems to me that your kudos could be at least divided a bit, so as to include the outstanding and relentless battle in BEHALF of public safety that was so well conducted by the Northern California Committee to Preserve Bodega Head, and . . . Mr. David Pesonen. . . . The many scientists and seismologists who supported the public position . . . were sincere and able volunteers, whose only reward was the public interest.

Finally . . . was the valiant battle . . . that was conducted within the Public Utilities Commission by Commissioner William Bennett, a fellow-Marinite. . . .

I think that we owe a great deal to these people and organizations for having pursued this battle year after year. . . .

GOP Convention Rigging Questioned

Editor, Independent-Journal:

I am a Republican, but in the last election I voted AGAINST Goldwater. And, like so many voters, I'm tired, tired, tired of voting for the "lesser of two evils." So, what do we do now? Mrs. Cochran's 11/17 letter mentions that when Goldwater was nominated it was "the will of the people."

I'm asking, WHAT people? Most of us have been lazy; have taken no part in Republican doings. Could this be why a small but dedicated group was able to ram the Goldwater nomination through at the Republican convention? And I do mean ram.

I was working in Heidelberg at the time, and the Armed Forces radio services gave excellent coverage. . . . Here, it seemed, was a Fascist-type minority, shouting down everything and anything proposed by anybody other than Der Fuhrer!

And the Germans made rare capital out of it. I had to talk hard, long, and fast, in both languages, reiterating that the U.S. people wouldn't go for that sort of deal. And, bless their bones, they didn't. But now, how did we get that way—so quickly? . . .

I want to see the Republican Party rebuild itself; purge itself of Fascists, sons of Birchers, et al, and get back to middle-of-the-road conservatism. I think it can be done, but it's going to take a lot of work on the part of people like me who heretofore have been lazy about their party. And I'd STILL like to know how the Republican national convention got itself so horribly rigged and strangled!

Bodega Decision Praise Rebutted

Editor, Independent-Journal:

The writer of your editorial of Nov. 19, "PG&E Deserves Praise For Decision On Bodega," must certainly be the most uninformed person in the Bay Area. PG&E decided not to build the atomic reactor at Bodega only when it became evident that they would not be permitted to do so.

"The first hint of danger" came several years ago—long before the millions were spent in site preparation — from recognized authorities who warned of the obvious danger of building such an atomic plant virtually upon an active earthquake fault. Ignoring these "hints," PG&E persisted until it became a certainty that their request to continue would be denied by the AEC. Then they withdrew their applications. And for this they deserve praise?

TRY AND STOP ME

BENNETT CERF

THE PROPRIETOR of a Washington restaurant feels himself qualified to print this analysis on the back of his menus: "If you like your eggs hard-boiled, you are persistent, dynamic, sincere; soft-boiled, gentle, patient, kind; medium-boiled, calm, cool, collected; poached, speedy, peppy, intelligent; scrambled, artistic, nervous, passionate; shirred, fastidious, romantic, sensitive; raw, overbearing, conceited."

A FIVE-YEAR-OLD boy came home from his first day at kindergarten. "How big is your class?" his mother asked him. With considerable disgust the manly lad replied, "Four other fellows, and about a half a million girls."

BARMATES AT a Yonkers pub salute a confrere whose dog promptly obeys the command, "Go take a walk and get back here in five minutes." What's more he's back in the pub, wagging his tail, exactly three hundred seconds later. Pressed for an explanation, the dog's owner points out, "He simply looks at the clock on City Hall." One customer refused to accept this explanation, however. "That's poppycock," he announced. "Dogs can't see that far."

ROSCOE DRUMMOND

Satellite Nations Pulling Away From Kremlin Control

BERLIN—The most significant single event in Europe today is that the Soviet Union is continuing to lose control in the Eastern European satellites.

A RADICALLY changed relationship is now almost complete. The whole thrust is away from Moscow. It is doubtful that it can be reversed.

While the people of these nations — especially Poland, Czechoslovakia, Hungary and Rumania—remain the captives of their Communist regimes, the governments are no longer the captives of the Soviets.

What we are witnessing is not an anti-Communist revolution but a bloodless anti-Soviet revolution.

The most revealing change of all is that, while the Soviet Union could and would use the Red Army, if necessary, to crush any internal revolt against these Communist regimes, it is no longer open to the Soviets to use force to hold the regimes themselves in line.

THIS BREAKUP of the Kremlin's front-yard empire began with the rise of Nikita Khrushchev and is being accelerated by his fall.

When the Eastern European Communist leaders demanded an explanation of why the new Soviet leadership deposed Khrushchev, the Soviets did not dare tell them to mind their own business. With nervous haste Premier Aleksei Kosygin and party chief Leonid Brezhnev rushed off to the polish frontier for a secret conference with the Polish leader Wladyslaw Gomulka to assure him that everything would be the same as before.

The result is that the Eastern European regimes are achieving an independence which seemed impossible a few years ago. Every sign is that the trend will continue in the same direction.

There are several reasons.

The most important is that the shortcomings of Soviet communism are increasingly evident to the Communist leaders of Eastern Europe. The Soviet Union is no longer accepted as either the pillar or the pattern of what they want to achieve for their own countries.

They are breaking their artificial ties with Moscow and turning to their historic associations with the West, especially Western Europe. A very knowledgeable and objective German expert on Soviet affairs recently visited nearly all the "satellites." He told me he was struck by the evidence that they look upon democratic West Germany, not upon Kremlin-controlled East Germany, as the wave of the future.

MORE AND MORE, Eastern Europeans are travelling to Western Europe and vice versa. More than 200,000 Westerners, mostly West Germans and Italians, visited Hungary alone. A Hungarian trade mission was recently in Washington and Eastern Europe's economic ties with all of Western Europe are being strengthened.

There is no evidence whatsoever that these Communist regimes are going to yield their dictatorship over their peoples or give them the freedom to have governments of their own choosing. But they are moving away from doctrinaire communism.

Life is more bearable. A kind of competitive, consumer economy is coming into being. It is nearer to state capitalism than it is to traditional Marxism. Farming is partially returning to private hands. The profit motive is getting freer play. Factory owners have to compete and work on the basis of supply and demand.

INSIDE WASHINGTON

Battle Of Sexes On In White House

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — The outwardly sedate and decorous White House palace guard is seething with some of the scrappiest "fussin' and feudin'" the fascinated capital has relished in quite a while.

TWO "NAME" personalities of the executive staff are at it hot and heavy — apparently over one of their jobs.

They are George Reedy, shaggy, deliberate, long-time press secretary of the president, and Elizabeth (Liz) Carpenter, brisk, whip-smart "press secretary and staff director" of Mrs. Lady Bird Johnson.

With the thunderous fusillading of the election battle over, Washington, which revels in backstage intrigues and rhubarbs, is following this one with intense delight and absorption.

Bets are even being offered on the outcome.

On one occasion, both Reedy and Liz phoned contacts on a national publication complaining about the other. The two correspondents discovered these rival versions when they sought each other's counsel on what to do about the unwonted confidences.

It appears that Liz has two ambitions:

To become THE press secretary of the White House, and to make her good friend, Mrs. Esther Peterson, assistant secretary of labor and special assistant to the president for consumer affairs, the secretary of labor.

An ardent feminist, it is Liz' fond hope to see Mrs. Peterson, a militant liberal, installed as the first woman member of the Johnson Cabinet.

All this is not lost on Reedy.

That's how he pinpointed the source of the recent flurry of news stories that he was weary of his strenuous job and had asked the president to be given something else. Reedy flatly denied that to old press friends.

With unusual feeling he told them that throughout the many years he had worked for Johnson, he was steadfastly convinced Johnson would sometime be president and Reedy would be the White House press secretary. This had been a long-cherished dream, and neither he nor the president had any thought of shattering it now.

Quite the contrary. Reedy pointed out that, at the express request of the president, he has taken over some of the functions of Walter Jenkins since his explosive resignation as assistant to the president.

A close friend of Liz, invited to the LBJ ranch recently, urged the women reporters present to tell both the first lady and the president how highly they regarded Liz. Without exception, they do. So it was easy for them to comply with this "suggestion."

"Liz is a wonderful person," heartily agreed the first lady. "What I particularly like about her is that she is so elastic. She will suggest six or seven bright ideas, which I often reject. But that doesn't discourage her. She will come up with her. She will come up with another, which usually is just what I want and which I accept."

Cunningham Sides With Goldwater About Press

HEADLINES SHOULD be abolished.

We make this fearless, forthright statement as the result of a private, and very limited, study on the subject of those bold, brazen chunks of heavy type and their impact on people who read (and write) the stories beneath them.

Naturally, we risk the wrath of some of our own colleagues (namely the headline writers) with such a pronouncement.

But we suspect that if you got most any newspaperman—headline writer or otherwise—in a quiet corner somewhere, he could tell you the darn things can be a real headache.

Most people don't think about headlines. They just read them and react to them by buying papers, becoming hysterical or cursing the people who print them.

Election post-mortems, however, have put a new spotlight on the role "heads" play in relation to stories. A top Republican recently conceded that at least some of the stories about Senator Goldwater were fair. It was the headlines, however, which somebody put on top of them after they were written—that was what hurt the candidate, he said.

READING THIS made us feel a little less like a persecuted member of the sensation-seeking press. In fact, we nearly wrote the man a letter of praise.

Those fellows on the other side of the room do it, folks. For they are the only ones who know things like where a story will go on the page, how many columns wide it will run or what size type it calls for.

It ain't always easy. We have tried it a few times. Putting a one-column head on a story about, say, the continuing summer seminar of the International Institute for Existen- quite a problem.

SO WE MEAN nothing personal, fellows, We know you don't like cliches any better than we do. But when a man has tried for 20 minutes to shoe-horn a big idea into a tiny space, the first cliche to come along can be a welcome sight.

So, newspapers have words like "dope-fiend" and "hot tial Studies, well, that can be rodders" and "cop" and "slayer," and these terms make various groups of people very mad from time to time.

And any harried reporter can recite an experience or two when he wrote a nice, inoffensive little story, then those fellows (equally harried) went to work with the shoe-horn and something like "hot rodders" or "Keystone Cops" wound up on top of it.

We meet a policeman friend on the street and he says, "Thanks a lot, pal," without smiling. Or the mother of a well-behaved teen-ager calls up and asks why all newspapermen hate young people.

WE NEVER KNOW what to say. We try, sometimes, to tell them about our own feelings toward headlines, but it sounds too much like an alibi, and perhaps in a way it is. The press is the press is the press, as far as readers are concerned, and the guy with the pencil has to share the gore with the glory.

But we sometimes wish we could hand the pencil and the shoe-horn to our detractors for a little while.

THIS IS WHAT happened.

A few days after the election President de Gaulle's foreign minister came into his office and said, "Monsieur le president, I have just received word from our ambassador concerning your state visit to the United States. I have the tentative schedule with me."

"Good What time do I get to Washington?"

"Alors?"

"We will fly directly from Paris to Texas, where you and Mrs. de Gaulle will be met by President Johnson and Mrs. Johnson in a golf cart."

"HAVE YOU BEEN drinking?"

"No, Monsieur le president. It is traditional on the LBJ ranch to ride around in a golf cart, and our security people feel it's safer than if you drove around with him in his Lincoln Continental."

De Gaulle said, "I am not going."

"Please, Monsieur le president, listen to the rest of the schedule. After the tour you will go to the main house to rest and meet the president's relatives. Then you will be measured for a 10-gallon hat and cowboy boots."

"I HAVE THE BOMB. I do not have to go."

"But, Monsieur le president, Chancellor Erhard did it. After the measurements, you and Mrs. de Gaulle will be escorted outside to a barbecue."

"What is a barbecue?"

"It is a Western-type dinner consisting of pork ribs, sausages, beef briskets and chicken legs cooked over a smoky fire and smeared with a very hot sauce. For dessert there is fried apple pie, served with six-shooter coffee."

"I AM NOT ONLY not going, I am getting out of NATO."

"Monsieur le president, our ambassador says it is important that you and the president sit down and talk."

"Probably after you write your name in a block of cement. It takes the place of laying a wreath."

"Monsieur le ministre, I think I must ask you to resign."

"I AM ONLY repeating what is in the cable."

"But when do I get to talk to the president?" de Gaulle said.

"Right after the sheepdog act. You will witness trained dogs rounding up sheep on the ranch. It's quite moving. Then you will have your talk. After the talk there will be a joint press conference held on a bale of hay and protocol hopes you will wear your Texas hat when you appear for it."

"Is that all?" de Gaulle said.

"THERE IS ONE more paragraph. The ambassador wants to know what are your feelings about getting on a horse?"

Garbage Ordinance Enacted By Group

Homestead Valley Sanitary District directors Monday night enacted the district's first garbage ordinance, which will enable it to contract for garbage collection service and insure a place to dispose of garbage.

WAR REQUIEM REHEARSAL—Sandor Salgo rehearses the Marin Symphony Orchestra for its opening performance of the coming season, a performance of Benjamin Britten's "War Requiem."

Marin Symphony Guild's Season To Open Dec. 6

Marin County, for the second time in less than a year, will be the site of a California premiere of a major orchestral-choral work.

This time it will be Benjamin Britten's cantata, "War Requiem," only two years old and already described by many critics as the "choral masterwork of the century."

Credit for bringing this to Marin County goes to the Symphony Guild of Marin and the Winifred Baker Chorale, who will present it jointly on Dec. 6 at 7:30 p.m. in Redwood High School gymnasium.

To present the "War Requiem" requires a full symphony orchestra (the Marin Symphony), a 12-piece chamber orchestra, adult and children's choirs (the 90-voice Winifred Baker Chorale and 65-voice Children's Chorus), three soloists and two conductors.

Soloists will be Marin's soprano Gwen Curatilo and baritone Byron Jones and tenor Edward Jameson of San Francisco.

The proposal to unify all school districts within the high school district as a single district was defeated by voters in June.

An Open Letter To All Marin
REPUBLICANS

The rumor currently circulating about the death of the Republican Party is (as Ike might say) pure tommyrot! In fact, the Grand Old Party is very much alive, active, and healthy and will remain so because its principles dwell in the hearts and minds of Americans all across the land.

However, as we ponder the future course of our party, a vital, and oftentimes disturbing, question enters our mind: Can we count on you? Are you going to sit along the sidelines letting others decide matters which affect your party, your country, and your family's future? Or are you going to make your voice and views heard in a meaningful way, starting right now?

The Marin Republican Council, now in its fifth year, has grown in stature and size to its present membership of nearly 400 Marin Republican families. This has come about because M.R.C. has demonstrated that it is not a fair-weather meet-eat-and-retreat fraternity of now-and-then political pundits and cocktail circuit orators who emerge only when the band starts playing and the bunting is in place.

To the contrary, M.R.C. is a dynamic organization providing party leadership and activity on a year-round basis with dedication and purpose, and in harmony with all segments of our party.

We invite you to look into M.R.C. and then to join with us in the task that lies ahead. The coupon below will bring you more information about M.R.C.—or if you prefer, call any of the directors listed below.

Please don't put it off! Too many already have waited too long.

OTHER PEOPLE'S BUSINESS

By HARRY CRAFT

Appliance Repairers Decide To Sell Goods–Open Next Week

After 14 years repairing appliances, J and J Appliance Service, San Rafael has decided to sell them. Ergo, Harry Johnston has leased Dahnken's former store at 1205 Third Street through business opportunist Harry Abras and is stocking it with refrigerators, ranges, washing machines and dryers, dishwashers and television sets.

He should be open for business by the first of next week, and the following weekend have his grand opening sale.

Service department will continue at 414 C Street.

MR. AND MRS. GEORGE THOMAS, who live at Peacock Gap, have been trying for a long time to find property in Marin for a mobile home park —but the only site they liked was on Lucas Valley Road—and the owner wouldn't sell.

Looking a little farther north, they located one, just what they wanted, on McDowell Road, near the Washington Shopping Center in Petaluma. So ground was broken on the 16-acre site last week for Candlewood Park, designed for 142 mobile homes, pool, dining and recreation hall, laundry area and underground utilities, including TV and FM coaxial cables.

Weather permitting, first section will be ready about next February.

NOW IN THE BUSINESS of buying old houses and redesigning and remodeling them is Corky Jones of San Anselmo. It's a sort of combination of natural talents and past experience. Years ago she was in real estate sales; she used to create new designs in women's wear; more recently she was at the White House in San Francisco. Putting them all together, they came out interior decorating—so she decided to go on her own.

SAN RAFAEL TOY SHOP owner Walter E. Zurcher is the subject of a three-page pictorial feature in the Nov. 1 issue of Toys and Novelties trade magazine. Zurcher is cited for his choice of 833 Fourth Street as an outstanding location in his move early this year, window and shelf displays and arrangement of merchandise.

FRANK R. HAMMOND, newly of Tiburon, has joined the technical staff of Shell Development Company's Emeryville research center as a mathematician in the applied mathematics department. He was previously with an electronics firm in Newport Beach.

MARIN residents Joe De Grace of Corte Madera and Fred Reusche of Tiburon, operating as Reusche De Grace, a San Francisco advertising agency, have taken on three more steamship and freight accounts —which now gives them an even dozen. New to the roster are Harper, Robinson and Co., Circle Airfreight Corp. and Jayanti Steamship Line.

NOTHING inaccessible Larkspur Toyota Land Cruiser dealer Hil Probert, who delights in finding difficult locations to test out his four-wheel drive product, is now putting it at the disposal of any Marin real estate broker who wishes to show a prospect Marin County ranch lands.

A. E. HICKEY, manager of the San Rafael office of Household Finance Corp., notes that his company has just mailed out $92,050 in checks to 531 privately supported liberal arts colleges. Checks ranged from $100 to $1,000 each, based upon full-time enrollment.

HFC established its college gift program in 1956. Since then, $650,000 has been paid out to four-year accredited colleges and universities in the 47 states in which the corporation operates.

Kaiser Steel Employees Gain

OAKLAND (AP) — Kaiser Steel employees have gained six million dollars in 20 months under the Kaiser-United Steelworkers Long Range Sharing Plan, the union and employer reported today.

October savings of $296,979 will be shared by 5,200 employees of the Kaiser Steel plant at Fontana. Of this $164,127 is distributed in cash, for an average bonus of $32.

The remaining $132,852 will help pay for longer vacations and better insurance, health and hospitalization. This year more than 1,000 participating employees have had extended 13 week vacations, with the major cost paid by the plan.

Varian Associates Announces Losses

PALO ALTO (UPI)—Varian Associates, producers of microwave tubes and other electronic equipment, has reported a net loss of $1,091,498 or 26 cents per share in fiscal 1964.

U.S., Britain Bank Action Needed To Protect Money

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP) — Speedy defense is counted upon to protect the world's two most important currencies—the American dollar and the British pound.

And the speed with which the two nations moved after a speculative run started against the pound also is seen as a measure of the danger which such a run posed for the whole delicate balance of international finance.

London's move was drastic—a quick raising of the Bank of England's lending rate to 7 per cent from 5 per cent. Washington's move was moderate, an equally quick raising of the Federal Reserve's discount rate to four per cent from three and one-half per cent. This was a gesture of warning that the dollar would be defended from raiders rather than a real deterrent to any possible big loss of dollars overseas.

Higher interest rates at these basic levels is likely to mean higher borrowing costs in time through much of the economies of the two nations. And that in turn can dampen some business expansion, some consumer buying.

Neither is eager for that. The real aim is quite different. In London's case it is to halt the outflow of the pound sterling because imports top exports to a dangerous degree. In Washington's case it is to hold the outflow of dollars to a modest stream rather than a possible torrent.

That Britain's financial troubles should affect the cost of Americans doing business at home might seem far fetched. But the dollar and the pound are used as the standards of foreign exchange for most of the world's trade this side of the Iron Curtain. If the pound wobbles, the dollar can't escape entirely unscathed—nor can many of the other currencies of the world.

That probably is why Washington moved with unexpected speed, relying on the ounce of prevention of raising interest charges on short-term lending. That was to ward off any rush to ship American dollars to the high-yield London market.

Washington also sought to halt any fears that higher interest charges would choke off the current economic growth rate, as costly borrowing has been accused of doing in the past.

Stress is being laid on the large amount of investment funds available to finance consumer and business activities. This supply is counted upon to keep long-term interest rates from going up much if short-term ones do. And the Federal Reserve will let commercial banks seek still more investment funds by raising the interest they can pay on savings accounts held less than a year.

It may be some time before all these adjustments in interest rates are made. Banks may take their time about raising the charges on their loans to business firms or the interest paid on savings accounts. Prices of short-term securities will be adjusted to the new discount rate.

ALMANAC

Today is Wednesday, Nov. 25, the 330th day of 1964 with 36 to follow.

The moon is approaching its last quarter. The morning stars are Venus, Mars and Jupiter. The evening stars are Jupiter and Saturn.

Pope John XXIII was born on this day in 1881.

On this day in history:

In 1944, the U.S. War Refugee Board charged Germany with mass murder.

A thought for the day: Mark Twain said: "Habit is habit, and not to be flung out of the window by any man, but coaxed down stairs one step at a time."

TIME AND TIDE

Department of Commerce, United States Coast Geodetic Survey, Western District headquarters. Times and heights of tides at San Francisco (Golden Gate):

Use Perishable Tricks Before They Turn Sour

Some tricks are perishable merchandise. Use them early, or they'll turn sour.

This is especially true in crossruff hands, where it is a sound rule to cash high cards in the side suits before you start serious ruffing.

Opening lead — ♣ Q

South ruffed the opening club lead and purred with delight as he saw the spade shortness in dummy. He could ruff spades in the dummy and clubs in his own hand. What could be sweeter?

CASHED ACE

Declarer immediately cashed the ace and king of spades and led a spade to ruff in dummy with a high trump. East could not over-ruff, but could and did discard a heart. Now South could never get a heart trick.

South managed to ruff his remaining spades in dummy and ruffed clubs to get to his own hand.

Eventually, East even threw away the ace of hearts. South wound up with three hearts, and East had three trumps to take the last three tricks.

START HEARTS

Declarer thus discovered that it's very hard to take eleven tricks if you give the last three tricks to an opponent.

South must start on the hearts at the second trick. East takes the ace of hearts and returns a trump to South's eight.

TOP SPADES

Declarer cashes the top spades and proceeds to ruff spades in the dummy and clubs in his own hand.

He takes his own five trumps, three ruffs in dummy and two top spades—the same 10 tricks made by the actual declarer.

The important difference is that the expert declarer also gets a heart trick, and this trick happens to be worth game and rubber.

What do you say?

Answer: Bid four spades.

The leap to game in a major promises fine trump support (usually five or more cards), a singleton or void in a side suit, and not more than 9 points in high cards.

Clock Shocked, Now It Runs Backwards

AVON PARK, Fla. (AP)—The clock on the wall of the Li'l General Store on Main Street must have got quite a shock.

A customer noticed that it was running backward. Yes, said Mrs. Sara Houpe, the cashier, it had been doing that ever since an electrical storm a few days earlier.

Lions, Bears Vie In NFL Turkey Game

DETROIT (AP) — The fact that the Baltimore Colts have clinched the National Football League's Western Conference championship may affect the attendance at tomorrow's game between the Detroit Lions and Chicago Bears.

Lions officials said yesterday there were "plenty" of bleacher seats and a number of single seats in the grandstand available.

This is in sharp contrast to past seasons when all seats for the Thanksgiving Day game had been sold weeks in advance. Crowds usually were in excess of 50,000.

The game will be televised over CBS starting at 9 a.m. (PST).

This marks the first time since 1949 that the Bears will play in the Turkey Day classic.

The defending champion Bears have shown considerable improvement in the past two weeks, beating Los Angeles 34-24 and San Francisco 23-21. The latter victory moved the Bears out of the cellar.

Detroit has failed to win its last three games, having lost twice before last Sunday's tie with Minnesota.

Coach George Wilson has had little time to work with his players and continues to be plagued by injuries to key personnel.

End Gail Cogdill was the latest player to be sidelined when he suffered a shoulder separation against the Vikings.

He will be out for the remainder of the season, joining quarterback Earl Morrall and linebacker Joe Schmidt, both of whom also have shoulder problems.

Offensive tackle J.D. Smith and defensive back Dick (Night Train) Lane are not expected to see action. Smith's calf injury still hasn't healed and Lane continues to have problems with his knee.

With all hopes of a championship smashed, the Lions at least would like to appear in the Playoff Bowl in Miami. That's worth about $600 per man. But it takes a second place finish to qualify.

Charles Finley Blasts Proposed Player Draft

NEW YORK (AP) — Charles O. Finley, owner of the Kansas City Athletics, is unhappy again and he's going to let his fellow owners know about it at baseball's annual winter meetings scheduled to start next week in Houston.

Finley, in a telephone interview from his Chicago office, blasted baseball's proposed draft of high school and college players, charging that it would deprive youngsters of their right to bargain.

"A free agent draft probably would save me money," Finley said. "But that doesn't make it right. If I've got to solve my financial problem by depriving a kid of his right to bargain, then I'd better get out of baseball in a hurry."

The plan, which has already won overwhelming approval from general managers, calls for a draft system similar to the one used by professional football and basketball.

The names of all high school, college and sandlot players would be selected by teams who would then negotiate with them. Once a player is selected by a team, no other club could approach him.

"The free agent draft gives all clubs equal opportunity," said Paul. "It's been very successful in football. It's a means of equalizing competition and makes it possible for all clubs to get equal opportunity for talent."

Finley said he also doubted the plan's legality claiming it would leave baseball open to restraint of trade and antitrust action. Paul said attorneys who have studied the proposed rule have not suggested it would be illegal.

Chargers And Bills To Battle In AFL

SAN DIEGO (AP)— The San Diego Chargers' place kicking shoe will be on another foot tomorrow for their game with the Buffalo Bills and at least two Chargers are concerned about the fit.

Charger fullback Keith Lincoln draws the place-kicking chores as San Diego seeks revenge for the 30-3 drubbing by Buffalo in September.

Coach Sid Gillan handed Lincoln the shoe for the crucial American Football League contest when Jack Spikes decided he would rather devote his time to his oil business in Texas.

Spikes, a recent Kansas City cut, had been called up to take Ben Agajanian's place when the veteran kicker was injured.

"I just hope a field goal doesn't make the difference in the game," he said.

And Coach Sid Gillman did not appear too enthusiastic over the kicking prospects when he remarked that he picked Lincoln because "there isn't anybody else we could get."

Lincoln kicked one 50-yard field goal in New York in October but since then has missed on all four subsequent attempts.

He's been taking lessons from Agajanian, though, and feels his technique has improved.

"It's like a golf swing; you have to have the timing," Lincoln said. "I used to go for sheer power. I'd get back, shut my eyes and say, 'Well, here goes.' Now, I've slowed down."

If the kicking department is causing some concern, Gillman and his players aren't letting it depress their spirits for the Thanksgiving Day fracas.

"I honestly feel we're ready for a fine effort," Gillman said. "It is a delightful experience to see these Chargers get ready for a big game. I just hope the mistakes level off."

Lincoln indicated the team won't have to rely on his kicking.

"We'll reverse the score on them," he said in reference to that embarassing September game.

While Gillman has said that he believes the Bills have been a better team up to this point, the Chargers have a 7-2-1 record and their last loss was to the Bills.

On the other hand, the Bills have lost just one game this season and the Charger game could be a preview to the league championship contest on Dec. 26.

The Bills hold a one - game margin as leaders of the eastern division while the Chargers lead the western division by three games over Kansas City. televised over ABC, starting at 12:35 p.m. (EST).

The game will be nationally televised over ABC, starting at 12:35 p.m. (PST).

Warriors Face Celts Tonight

BOSTON (AP) —The San Francisco Warriors, a team dribbling low on the basketball courts these days, go up against the high-flying Boston Celtics tonight.

The Warriors, defending Western Division champion of the National Baksetball Association, put another notch on the wrong side of their won-lost record last night in losing to the New York Knicks 101-93. They are now 5-14.

Meanwhile Boston, pacing the NBA eastern division with a 14-4 mark, has been resting up for the Warriors since last Saturday.

Big Wilt Chamberlain, the Warriors one - man operation, pumped 36 points through the basket in defeat against New York.

The Knicks, low on the totem pole themselves in the NBA's Eastern Division, attained a balanced scoring attack from rookies Willie Reed, who got 25, and Howard Komives, who totaled 22.

Chamberlain kept his team in the running and his 16-point effort in the third period put the Warriors ahead 60-58 for the only time in the game.

UCLA And USF Are Favorites

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Northern California basketball writers are repeating themselves this year after successfully picking winners in last season's campaigns.

The writers have again tabbed UCLA to win the Pacific Athletic Conference crown. The University of San Francisco was the choice to repeat as champions of the West Coast Athletic Conference.

The Dons of USF won 19 in a row before UCLA stopped them enroute to finishing with 30 straight and the NCAA title last season.

UCLA received a unanimous vote this year and USF lacked only one vote of being unanimous.

WCAC—USF, San Jose State, U C Santa Barbara, Loyola of Los Angeles, St. Mary's, Santa Clara, University of the Pacific, and Pepperdine.

Oregon State and Oregon have joined the PAC to make it an eight-team conference with a 14-game home and home round robin schedule. Some schools are playing three and four game series, but only two count in the league.

UC Santa Barbara becomes an official member of the WCAS this season and California State of Hayward joins the Far Western Conference.

Hurricane Kid Wins By Kayo

HONOLULU (AP)—The Hurricane Kid of San Francisco knocked out Irish Billy Collins of Memphis, Tenn., in two minutes of the third round last night with a right to the jaw that brought a sudden end to the scheduled 10-round middleweight match at Honolulu's Civic Auditorium. Each weighed 155.

A crown of 3,000, which paid a gross of $7,000, had watched a slugfest before the first and only knockdown of the bout.

In a companion match Eddie Pace, 153½, of Los Angeles, was awarded a technical knockout in 2:26 of the fifth of eight scheduled rounds when an eye cut prevented Roberto Pena, 159½, of Mexico City, from continuing.

A Few Big NFL Stars Have Been Missed By Scouts, But Not Many

Jack Hanley

Each year approximately 150 free agent rookies report to pro football training camps. Next spring will be no different — and at least half a dozen youngsters overlooked in the 1964 talent draft will make the big time on their own.

Some cynics like to cite cases of successful free agents as an indictment to pro scouting systems. But the fact that only a handful of youngsters escape the experienced eyes of scouts proves the effectiveness of the system.

ANYBODY CAN list the best 30 or 40 college football players in the country by clipping their names from a newspaper or magazine. The real worth of scouting systems, in which individual clubs invest $100,000 each year, shows in late-round draft selections.

The ability to recognize potential talent in unpublicized players calls for judgment based on experience. Nevertheless, when an unheralded free agent is overlooked, the cynics chatter. But it's understandable how scouts may bypass a sleeper. After all, as Pappy Waldorf says, "You can't cut 'em open like an apple."

HOWEVER, when talent in a bypassed rookie still goes unrecognized after he comes to camp as a free agent, criticism is justified. And similarly, it is difficult to justify decisions that turned loose great players.

Perhaps the all-time bonehead decision in this respect was made by the Pittsburgh Steelers in 1955 when they cut loose Johnny Unitas, a ninth round draft choice. Baltimore signed him in 1956 as a free agent.

Through the years there have been some great players who signed as free agents: Joe Perry, Willie Wood, Pat Studstill, Allen Webb, Night Train Lane and many others. Ron VanderKelen made himself the most talked about free agent of 1962 when he completed 33 of 48 passes in the Rose Bowl for Wisconsin against USC.

DAVE KOPAY this year justified Jack Christiansen's judgment in keeping the former Washington halfback on the 49er roster after Kopay reported to camp as a free agent. The sophomore 49er coach ignored critics who claimed that Kopay didn't have the fast-stepping legs needed by a halfback in pro ball.

Santa Clara Bowler Leads World Tourney

CHICAGO (AI) — Defending champion Jim St. John, with a record score in the qualifying rounds, led the field of 16 semifinalists today into the match game competition in the $52,000 World's Invitational Bowling Tournament.

The Santa Clara, Calif., shooter, posted a blazing 6,801 total for the 30 games, including 10 in yesterday's semifinals, to lead the original field of 160. He averaged more than 226 a game.

St. John, seeded into the finals, took part in the 30 games strictly for exercise and preparing for the five days of head-to-head competition which ends Sunday. The winner will get $7,500.

The defending champion finished the 30 games with a lead of 135 pins over Bob Chase of Kansas City, Kan., who was the leader in the first couple of days of the nine-day tournament. Runner-up Chase had a total of 6,666 and Dave Soutar of Detroit was third with 6,488.

Don Carter of St. Louis, winner of five of the seven previous world's tournaments, failed for the first time to get into the finals. He finished with 6,298, in 19th place and 28 pins behind Harry Smith of Boston, the 16th finalist.

In the women's division, Norma Lake, a former Dallas fashion model, led the 16 women into the finals. Miss Lake, 34, finished with 5,557 pins for 28 games, an average of 198 plus a game.

Second among the women was Jean Winsch of South Bend, Ind., with 5,529 while Betty Kuczynski of Chicago was third with 5,527.

Defending champion Marion Ladewig of Grand Rapids, Mich., was 10th among the women with 5,362 for 28 games.

Low to qualify for the women was Jere Price, of Fort Worth, Tex., with 5,314. The women's winner will get $4,000.

TERRA LINDA'S GLAD SONG SOON BECAME A SAD SONG IN TITLE GAME

Terra Linda High School's marching band and girl song leaders entertained the 7,400 fans at Saturday's Drake-Terra Linda championship football game with a halftime performance (above). At the time, the tooters and singers had plenty to be happy about as Terra Linda's gridders held an 18-7 halftime lead. However, their victory song became the blues in the second half when Drake unleashed a display of power to score four touchdowns for a 35-18 victory and win the Marin County Athletic League championship.

Throngs Waiting For USC-Notre Dame Tilt

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Old timers around the University of Southern California remember the many years — but not the last one—when the demand for tickets to the USC-Notre Dame football game Saturday reached current proportions.

Athletic Director Jess Hill, who has been around and a part of the university as an athlete, track and football coach since 1923, scratched his greying locks today and observed:

"I remember there were many times when we were deluged with applications, but I can't remember the last time there was such an avalanche of requests."

Hill, as would be the case with any collegiate athletic director, appeared to be in a sorrowfull mood. It was easily explainable.

He meant returning checks to applicants who got in too late for the $6 reserved seat sections. These locations were sold out two weeks ago, some 65,000 in number.

It now appears that upward of 80,000 will see the game, barring arrival of poor weather.

Memorial Coliseum formerly could seat 101,000 or more. But the capacity was reduced to about 95,000 when more comfortable theater-type seats were installed in the reserved areas.

OUT OF MUSIAL'S SHADOW

Boyer Alone In Spotlight

By MIKE RECHT

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Third baseman Ken Boyer of the world champion St. Louis Cardinals, a quiet guy who played in the shadow of Stan Musial for nine years, stood alone in the spotlight today as the National League's Most Valuable Player.

It's something every ballplayer thinks about, especially if he has a good year and gets the breaks," Boyer said. "But it's also something you don't really dare think you can win, or that you really put all your hopes on winning."

That goes double for Boyer. At 33, he's been with the Cardinals 10 years and most of them have been good ones. But in St. Louis, he'd always been the guy who hit behind Musial.

Despite his .296 lifetime batting average, his yearly 90 or more runs batted in and 20 to 30 home runs, Cardinal fans always seemed to expect more from the big, good looking infielder. This year he gave it to them.

Boyer clubbed 24 home runs for the fourth straight year, hit .295 and, most important, led the major leagues with 119 runs batted in. His fielding always borders on the spectacular.

"Ken always plays, even when he's banged up," said Musial, who retired last season after winning the MVP award in 1943-46-48. "He's a battler and unassuming, takes victories gracefully, and is a tough loser. Ken is in his prime. He's not that old that he won't have a few more good years."

Boyer's hitting carried the Cardinals, a second division team early in the season, and then he paced a stretch drive with 65 RBI after the All-Star break. Seventeen times he delivered game-winning safeties.

The selection committee of the Baseball Writers Association of America recognized his performance yesterday by naming him first on 14 of 20 ballots. He totaled 243 points on the basis of 10 points for first place, 9 for second, 8 for third, etc.

Boyer took the award in stride, but acknowledged that the honor was one of the biggest events of his life. Team player that he is, the Cardinal captain shared the credit with his teammates.

"You have to have teammates like I had — and they should feel they share it," he said.

Boyer's attractive wife, Kathleen, and their four children were more excited than he. They know how much the award meant to him.

"It's one of those things you hope for deep down," Mrs. Boyer said. "This is the greatest honor he could get."

150 Golfers To Start In Mexico Open

MEXICO CITY (AP) — A star-studded field of 150 golfers will tee off tomorrow in the four-day Mexican Open over the tough Club de Golf Mexico course.

Canada's Al Balding is seeking to retain the crown he won last year with a record nine-under-par 279 over another and easier layout.

He admits he faces trouble this year against such luminaries as Ken Venturi, the U.S. Open champion; Bobby Nichols, the PGA champion, and others.

Tony Lema, the Californian who won the British Open this year and the Mexican Open two years ago, withdrew because of a shoulder muscle injury.

Also entered are Canadian PGA champion George Knudson, and Dow Finsterwald, Bob Rosburg, Art Wall Jr., Jerry Barber, and Don January, from the United States, and top players and champions from Argentina, Peru, Chile, Uruguay, Colombia and Spain.

Most of the field toured the 7,216-yard, par 72 layout Tuesday. They'll have another fling Wednesday.

Board Against Dismissal Plan

The San Rafael Board of Education turned down a recommendation last night that hearing officers be allowed to conduct hearings into teacher dismissals without the board being present.

"This boils down to a question of due process of law," said Board Member Bella H. Aaron. "There is a great deal more to evidence than a bare transcript."

Mrs. Aaron and other board members, feeling that they they would be acting as a jury in any dismissal case, felt they should participate in any hearing held and not rely on a transcript for the facts.

In recommending hearing officers conduct hearings alone, Supt. Ber C. Corona said hearings are time-consuming and an officer from the State Department of Professional and Vocational Standards would be more detached from possible "emotional overtones."

The San Rafael Education Board Also:

1. Heard reports on business education programs in Terra Linda and San Rafael high schools from department chairmen Jerry Gill and E. B. Gearhart.

2. Heard reports from Dr. Mitchell L. Voydat on summer staff workshops and proposed curriculum changes and revision for 1965-66, and asked for elaboration on a proposed position of director of a work experience program. Curriculum changes will be considered at the next meeting.

3. Approved 10 cents a mile rate for employees using cars on school business.

4. Decided to meet Dec. 15 instead of Dec. 8.

5. Adopted two new French textbooks.

6. Approved the expenditure of $2,583 beyond bid for additional pilings for Davidson Junior High School's new buildings.

7. Approved policy changes to limit accumulation of vacation time to one year only, except with approval of superintendent, to allow employees with less than three years service 60 days disability leave, to spell out requirements on notice for maternity leave.

8. Adopted a policy on exemptions from foreign language instruction in grade 6, 7, and 8.

Larkspur School Library Staff Needs Are Reported

Larkspur School librarian Lois Ewold last night told the Larkspur School District board that the district lacks the clerical staff to process $10,000 worth of books it recently bought.

She said the district gets three hours a day in clerical help for the job and must have more. Board members were sympathetic, but put off action for the time being.

The board approved a lengthy policy on noon supervision, authorizing hiring supervisors, probably from the San Francisco Theological Seminary and College of Marin, for $2 an hour for one hour each day. The change will assure free time for lunch for all teachers. It will go into effect Jan. 4.

The board agreed to retain Marjorie Whittlesey as music director for the district for the coming year, continuing the $500 extra pay over her teaching salary for the post.

Supt. Milton Cohen reported on parent-teacher conferences used last week by the district to supplement report cards. He said parents of 98 per cent of the children had been reached, although 15 were seen at the students' homes and 21 on weekends.

The board was told that the firm of Dames and Moore had completed soil tests in preparation for building four new classrooms at Henry C. Hall School, and although the cost was more than $1,700 to the firm, the district would be charged only that amount.

The board set for Dec. 17 the only meeting in December.

Co-Op Nursery Building Out

The San Rafael Board of Education agreed last night that the cooperative nursery school building on the San Rafael High School campus must be abandoned and torn down.

Final action was postponed until the nursery school group could appear before the board, but members agreed the building must go to make room for high school expansion.

The board learned last night that the alternative, moving the building, would cost about $30,000. Moving the building would bring it under different building code regulations which would require extensive remodeling and fireproofing.

Woman Bruised, Cut In Crash

Maxine E. Muller, 22, of 1140 Butterfield Road, Sleepy Hollow, was treated for a bruised shoulder and cut forehead yesterday at Marin General Hospital after her car knocked down a brick wall, skidded across a yard, and rammed the side of a home at 6:15 p.m.

The driver told the California Highway Patrol she had hit her brakes to avoid a delivery truck which was backing out of a driveway at 911 Butterfield Road as she was headed south. The car went into a skid on the wet pavement and hit the home of Thomas Zeigler, 910 Butterfield Road.

The truck driver, Jack D. Stuart, 23, of 1409 Dawes Street, Novato, said he stopped when he saw the car coming and started to pull back.

Boys 6, 9 Admit Throwing Rocks

Two San Rafael boys, 6 and 9, admitted to San Rafael police yesterday they hurled rocks which made two holes in the canvas top of a Novato man's Cadillac.

Police said the youngsters tossed the rocks as they crossed a field after getting off a school bus at about 2:45 p.m. Falling to a street below, the rocks hit the Cadillac, owned by Frank Broadbent of 30 Washington Street, Novato.

RICHARD J. MacLAURY

Reed School Trustee Quits Post

Richard J. MacLaury resigned last night as trustee of Reed School District.

MacLaury's resignation had been expected for some months. In his letter to the board, he cited "increased demands on my time by my law practice."

After accepting the resignation at a meeting at Del Mar School, trustees asked that anyone interested in appointment to the board notify Supt. Edward C. Pino or board members.

MacLaury's term expires next April. Trustees said the appointee should be someone who would then run for election. The vacancy must be filled within 60 days.

The board agreed that the tax rate for the next fiscal year would not rise, and accepted preliminary drawings for the addition to Granada School which would include a community room.

On-Spot Survey Of Rome Airline Crash Finished

ROME (AP)—Investigators finished today their on-the-spot survey of the wreckage of a Trans World Airlines jet that exploded and burned on a Rome airport runway Monday.

Purser Henri Constant of Paris died yesterday of severe burns, raising the death toll to 46. Twenty-nine of the 73 passengers and crew members had survived the wreck, but Constant and another survivor subsequently died.

With recovery of victims from the charred hulk, workmen cleared the wreckage of the Boeing 707 from the runway edge. Bulldozers opened a ditch beyond the runway overlooking the Tyrrhenian Sea, then shoved the wreckage into it.

Mrs. Walter J. Flegal and her daughter, Eleanor, 38, both of Sausalito were killed in the crash.

She Is Pledged

Susan Denman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. K. Denman of 19 Pine Street, San Rafael, has been pledged to Seattle University's chapter of Gamma Pi Epsilon, national Jesuit honor society for women.

Irate Women Enliven Store Sign Argument

Sign maker Robert Bohanna last night resumed his feud with the San Rafael Planning Commission over its policy, or lack thereof, on downtown advertising signs.

The discussion came as commissioners tabled Commissioner Thomas R. O'Toole's motion to approve a five-foot square projecting, illuminated sign for Landes Furs' new quarters at 1125 Fourth Street.

It got lively toward the end as two women, neither of whom gave her name, angrily (and simultaneously) berated the commissioners.

City Planner George H. Rodgers said he had tried to get Bohanna to wait until after the city council resolves city policy on signs, expected at its Dec. 7 meeting.

Bohanna said Landes needed the sign now to be able to do its share of Christmas business.

O'Toole said he thought the sign was fine.

Commissioner V. Judson Klein objected that the matter was not on the regular agenda. He moved to table the motion.

The two women then strode to the front and demanded to speak. Chairman Fred C. Robbins Jr. said they could not, since Roberts' Rules of Order calls for an immediate vote on motions to table other motions.

Undaunted, the women went on talking, accusing the commissioners of being unfair to a small business man, and ignored the repeated raps of Robbins' gavel.

When the chaos subsided enough to permit a vote, the tabling motion passed 3-2, with O'Toole and Commissioner Charles J. Hendrickson voting against it.

"That is the damndest thing I ever heard," cried one of the women as they strode from the room.

Lawmakers Ready To Hear Ideas From Marin Citizens

State Sen. John F. McCarthy, Rep. Don H. Clausen and Assemblyman William T. Bagley will hold a public forum at the Civic Center on Dec. 18 to hear recommendations for legislation needed for Marin.

The forum is set for 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. in the supervisors' chambers of the Civic Center.

"We are interested in hearing proposals from representatives of city and county government, civic organizations and individuals for legislation needed for Marin," Senator McCarthy said.

Each person will be given a chance to present his views, he reported.

Senator McCarthy suggested that interested persons send him a brief written statement of their proposals and a request to be heard, to Post Office Box 870, San Rafael, no later than Dec. 15.

Adoption Agency Is Gaining

Marin County supervisors yesterday agreed to apply to have the county's Department of Public Social Services become a state-licensed adoption agency.

Supervisors approved the proposal after Betty L. Presley, department director, submitted letters indicating the need for such an agency.

In one letter the Children's Home Society said it could not provide all the services needed in Marin County. "Coverage in adoption can be provided only through partnership of public and private agencies," the society said.

The California Department of Social Welfare said the six adoption agencies in the Bay Area had 431 children ready for adoption with only 126 homes available. "An extension of adoption services at this point is urgent," the department said.

The proposal for this year is designed to handle the pressure of existing cases and not to offer a full-fledge community-wide adoption service, Miss Presley reported. State reimbursements and revenues are expected to cover the costs, she said.

Gun Is Missing

Capt. John Charles Henneberger of 1003 Turner Drive, Novato, yesterday reported to Novato police that a .38-caliber revolver disappeared from his home sometime between Nov. 14 and 21.

Proposal To Aid Church Is Approved

Abandonment of a portion of Oakdale Avenue in Mill Valley to develop a better building site for the proposed Our Lady of Mount Carmel Church was approved last night by Mill Valley planning commissioners.

The commission said it favors making Oakdale a cul de sac just to the street's reaching West Blithedale Avenue. Commissioner Mrs. Alan F. Kappelman dissented. Normand Black was absent.

The city would get use of some church property along Blithedale for future street widening; the church would put in cul de sac improvements.

Commissioner Edward J. Boessenecker pointed out the abandonment was not solicited by the church but suggested by the city's planning staff.

Double Vote Ends Street Width Debate

San Rafael's newest planning commissioner, V. Judson Klein, forced two votes last night by the commission on width of a street proposed in the tentative map of Terra Linda Unit 21.

The map by Carlos Gonzalez, engineer for Alameda Homes Corp., the applicant, showed a divided street with 18 feet on each side. This is the city's standard for a divided residential street.

Klein said he wanted the street "three or four feet wider" on each side. On the first vote, he was joined by chairman Fred C. Robbins and Commissioner John A. Miskimen in opposing the plan, producing a 3-3 deadlock (Commissioner Carl S. Brown was absent).

This passed 4-2. Miskimen opposed, as did Commissioner Charles J. Hendrickson, who wanted to stick to the 18 feet, claiming the city's standards should either be followed or revised.

Rough sailing appeared ahead for another applicant, Paul Sade, whose application to rezone 2.16 acres on Bay Vista Way from a single family to a garden apartment district, had its first public hearing.

Six residents of the area appeared to protest the rezoning, sought by Sade as the first step in adding more units, plus recreation facilities, to the Tropicana Apartments. Two more objected by letter.

Water, traffic and sewage problems, plus the desire to "retain the flavor of the neighborhood," were among reasons cited for opposition.

San Marin Homeowners Assn. Elects

Lt. Col. (ret.) Robert Eisenhauer of 151 San Felipe Way, Novato, last night was elected president of the San Marin Homeowners Assn. at a meeting in Marion School.

Herbert Gordon of 103 San Carlos Way, was elected vice president; Mrs. Norma Kuhwarth of 119 San Carlos Way, secretary, and Claude J. Curley of 130 San Carlos Way, treasurer.

Elected to the board of directors were Mrs. Brent Purdom of 113 San Carlos Way, R. Allen Bolton of 173 San Carlos Day, Roy Piccinini of 7 San Juan Court, Jerry Shobar of 278 San Felipe Way, and Wayne Sartan of 141 San Felipe Way.

There were 156 ballots cast in the election.

Teen-Age Rec Center Gets San Rafael Planners Nod

With the assurance that there would be adequate policing and supervision, the San Rafael Planning Commission last night approved a one-year use permit for a teen-age dancing and recreation center at 70 Woodland Avenue.

Commissioners agreed to review the permit in six months to see if the club is creating noise or traffic problems in the area.

They also placed a maximum of 800 persons per night, due to parking limitations. City Planner George H. Rodgers said about 170 parking spaces (used for other purposes by day) would be available. Commissioners accepted his recommendation to hold the maximum attendance to five persons for each parking space.

Edward S. Margoliash, who will run the center, submitted a list of "standard operating procedures" which said, among other things, that off-duty police officers will be hired at each weekend dance, with at least one officer for each 100 teenagers.

Admission, it said, will be by advance ticket sales only, and by membership cards. The cards will be sold to Marin County residents only, and the dances will not be advertised outside of the county.

Public relations consultant Price Hall, representing Margoliash, told the commission the center will hold one dance for high school age members and one for college age people each weekend.

The commission turned down the application of contractor Morst D. Hanf for a permit to build a six-office building (to include his own office) on the south side of Lincoln Avenue.

Commissioners told Hanf they liked the looks of his plans, but they agreed with Rodgers that it was time to adopt a concrete policy on where offices should be located along Lincoln Avenue.

In turning down Hanf's application, they in effect established the policy, recommended by Rodgers, that offices will be permitted only on properties facing on Lincoln Avenue, and signs must not face houses on side streets. Hanf's application did not meet these limitations.

The San Rafael Planners Also:

1. Approved revised plans for another of contractor Hanf's projects, a six-unit apartment building on Union Street between Jewel Street and Belle Avenue. Previous plans had been turned down.

2. Denied by 5-1 vote, John Bicknell's application for a permit to cover a car platform in his front yard at 332 Coleman Drive. Commissioner V. Judson Klein voted against denial.

3. Granted an eight-foot side variance and approved plans for Emil Damia to build a 20-unit apartment complex on the south side of Professional Center Parkway. Commissioner Pat Hetherton opposed the variance, and Commissioner John A. Miskimen voted against the plans.

4. Granted a use permit for Clear View Cable Systems to erect a television receiving antenna on a hill on Marin Municipal Water District property at the end of Reservoir Road.

5. Approved Clyde Lucero's request for a use permit for a beauty salon at 678 Point San Pedro Road.

6. Voted 4-1 (after Commissioner Pat Hetherton left the meeting) to allow George Steinert to use a leased freeway area under the San Rafael overpass on Mission Avenue for "transient parking." Chairman Fred C. Robbins Jr. dissented.

8. Approved plans for an addition to the Monitor Plastics Co. building at 97 Jordan Street.

9. Approved, by 3-2 vote, plans for a six-unit apartment building by Dreyer-Wilson and Co. at the southeast corner of Clark and Ross streets. Miskimen and Klein, who voted no, agreed with planner Rodgers' feeling the parking was inadequate.

10. Approved plans for an addition to the Independent-Journal building at Fifth Avenue and B Street.

11. Approved modified plans for a long-proposed triplex at 99, 101 and 103 Elizabeth Way, sought by Harry Kraemer.

12. Approved plans for an addition to the Terra Linda Medical Centre, on the north side of Las Gallinas Avenue near Nova Albion Way.

13. Set for Dec. 8 and 29 hearings on Carl Warden's request to rezone 6.6 acres west of Irwin Street and south of Woodland avenue from single-family to planned community zoning, and on rezoning to eliminate planned community zoning in several parts of Glenwood, asked by the city council since there is no plan for these areas.

14. Recommended to the council the 200-acre Fagundes Ranch annexation south of Lucas Valley Road and east of Las Gallinas Avenue, sought by Permabilt Enterprises.

Height Limit Action Taken By Planners

The Larkspur Planning Commission should retain primary responsibility on variances to height limits in the city, commissioners decided informally last night.

Commissioner William G. Fleckles made several suggestions for tightening the present height limit in the zoning ordinance. One of them was to have decision made entirely by the council, which now acts only on appeal from the commission.

The present city height limit is 35 feet in residential zones, but recently the city council approved a variance to allow a 12-story retirement residence.

Fleckles also suggested the ordinance could be changed to allow variances of only a certain percentage over the regular limit, but this suggestion was stymied by the question of the usefulness of a variance of less than one story.

Fleckles also offered several wordings which would, in effect, eliminate all variances in the height limit, thus preventing any high-rise buildings without a change in the zoning ordinance itself.

The commission took no action on these proposals, but put the question over to Dec. 8, when other commissioners are expected to present suggestions.

Commissioner Andrew Gilardi was absent.
